SHATTER NAZI DRIVE TO SPLIT FRENCH FRONT

Yanks Take Heights Above St. Lo.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

U. S. 1ST ARMY HDQ. IN NORMANDY, July 11.—Shattering Nazi tank counter-attacks, which tried to split the Normandy bridgehead in a drive toward Isigny, the entire American offensive front rolled on thru the hedgerows of Normandy today.

The advance was general, but the longest gains were made by a new jump off early this morning in the St. Lo sector. This extended the width of the American fighting front to 48 miles. In the St. Lo area forward troops pushed south and southwest about 2,000 yards. After a particularly fierce battle, Hill 192, three miles east of St. Lo, was taken late in the day and the Americans pushed on, cutting the main road to that most important road center. Tonight American troops were two miles from St. Lo.

Heavy Battle Raging.

Late reports said that one of the heaviest armored battles of the war was being fought outside the city as Marshal Rommel hurled in select panzer units.

Hundreds of American big guns and dive bombers were supporting the American tank and infantry units. Thunderbolt dive bombers in one of the biggest air-tank battles of the campaign already had destroyed 21 of Rommel's tanks.

Four miles north of St. Lo in the La Meauffe area the Americans had surrounded 300 Germans who were trying unsuccessfully to break out of the trap. "If they still resist the doughboys will move in and wipe them out," a staff officer at the front said.

Clear Mont Castre Forest.

From St. Lo along the remainder of the line to the Atlantic coast, it seemed to observers that the Germans were in the process of withdrawing. Some of their sacrifice troops were thrown in to fight rear-guard actions, delaying us as much as possible.

Mont Castre forest today was finally cleared of all enemy troops and the advance went on south beyond the woods. Farther west the drive south from La Haye continued at a slow pace thru hedgerows with forward troops working across low land just before the hills north of Lessay where the Germans may fight hard again.

At the eastern end of the Normandy front the British and Canadians were forced to give some ground to German counter-attacks, headquarters reported, but scored gains in other sectors around Caen.

Use Crack Division.

In their tank attacks near St. Lo, the Germans used what was left of their Lehr panzer division, an elite training outfit. The Lehr panzers attacked with written orders to "capture Isigny and split the bridgehead."

A smaller thrust was made up the western bank of the Vire river in the Pont Hebert sector, while the main charge came east of the forest of Hammet.

During the night tanks infiltrated in small groups of two and three into our forward positions. By daylight aerial reconnaissance showed more tanks were moving on roads leading along the eastern edge of the forest. Because the enemy had been reported pulling back in the southwest, at first this appeared to be part of the same movement.

Interlocking Movement.

By 9 a. m. the true picture began to present itself. It was one of confused and interlocking movement by Germans and Americans.

Most of their tanks were behind our lines while during the night our own forward groups had moved south behind the German lines.

All day long fighting continued, seesawing back and forth with no line in any definite position at any time. Across one small river one American patrol moved over a bridge only to discover Germans moving in the opposite direction below them in the stream bed. In brisk small arms fighting, the Germans were defeated.

It continued this way most of the Army Craft Falls in War Work Colony

South Portland, Me., July 11 [Special.]—Fifteen persons, four of them children, were killed and scores were burned and otherwise injured when a light army plane crashed and exploded late today in a 100 unit government trailer colony for war workers.

Two of those killed were the army men who composed the crew of the plane, which a short time before the crash had made a radio request for landing instructions from nearby Portland air field.

Baby Is Killed.

Three others of those killed were identified as Edward A. Gerrish, 32, a shipyard worker, James Little, 4, and George Robertson Jr., 9 months, whose parents and sister, Marie, were among the injured. Bodies of many of the victims were charred so badly that identification was difficult.

Witnesses said the plane circled the airfield at rooftop height and failed to respond to radio orders that it gain altitude. It plunged into a fog bank and struck an embankment on the edge of the trailer camp, catapulting itself into the midst of the huddled colony of workers' homes. The gas tanks exploded at the same time that the plunging plane crushed trailers in its path like eggshells.

Fire spread thru the colony as occupants dashed from the trailers, many mothers carrying babies and others screaming for their children. One engine of the two motored plane was reported to have hurtled thru a trailer passing within a few feet of a mother and child lying on a couch but not injuring them.

Blown Thru Window.

The body of one airman was found beneath the flooring of a trailer and firemen said he had been blown thru a window of the trailer foundation.

At the Maine general hospital here it was said 20 persons from the trailer camp are under treatment for severe burns and that many others were given first aid. The Robertson child died at the hospital from burns.

Army officers from Ft. Williams, Cape Elizabeth, and Grenier field, Manchester, N. H., began an investigation to discover the cause of the crash.

11 GENERALS GET EXEMPTIONS AS STRAPHANGERS

Washington, D. C., July 11 [Special].—If you see a general in this vicinity riding home from his work in a government car these days the chances are it is one of 11 officers given exemption by fiat of Secretary of War Stimson from an obscure law banning such rides which congress passed last month.

The law, which was included in the independent offices appropriations act, prohibits all governmental officers except the President, cabinet officers, and ambassadors, from using government automobiles between home and office. Among the brass hats here it is an open secret that the ban is causing no end of dissatisfaction, many gold braiders complaining that they have to keep "stenographers' hours" because of the transportation situation.

Stimson's exempt list, it was learned, consists of Generals Marshall and Arnold, Lt. Generals Joseph T. McKarney, Barney M. Giles, Brehon Somerville, and Leslie J. McNair; Maj. Generals Thomas Handy, John E. Hull, L. S. Kuter, W. D. Styer, and Brig. Gen. J. G. Christiansen. Secretary of the Navy Forrestal has ruled Adm. King is exempt from the law and also all officers on duty outside continental United States.

NATIONAL LEAGUERS WIN ALL-STAR GAME, 7-1; TWO CUBS HELP

The National league last night whipped the American league, 7 to 1, in the 12th annual All-Star baseball game played in Pittsburgh. Attendance was 29,859 and gate receipts $81,275, which, with $25,000 for radio rights, totaled $106,275 for the major league's fund to buy equipment for service men.

It was the Nationals' fourth victory in the series. Phil Cavarretta of the Cubs had a triple, single, and three walks. Bill Nicholson hit a double in the fifth when the Nationals clinched the game with a four run rally off Tex Hughson, Boston Red Sox pitcher.

CALLS FOR CANADA TO MOBILIZE YOUTHS NOW LIVING IN U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., July 11.—Action should be taken to mobilize Canadians of military age who are resident in the United States, J. G. Diefenbaker, a Progressive Conservative from Saskatchewan, said in the house of commons yesterday. A year ago 78,000 of these men were unaccounted for, he stated.

Diefenbaker said official documents show that on Dec. 31, 1942, there were 7,938 men in United States forces who on enlistment said they were Canadians, and from Jan. 1, 1943, to Feb. 29, 1944, there were an additional 5,485.

'AIR REGIMENT' FIGHTS BEHIND LINES IN FRANCE

SUPREME HDQ. ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, July 12, [Wednesday]—(AP).—Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters disclosed in a bulletin last night that allied troops are operating behind German lines in France with "a special air service regiment," but kept secret the details.

The group was called "allied troops including French" indicating it included British and possibly Americans. French parachutists have been in action since D-day and they may be part of the regiment. The bulletin said the group already had taken prisoners and operated against communications and other targets.

The fact that the allied troops are able to report their successes back to headquarters, and are holding prisoners "pending transmission to this country," showed they are in close contact regularly with headquarters.

Chicago Leads Cities Its Size in Noise Abatement

Chicago yesterday was awarded first place among cities in its population class for the second successive year, for improvement in the abatement of needless noise. The award, presented annually by the National Noise Abatement commission, was announced after a meeting of the commission's award committee in the Bismarck hotel.

Nazis Traded for Yanks as War Pauses

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

U. S. 1ST ARMY HDQ. IN NORMANDY, July 11.—How an American officer arranged for exchanges of dead and wounded Yanks for Germans at moments when the war paused on this French front was disclosed today.

The practice was begun on this sector a week ago when Capt. William Heffner of Northport, N. Y., and Washington, D. C., and four German paratroopers' aid men spent 40 minutes between the lines, protected from fire by the Red Cross. In this initial exchange American first aid men traded one dead German sergeant for two wounded Americans and one dead one.

It occurred while Capt. Heffner was making his first trip to the furthermost front lines. His guide had left him and the next thing he knew he was out in front alone.

Nazis Carry Red Cross Flag.

"About 100 yards away I saw four Germans," he said. "They had a large Red Cross flag and were motioning me toward them.

"We started talking in English and German and later we even used French. They were searching for a wounded noncom. I told them we had had one but that he'd just died.

"The Germans asked if they could get the body. I agreed if they would give me any Americans they might have. They had three, one of whom was dead, and they agreed to bring them out."

Heffner went back to our forward outpost and sent for litter bearers, then returned to his rendezvous. The Germans appeared, carrying the three Americans. There was more conversation as the American litter bearers came up.

Trades Good Smokes for Bad.

"For about 40 minutes we stayed there," Heffner continued. "I offered them cigarets, which they seemed to enjoy, and in return I smoked one of theirs. It was very bad. We talked about how medics of both armies got killed and the Germans suggested we carry much larger Geneva Red Cross flags onto the battlefield and wave them. Since then we've really been stirring the breeze with our flags."

Just before the party broke up two German mortar shells dropped near-by. As one man, Heffner and the four Germans jumped into a slit trench, huddling together.

Heffner said the German aid men were very correct thruout the meeting and had taken good care of our wounded men. In parting, the German paratroopers insisted on shaking hands with the fellow medic and then saluted the American.

Since then, Heffner said, similar exchanges have been effected.

ELWOOD ARMS PLANT EXPLOSION KILLS 2; 3 HURT, 75 ESCAPE

Two men were killed and three injured yesterday in a fire and explosion on a shell loading line of the big Elwood ordnance plant south of Joliet. The blast demolished a three story brick building and was felt 10 miles away.

Those killed were Edward Markstrom Jr., 1400 Sterling av., Joliet, and Orville Milton, 911 Washington st., Wilmington, both members of the plant fire department. The injured, also plant firemen, are Wylie G. Bell, 4137 Ellis av., Chicago; Frank J. Rutkowsky, 14 E. 234th st., Steger, and Archie W. James, 517 W. Mertens st., Kankakee.

Lt. Col. Byron Rife, commanding officer of the plant, said the explosion occurred at 1:40 p. m. Witnesses said fire started on shell loading line 3, which recently was put back into production. The flames swept thru the building within a few minutes, but approximately 75 workers escaped without injury.

CHICAGO POLICE QUIZ TO BE HELD IN AUSTRALIA

The civil service examination for police captains, scheduled for Sept. 6, will be given simultaneously in Chicago and Sydney, Australia.

One hundred thirty-three police lieutenants will take the examination here, Walter L. Gregory, president of the civil service commission, said yesterday. Lt. Matt Murphy, now a captain of military police in Australia, will take it in Sydney.

Murphy's brother, Morgan Murphy, yesterday obtained an application that he will mail to Matt. When the application is returned, a copy of the written and oral questions comprising the examination will be mailed to Murphy's superior officer, who will conduct Murphy's examination and then mail the answers to the civil service commission for grading.

UNION CONTRACT FORCES FIRING OF 43 WAR VETS

Buffalo, N. Y., July 11 (AP).—Bell Aircraft corporation has laid off 43 war veterans because no way could be found to protect their jobs under the company's contract with the United Automobile Workers, CIO, company officials said today.

The men had not been employed by the company prior to their service in the military forces. Officials explained they failed in attempts to amend the contract to give the veterans laid off a seniority status.

Any contract changes relative to job security for veterans will be taken up when a new contract is negotiated next month, according to William S. Hilger, subregional director of the CIO.

WPB RELAXES CONTROL ON 2 VITAL METALS

Byrnes Intervenes In Dispute.

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—The war production board announced tonight that Chairman Nelson's full program to prepare industry for civilian production will be ordered into effect beginning Saturday.

The only concession to army and navy opponents of the plan is in staggered dates which defer operation of part of the plan to Aug. 15.

The announcement climaxed a stormy interagency battle in which Nelson, convalescing from pneumonia, was opposed by the war and navy departments and the war man power commission on grounds that the announced program would divert labor from arms production.

Byrnes Intervenes.

The deferment of the most sweeping of the four Nelson orders until mid-August, will "give the war man power commission more time to perfect its organization and administrative controls," said Charles E. Wilson, WPB executive vice chairman, in announcing the agency's decision.

The staggered program was ratified by the full WPB, including its military members, in a brief, almost perfunctory session this afternoon. Terms of the agreement had been worked out privately after War Mobilization Director Byrnes sent word to the disputants to adjust their differences quickly.

The final order, effective in mid-August, will permit WPB field offices to authorize the manufacture of civilian goods hitherto prohibited or restricted, in the plants of companies which have labor and machinery not needed in the war effort.

Wilson gave these dates for the other three orders which are the government's opening—but extremely modest—steps toward the ultimate demobilization of industry:

Next Saturday, July 15, restrictions on the use of alumnium and magnesium will be lifted, since these light metals are in surplus supply. The action will permit the light metals to replace other materials in goods which already are being manufactured. It will not increase the total output of civilian products, but special programs are expected to follow the removal of the flat ban on the nonwar use of aluminum and magnesium.

May Make Models.

July 22 an order will take effect permitting the manufacture of working models of post-war civilian products, for experimental purposes.

July 29 an order will be issued allowing manufacturers to place orders for machine tools and equipment which will be needed when industry is reconverted to peace time products. Such orders will carry low priority ratings, or none, and may be filled only after war needs are taken care of.

G. O. P. Leads F. D. R. Party in Minnesota

Minneapolis, Minn., July 11 [Special].—Returns from more than three-fourths of this state's 3,703 precincts in yesterday's primary indicated today that the Republican vote was twice as large as the vote cast for candidates of the newly merged Democratic-Farmer Labor party.

Republican leaders were jubilant at the large vote cast in the Republican column, asserting that a lack of contests for top offices in either party tended to give the primary the status of an accurate barometer of party strength. Earl Christmas, press secretary to Gov. Thye, called the results "encouraging and pleasing."

An atmosphere of gloom pervaded the D. F. L. headquarters as progress of the tabulation gave increasing proof that the fusion organization's first bid for support of the voters had failed to stir up popular enthusiasm hoped for when the merger was put thru in April. This was Minnesota's first two party primary since the Farmer-Labor party was born a quarter of a century ago.

When the Farmer-Labor and Democratic parties agreed to merge their organizations the step was regarded nationally as an effort to line up support for a Roosevelt fourth term. Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO political action committee, hailed the move as "an outstanding demonstration of progressive unity."

Thye Far in Lead.

A count of 3,023 precincts gave three Republican candidates for governor a total of 193,391 votes, with Gov. Thye far in the lead with 172,811. Three D. F. L. candidates for governor were able in the same precincts to garner only 87,041 votes. Byron G. Allen of Detroit Lakes, the D. F. L. convention indorsed candidate, apparently was nominated with 49,777 votes to 31,281 for Emil Holmes, Minneapolis disabled war veteran.

The D. F. L. organization got a slap from the voters in the lieutenant governorship race where incomplete returns indicated that the convention-indorsed candidate for this office, Paul Tinge, St. Paul labor leader, had been defeated by Frank Murphy, an attorney, of Northfield.

Tinge was one of the prime movers in the merger movement and was vice chairman of the fusion organization. He was chairman in 1942 of the Farmer-Labor committee which sponsored former Gov. Elmer Benson's bid for the United States senate.

Defeat Surprising.

His apparent defeat for the lieutenant governorship was regarded by political observers as especially surprising in view of the fact that Murphy was without organized support in either branch of the party and had never previously run for a state office.

Returns from 2,129 precincts gave Murphy 22,856 votes to 19,066 for Tinge. A feature of Murphy's bid for a place on the ticket was the fact that he also ran for congress in the 3d district, his name appearing on the ballot in the congressional race as Francis L. Murphy. The attorney general sanctioned this proceeding with a ruling that a person may seek more than one office in a primary and may use different forms of his name. Returns indicated Murphy was a loser in the congressional contest.

I DO NOT TRUST U. S. TO KEEP THE PEACE: ELEANOR

Yellow Springs, O., July 11 [Special].—Asserting "I do not even trust our own nation," Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt today said she believes a world police force is necessary to watch the United States.

Speaking at Antioch college's institute on conditions for an enduring peace, the President's wife said:

"I believe we will have to have some kind of police force which will watch us as well as other nations so that no one country can accumulate superior strength.

"I do not even trust our own nation, altho I am sure we are a peace-loving people, and I would like to feel sure some way was found which would watch us as well as other nations."

Mrs. Roosevelt predicted that "if we drift along as we did before, we will emerge into World War III, which seems to me would be complete annihilation of civilization."

F. D. R. TO RUN; HE REVEALS IT WITH FLOURISH

'Relief to East Asia'

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—Vice President Wallace, in commenting on President Roosevelt's offer to accept the Democratic Presidential nomination for a fourth term, said today he was sure the President's statement "will not only be a great relief to the tens of millions of people who believe in him in the United States, but also to hundreds of millions in East Asia and Latin America, and the rest of the allied world. I have talked with many of these people and I believe I know exactly how they feel."

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 11.—President Roosevelt announced today that he will accept the fourth term nomination of the Democrats, and that if elected he will serve reluctantly "as a good soldier."

While all Washington was speculating on how the President would make the announcement which the nation knew was coming, Mr. Roosevelt broke the story in spectacular fashion.

He chose a press conference attended by only 99 reporters, half the number who sometimes attend the semi-weekly White House news gatherings.

Mr. Roosevelt waited, moreover, until the reporters were ready to leave, after he had informed them that the United States will recognize Gen. Charles de Gaulle's French committee of national liberation as the working authority for civilian administration of liberated France.

The Doors Are Locked.

The reporter who customarily closes White House press conferences by saying "Thank you, Mr. President," was ready to speak when Mr. Roosevelt said he had something more to say.

Besides, the President said, he'd had the doors locked. The doors were open when the President spoke out. Secret service men promptly slammed and locked the doors.

Mr. Roosevelt said he had anticipated the reporters would rush for telephones if they could get out when they chose and he wanted to save lives.

"Is this about your fourth term intentions?" some one asked.

The President replied that this was pure speculation, grinned, and then said the guess was right.

He Reads Letters.

The President proceeded to read two letters: A plea from Chairman Robert E. Hannegan of the Democratic national committee for Mr. Roosevelt to accept the nomination, which Hannegan said is assured at the forthcoming convention in Chicago; and Mr. Roosevelt's response, in which the President said he would accept if nominated.

Mr. Roosevelt's hands were shaking as he held the letters. Half way thru the Hannegan message, at the point where Hannegan said the President had more than a clear majority of the votes to be cast at the convention, Mr. Roosevelt threw down the letter.

He said he had to have a cigaret. Lighting it, the President said it was too bad it wasn't the brand that urges in its advertising: "Be nonchalant."

The Commander in Chief.

More composed, then, he finished the letter and began reading his own. He wore no coat over his white shirt, and a black bow tie popped out beneath his chin.

Waving his cigaret and proclaiming himself the commander in chief, the President announced his acceptance.

He said that even the commander in chief has a superior officer, the people of the United States, and that if they "command" him to continue he has as little right to withdraw as a soldier has to leave his post.

Mr. Roosevelt, head of one of the most powerful political machines of all times, emphasized that he would not run in the "usual, partisan, political sense. But he offered no explanation of what he meant.

He told the reporters he had thought only of the good of the American people, altho his personal wish was to go back to his home.

When he had finished his reading, reporters asked him the significance of his talk with Vice President Wallace yesterday.

Mr. Roosevelt replied that the reporters had enough news, laughed, and shouted to them to get out of his office.

Political leaders expressed two views on Mr. Wallace. One was that Mr. Roosevelt has abandoned him, since the President cannot now force the party to nominate Mr. Wallace for Vice President as a condition of Mr. Roosevelt's acceptance. The other was that the President will announce himself publicly for Mr. Wallace, but not attempt to dictate Mr. Wallace's nomination, as he did last time.

Following are the texts of letters between President Roosevelt and Hannegan:

HANNEGAN'S LETTER

"Dear Mr. President:

"As chairman of the Democratic national committee, it is my duty on behalf of the committee to present for its consideration a temporary roll of the delegates for the national convention, which will convene in Chicago on July 19, 1944.

"The national committee has received from the state officials of the Democratic party certification of the action of the state conventions, and the primaries in those states, which select delegates in that manner.

"Based upon these official certifications to the national committee, I desire to report to you that more than a clear majority of the delegates to the national convention are legally bound by the action of their constituents to cast their ballots for your nomination as President of the United States. This action in the several states is a reflection of the wishes of the vast majority of the American people that you continue as President in this crucial period in the nation's history.

Asks an Expression.

"I feel, therefore, Mr. President, that it is my duty as chairman of the Democratic national committee to report to you the fact that the national convention will, during its deliberations in Chicago, tender to you the nomination of the party as it is the solemn belief of the rank and file of Democrats, as well as many other Americans, that the nation and the world need the continuation of your leadership.

"In view of the foregoing, I would respectfully request that you send to the convention or otherwise convey to the people of the United States an expression that you will again respond to the call of the party and the people. I am confident that the people recognize the tremendous burdens of your office, but I am equally confident that they are determined that you must continue until the war is won and a firm basis for abiding peace among men is established."

ROOSEVELT'S REPLY

"Dear Mr. Hannegan:

"You have written me that in accordance with the records a majority of the delegates have been directed to vote for my renomination for the office of President, and I feel that I owe to you, in candor, a simple statement of my position:

"If the convention should carry this out, and nominate me for the Presidency, I shall accept. If the people elect me, I will serve.

"Every one of our sons serving in this war has officers from whom he takes his orders. Such officers have superior officers. The President is the commander in chief and he, too, has his superior officer—the people of the United States.

"I would accept and serve, but I would not run, in the usual partisan, political sense. But if the people command me to continue in this office and in this war I have as little right to withdraw as the soldier has to leave his post in the line.

Does Not Want to Run.

"At the same time, I think I have a right to say to you and to the delegates to the coming convention something which is personal—purely personal.

"For myself, I do not want to run. By next spring I shall have been President and commander in chief of the armed forces for 12 years—three times elected by the people of this country under the American constitutional system.

"From the personal point of view I believe that our economic system is on a sounder, more human basis than it was at the time of my first inauguration.

"It is perhaps unnecessary to say that I have thought only of the good of the American people. My principal objective, as you know, has been the protection of the rights and privileges and fortunes of what has been so well called the average of American citizens.

Weary of Publicity.

"After many years of public service, therefore, my personal thoughts have turned to the day when I could return to civil life. All that is within me cries out to go back to my home on the Hudson river, to avoid public responsibilities, and to avoid also the publicity which in our democracy follows every step of the nation's chief executive.

"Such would be my choice. But we of this generation chance to live in a day and hour when our nation has been attacked, and when its future existence and the future existence of our chosen method of government are at stake.

"To win this war wholeheartedly, unequivocally, and as quickly as we can is our task of the first importance. To win this in such a way that there be no further world wars in the foreseeable future is our second objective. To provide occupations, and to provide a decent standard of living for our men in the armed forces after the war, and for all Americans, are the final objectives.

"Therefore, reluctantly, but as a good soldier, I repeat that I will accept and serve in this office, if I am so ordered by the commander in chief of us all—the sovereign people of the United States."

15 Injured in Elevated Crash

William Neuson, 49, of 4837 Wright terrace, Skokie, a motorman, was seriously injured and 14 other persons were less seriously hurt yesterday morning in a collision of two south bound Jackson Park elevated express trains at the 58th st. and Calumet av. station. Both of Neuson's legs were crushed and he suffered internal injuries. He was taken to Provident hospital.

One of the trains was standing in the station when the train operated by Neuson pulled in behind it and failed to stop. The front end of the second train was smashed and Neuson was pinned in the cab.

Neuson told Lt. Kinzie Bluett of the Wabash av. police that he applied his brakes too late and skidded.

Arthur Teichert, 44, of 2424 Lyndale st., conductor on the second train, suffered a hip fracture and right shoulder injury. He was taken to Woodlawn hospital. Others injured included Edward Goodman, 37, of 4546 N. Racine av., who suffered a leg fracture and back and head injuries, and Joseph P. Dunn, 38, of 6328 Greenwood av., contusions of his head and left hip.

Both trains were made up of steel cars. Only about 30 persons were on both trains. Train service was restored within half an hour over a single track.

PARKS AMEND RULES TO OPEN CLUBS TO PUBLIC

The board of commissioners of the Chicago park district yesterday amended an ordinance to provide that no permit shall be issued to any private organization to operate a park facility unless it is open to the entire public without discrimination.

The action was taken to make park rules conform with a decision rendered recently in Appellate court holding that the Lincoln Park Traps, Inc., gun club could not legally operate a private club on park property. The gun club accepted the decision. All other private or semi-private clubs are to be dealt with on an equal basis, with all to be open to the public. Yachting clubs, bowling clubs, casting clubs, and others are affected. New leases will be negotiated with each to make them conform to the law, President Robert J. Dunham of the park board said.

The board also adopted an ordinance returning a portion of Yates av. to control of the city. The franchise of the Chicago Motor Coach company for use of park drives was continued on a day to day basis until Jan. 1, pending settlement of the city-wide transportation unification question.

St. Louis 4th Term Odds Depend on Running Mate

St. Louis, Mo., July 11 (AP).—James J. Carroll, St. Louis betting commissioner, said today he will not post odds on the Presidential election "until the Democratic convention is over. I have to wait to see who the Vice Presidential candidate will be," he said.

Springfield Law Limits Attendance at Circuses

Springfield, Ill., July 11 (AP).—The Springfield city council today enacted an ordinance forbidding circuses and other tent entertainment enterprises to sell more admission tickets than the tent seating capacity.

CAPITAL CALM AT F. D. R.'S BID; WAS EXPECTED

BY LAURENCE BURD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 11.—President Roosevelt's formal announcement of his fourth term candidacy was warmly welcomed in the capital today by both Republicans and New Deal Democrats, but it met only silence from anti-Roosevelt Democrats who have sought to block a fourth term.

The capital, having taken a fourth term attempt by Mr. Roosevelt for granted for months, if not years, accepted today's announcement calmly, altho some surprise was expressed that Mr. Roosevelt did not wait to make a sensational last minute announcement.

Republicans were virtually unanimous in declaring they welcome the fourth term bid as an all-out test between constitutional government, pledged by Governors Dewey, Bricker, and the Republican party, and New Deal despotism, as personified by President Roosevelt for 12 years. They were equally unanimous in predicting defeat for Mr. Roosevelt and his running mate, whoever he may be. Many predicted that if perchance the fourth term bid is successful, there will be a fifth term attempt in 1948.

New Dealers Pleased.

New Dealers also hailed the announcement, declaring Mr. Roosevelt is the Democratic party's best hope for a victory in November. Anti-Roosevelt Democrats said nothing.

Rep. Short [R., Mo.], predicting defeat for Roosevelt and an end to his "dictatorship," declared that "if Mr. Roosevelt wins, there will be no republic left, and we'll have a fifth term bid."

"Apparently," said Short, "modesty and humility have forced Mr. Roosevelt to admit that he is indispensable. But the people will not forget that the 'commander in chief' was also commander when we suffered the greatest military disaster in our history—Pearl Harbor."

Taft Not Surprised.

Sen. Taft [R., O.], stating the announcement came as no surprise, charged that "as usual, the war is made an excuse for fastening four years more of dictatorship on the American people, of which three will be in peace time."

Sen. Cordon [R., Ore.] said Mr. Roosevelt's statement that he is running as a "good soldier" means "he has not only announced his candidacy, but has written his platform."

To Rep. Hope [R., Kas.], the "good soldier" theme was a great line, but, he added, "it won't fool the people." Hope said "this is just the old ballyhoo of the indispensable man, dressed up in new clothes."

Alf M. Landon, 1936 Republican Presidential nominee at Topeka, Kas., said he thought the Roosevelt announcement was "just as much surprise as the case of the dog biting the man."

Nye Was Doubtful.

Sen. Nye [R., N. D.] was one of the few who expressed surprise at the announcement, saying he had been "playing a hunch" that Mr. Roosevelt would not run. Nye inquired whether "Eleanor has announced she will accept second place on the ticket."

Rep. Bender [R., O.] said the announcement was no surprise and that if the chief executive were "forthright" he would tell the people and more particularly his own party whom he desires as his running mate."

On the Democratic side, Sen. Pepper [Fla.], a New Deal stalwart, said: "The commander in chief, like any good soldier, is going to stay at his post of duty. The nation expected this of the President and it will approve his decision."

To Sen. Murray [D., Mont.] Mr. Roosevelt "could not escape the duty to continue his splendid leadership in this critical period."

O'Daniel Strongly Opposed.

Sen. Thomas [D., Colo.], outspoken foe of a fourth term, told reporters "I'm not saying anything." Rep. Smith [D., Va.], another bitter anti-New Dealer, snapped "No comment."

An exception to the general silence of anti-Roosevelt Democrats was a statement by Sen. O'Daniel [D., Tex.], who said: "I'm against a fourth term for anybody. Personalities do not enter into it. Long tenure in office is too close to the dictator form of government."

Sen. Gillette [D., Ia.] said, "The announcement came as a surprise to me personally. I was one of the few who thought his decision would be otherwise."

Frown on Wallace.

With major interest in the capital already focused on the Democratic Vice Presidential choice, numerous Democrats today expressed the hope that Vice President Wallace will not again be the nominee.

Rep. Sikes [D., Fla.], while approving Mr. Roosevelt's fourth term effort, said the President will hurt the chances of the Democratic party if he again supports Wallace at the convention in Chicago.

John J. O'Connor, eastern chairman, Anti-Fourth Term American Democratic National committee, said, "President Roosevelt's announcement, as was expected by even morons, is an arrogant challenge to all Americans who still cherish their Republican form of government."

Army Airman Succumbs to July 4 Auto Injuries

Staff Sgt. Harry Liberty Bell, 23, of 4951 N. Oakley av., who suffered multiple internal injuries July 4 when his automobile struck a southbound Blue Island street car, died yesterday in Gardiner General hospital. Sgt. Bell, with the army air corps, was en route from his station in Florida to his home when the accident occurred at the intersection of Ashland and Blue Island avs. and Cermak rd.

British Papers Play Up F. D. R.'s 4th Term Bid

LONDON, July 12 [Wednesday] —(AP).—President Roosevelt's announcement that he would be a candidate for a fourth time if renominated received a front page display in most morning papers here, but there was no editorial comment. Britons generally had expected such a development.

Illinois Republican Leaders Glad Roosevelt Will Run

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Illinois Republican leaders yesterday gladly accepted the gage of battle tossed to them by President Roosevelt's announcement that he is officially the fourth term candidate.

"Certainly," said Gov. Green, "there is no surprise in the unveiling of the fourth term candidacy.

"It follows the pattern of the Roosevelt dynasty. I am satisfied, however, that the American people will choose Gov. Dewey for President."

"Weary of Subterfuge."

Atty. Gen. Barrett said that Americans "are weary of clever subterfuge."

"Of course he wants to run 'again and again and again'," Barrett said. "All of his words repeat his old theme that he is the only indispensable man in this great nation of 130 million free Americans. On Nov. 7, he will discover his error."

"Has Grown Old and Tired."

"He may have as little right to withdraw as a soldier has to leave his post in the line, but no commander would keep a soldier in the line for 16 years, any more than a driver would keep a horse in the middle of a stream for that length of time," Schroeder said.

"During that period he has grown old and tired. He is surrounded by quarrelsome counselors; his hands are tied by red tape; he is mired in regimentation and burocracy, and each day he is becoming more costly to the people.

The public is waiting to beat the No. 1 New Dealer and the Republican organization welcomes the chance for a showdown fight, said John F. Tyrrell, chairman of the Illinois state central committee.

Democratic Fight Pledged.

Dr. Gleason L. Archer, chairman of the American Democratic National committee, said the President's announcement "will fan the flames" of his organization's anti-New Deal fight.

John J. O'Connor of New York, vice chairman of the committee, called the Roosevelt statement "an arrogant challenge to all Americans who still cherish their form of government."

Fourth term Democrats were well satisfied.

"Under the present world shaking circumstances the President had no other choice," Sen. Lucas said. "That he will be elected in November is a certainty."

DENIES DEFENSE MISTRIAL MOVES IN BRIBERY TRIAL

Circuit Judge John Simpson denied half a dozen motions for a mistrial but told the jury to disregard a remark of special prosecutor Kim Sigler which led to the uproar.

It resulted while Atty. Benjamin F. Watson was asking Hemans whether he could not have told the grand jury his full account of alleged bribery without accepting immunity from prosecution.

"How in the world," Sigler demanded, "can we ever convict anybody if we don't grant immunity?"

George Fitzgerald, a defense attorney, said the defense had a right to show that Hemans has a "dishonest motive" in asking or accepting immunity.

FRY TAKES LEAD IN MICHIGAN'S GOVERNOR RACE

Brooks and Cody Behind in Democrat Contest.

Detroit, Mich., July 11 (AP).—Initial returns from today's primary election showed Edward J. Fry, former state racing commissioner, leading in a three-corner contest for the Democratic nomination for Michigan governor, while Auditor Gen. Vernon J. Brown was leading for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor.

These were the only contests on the state ticket, Gov. Kelly being unopposed for renomination on the Republican ticket, and James H. Lee, Detroit attorney, getting the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor without opposition.

Returns from 685 of the state's 3,843 precincts gave for the Democratic governorship nomination: Fry, 5,521; Earnest C. Brooks, 2,772; William J. Cody, 2,269.

For the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor Brown had 35,814 and Eugene C. Keyes, incumbent, 23,720.

CIO Candidate Wins.

Boston, Mass., July 11 [Special].—Mayor Maurice J. Tobin of Boston tonight was nominated as the Democratic candidate for governor, defeating State Treasurer Francis X. Hurley, New Deal foe, who conceded his defeat.

Mayor Tobin, whose indorsement by the CIO political action committee was bitterly attacked by Hurley, had a plurality of 27,000 votes, with 996 of 1,805 precincts giving him 77,392 votes to 50,768 for his opponent. The Boston chief executive was running ahead in cities such as Worcester, Fall River, Springfield, New Bedford, and Boston.

The veteran James M. Curley, former Democratic governor and mayor of Boston, campaigning for reëlection to congress in the 11th district, had poled 3,537 votes in 44 out of 148 precincts to 2,944 for the CIO indorsed Thomas H. Eliot.

Mayor John H. Corcoran of Cambridge was leading in the Democratic nomination for United States senator, running ahead of Richard M. Russell, former United States representative. Joseph Lee and Joseph A. Langone Jr. of Boston trailed.

Gov. Leverett Saltonstall was assured of the Republican nomination for United States senator. He ran without opposition. Lt. Gov. Horace T. Cahill was unopposed for the G. O. P. nominee as governor.

Sen. Thomas Renominated.

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 11 (AP).—Elmer Thomas won the Democratic nomination for a fourth term in the United States senate on the basis of unofficial returns from more than half the precincts from today's primary election.

Thomas was crowded briefly by Lt. Gov. James E. Berry, who swept in a large number of rural boxes in the early tabulation, but then began a steady, uninterrupted shove ahead. The count in 1,923 precincts was Thomas, 45,672, and Berry, 32,611. Third place was held by Wesley E. Disney, 1st district congressman, with 31,440.

W. J. Otjen, Enid attorney, apparently was headed toward nomination on the Republican ticket. He ran a close race for governor in 1942.

Four Democratic congressmen had apparently safe leads for renomination. They were Paul Stewart, 3d; Victor Wickersham, 7th; Jed Johnson, 6th, and Mike Monroney, 5th.

In the fourth, Rep. Lyle Boren had a narrow lead over Park Wyatt, Shawnee attorney, for the Democratic nomination.

Gov. Blood Defeated.

Manchester, N. H., July 12 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Republican Gov. Robert O. Blood—the first New Hampshire chief executive to seek a third consecutive term—was defeated in yesterday's primary, nearly complete returns indicated early today.

With only 11 of the state's 296 precincts unreported, Blood trailed Charles M. Dale, former state senate president, 27,451 to 19,210.

United States Sen. Charles W. Tobey, Republican, was renominated for a second term. He polled 26,134 votes to 19,345 for Rep. Foster Stearns, with only 11 precincts missing.

Rep. Chester Merrow [R.] had a 2 to 1 margin over former Rep. Arthur B. Jenks in his quest for renomination.

Sherman Adams had a wide lead in the contest for the Republican nomination for Stearns' seat. Fortunat Normandin was slightly ahead of Bernard O'Kane in the race for the Democratic nomination in this district—in the only Democratic contest.

Congress Fight in Utah.

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 11 (AP).—Early returns sent Adam S. Bennion of Salt Lake City to the front in a four man race for the Republican United States senatorial nomination.

Unofficial reports from 198 of Utah's 850 voting districts gave Bennion, former Utah Power and Light company vice president, 4,523 votes to 1,613 for David J. Wilson, Ogden attorney and former G. O. P. state chairman. Oscar W. Carlson and George H. Crow, the other candidates, trailed far to the rear.

The winner will face Sen. Elbert D. Thomas, unopposed, for the Democratic nomination, in November.

Gov. Herbert B. Maw, seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, led State Sen. Stanley N. Childs, 4,427 to 2,966, in 191 districts.

Gov. Langlie Takes Lead.

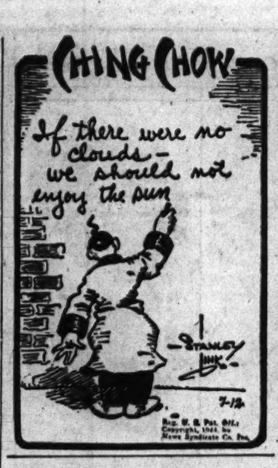
Seattle, Wash., July 11 (AP).—Gov. Arthur B. Langlie took a commanding lead over Maj. Louis Wasmer for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in returns from today's primary.

In 262 out of the state's 3,164 precincts, Langlie had 10,095 votes to 2,885 for Wasmer, Spokane radio station owner.

U. S. Sen. Mon C. Wallgren was unopposed for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Rep. Warren G. Magnuson, Seattle, polled 7,845 votes to 1,305 in 281 precincts for former Rep. Martin Smith, for the Democratic nomination for the United States senate seat which Homer T. Bone will vacate to become a federal judge.

Maj. Harry Cain, Tacoma mayor on leave with the military forces, took a wide lead for the Republican nomination for senator, but the bulk of the reported votes were from his home city. He had 5,029 votes to 3,155 for Cameron Sherwood and 1,323 for Supreme Court Judge Joseph A. Mallery.



DEWEY FAVORS A WORLD POLICE, SAYS REP. LUCE

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albany, N. Y., July 11 [Special].—Rep. Clare Booth Luce of Connecticut today quoted Gov. Dewey as saying he favored an international organization which "would use force if necessary" to maintain peace in the world. With four other Republican congressmen and Sen. Danaher she was in a conference with the Presidential candidate for three hours.

While continuing these pre-campaign consultations with Republican legislators, Dewey announced earlier today that on Aug. 2 and 3 he and Gov. Bricker of Ohio, the Vice Presidential candidate, will preside at a conference of the nation's 26 Republican governors.

The meeting is to be held in St. Louis, Mo. There are tentative plans for him to see senators and representatives of the nationalist midwest on the same trip.

Dewey declined to comment on President Roosevelt's announcement earlier today that he would accept nomination for a fourth term.

She Helped Draft Plank.

Mrs. Luce, a black ribbon in her blonde hair and chic in a print dress, was asked by a reporter whether she thought her conception of Gov. Dewey's foreign policy convictions conflicted with the party's foreign plank opposing a world state.

"I was on the committee which drafted the plank," replied the Broadway playwright, "and believe we were all thinking that America must, will, and wants to join an international organization, call it a league of nations or whatever you will."

Mrs. Luce said most of the conversations with Dewey indicated he was trying to arrive at a general policy for government in the United States.

Dewey "Inevitable Man."

"There was little discussion of campaign issues as such," she said. "Dewey's interest was cantered on determining what promises can be kept.

"Mr. Roosevelt may be the indispensable man for the Democratic party but Mr. Dewey is the inevitable man for the United States of America. I never met a more capable, farsighted and shrewd politician since the last time I had the privilege of eating with Mr. Roosevelt."

The glamor congresswoman said she thought Wendell Willkie will campaign for Dewey.

Dewey, at his morning press conference, said all of the Republican governors have promised to attend the St. Louis conference and that the two day session is expected to end the strife between the states and the federal government which has become bitter under New Deal encroachments upon local jurisdiction.

Agenda of Conference.

Dewey, in making his announcement, avoided the phrase "states' rights" and described the subject of the governors' conference, as "the areas of responsibility and obligation as between the states and the federal government." The agenda, he continued, will include employment services, aids to agriculture, relief, unemployment insurance, and taxation in general.

Dewey commented that even Gov. Goodland of Wisconsin and Gov. Langlie of Washington would attend.

Gov. Goodland is over 80 years old. Langlie has been marooned in his own state by a peculiar political situation. Sen. Bone [D., Wash.] has been appointed by President Roosevelt to the federal bench but has postponed taking the oath so Langlie can not name a Repulican successor in the senate. The lieutenant governor, a Democrat, who would become acting governor in Langlie's absence, has agreed in writing, according to Dewey, not to name a Democratic successor to Bone during the St. Louis conference.

SYMPHONY HOUR TO BROADCAST IN ORCHESTRA HALL

Orchestra hall, home of the Chicago Symphony orchestra and scene of many memorable concerts, has been acquired by W-G-N for the presentation of a series of 14 Chicago Theater of the Air Symphony hours. This was announced yesterday by Frank P. Schreiber, manager of the station.

The first of the W-G-N Symphony orchestra concerts from Orchestra hall will be broadcast from 8.30 to 9:30 p. m. next Tuesday. The concerts will be aired from the hall at the same hour each Tuesday night. The orchestra will be conducted by Henry Weber, director of music for W-G-N.

The opening program will consist of the following selections: The "Jupiter" symphony, by Mozart; "Afternoon of a Faun," by Debussy, and the Prelude and Love Death, from "Tristan and Isolde," by Wagner.

BUILDERS PRAISE GREEN PROGRAM FOR CHICAGO AID

Need for Co-operation Cited at Meeting.

Gov. Green's recently announced post-war plan for Chicago was hailed yesterday at a meeting of building industry representatives as the greatest hope yet advanced for definite progress in construction and maintenance of a high level of post-war employment.

"Gov. Green's offer of coöperation and assistance by the state to plan for the future of Chicago gives us the hope we need," Paul D. Angell, secretary of the Chicago Building congress, told the meeting.

Ready for War's End.

"With this help we shall not fail the opportunities to be presented when hostilities end in Europe this year or early in 1945.

"The city of Chicago and its surrounding metropolitan area need the coöperative efforts of the state. Without coöperation between the state and the city authorities on fundamental issues involving post-war adjustments in the field of transportation, slum clearance, mortgage financing, public health and veterans' rehabilitation, there can be little, if anything, accomplished."

The meeting, sponsored by the building congress, was attended by representatives of the Chicago and Cook County Building Trades council, the General Contractor Employers' association, the Builders' association of Chicago, the Illinois Society of Architects, the American Institute of Architects, Chicago chapter; the Producers' council, and others.

"Impressed with Move."

"The Chicago Building congress is deeply impressed with the move made by Gov. Green in enlisting the aid of the state in a program designed to help Chicago solve some of its pressing problems and begin to dream of a bigger and better future," Angell said.

"The post-war period constitutes a challenge to the resourcefulness of the Chicago building industry. If it is called upon to build bridges or cathedrals, homes or factories, the building industry is able to build them, and build them well—build them better than they would be built anywhere in the world. But it cannot plan for the future without the aid of the city and the state."

Mrs. O'Hern Returns to City of Birth.

BY GLADYS PRIDDY.

A woman would make a good Vice Presidential nominee for the Democrats, but she ought to be picked by the man who'll work with her: President Roosevelt.

Mrs. Jennie F. O'Hern.

That was the opinion yesterday of the first national committeewoman to arrive here for the Democratic national convention next week. She is Mrs. Jennie F. O'Hern, Wakpala, S. D., born Jennie Keegan of Englewood, daughter of Michael J. Keegan, one time alderman of Chicago's 30th ward and adherent of both the Carter Harrisons in their mayoralty campaigns.

"Yes, that would be fine," she said, scanning the Monday announcement of the Illinois committeewoman, Mrs. Elizabeth Conkey, that she'd like to see Rep. Mary Norton of New Jersey, now serving her 20th consecutive year in congress, get the Vice Presidential spot. But Mrs. O'Hern of South Dakota just held out for a woman—President Roosevelt to do the picking.

Becomes Husband's Pupil.

It was 25 years ago that Jennie Keegan went to South Dakota as the bride of William P. O'Hern, agent for the Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul railroad at Wakpala—"a town that could be 500, counting all the trains going thru." He taught her what he knew about the telegraph key, signaling trains, and delivering train orders. She's been an agent, too, now for 20 years. She's assigned to Trail City, 32 miles south around the bend from Wakpala on a branch road running into the Black Hills.

Mrs. O'Hern is new on her political job, having been chosen in December to replace Mrs. Leone Crowlie, Huron, S. D., who became America's typical housewife for the office of price administration. However, Mrs. O'Hern is not new in political work. She has been state vice chairman in South Dakota and held other posts. She came to the 1940 convention just to see what went on.

Democrats to Welcome Women.

The Democrats are expecting more than 500 women alternates and delegates, and they're going to welcome them with equal representation on major committees. Rep. Norton is being given the title of co-chairman on a subcommittee of the resolutions committee. Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross is on that subcommittee, also.

Mrs. Charles W. Tillett, Charlotte, N. C., first woman to be elected assistant chairman of the Democratic national committee, is expected here today, while Helen Gahagan Douglas, Democratic nominee for congress from California's 14th district, is expected Friday. The actress wife of Capt. Melvyn Douglas, former actor now overseas, has been national committeewoman for California since 1940.

Mrs. Conkey, the Illinois committeewoman, is also the party's official hostess. There will be women receptionists, also, one of whom, Miss Dorothy McKnight of Brinkley, Ark., has been in Chicago working with the arrangements committee several months.

Plea Refused

Mrs. Phyllis Dobbins with her daughter, Donna Lou, 2, in the county building yesterday.

Circuit Judge Thomas J. Lynch yesterday refused to place William Dobbins, 30, of 4624 N. Wolcott av., under a bond of $5,000 to keep him within the jurisdiction of the court when Dobbins' wife, Phyllis, 22, refused to post an equal bond to prove her good faith. Mrs. Dobbins, who lives at 4130 Potomac av., has filed a suit for separate maintenance, and she said she feared her husband might return to Arizona, where he formerly was employed. He is a war worker. Judge Lynch said he would issue a writ requiring Dobbins to put up a bond if Mrs. Dobbins would match it. Persons petitioning such writs are required by statute to put up bonds in good faith, he said. Mrs. Dobbins' attorney, Leo J. Bartoline, said she could not post $5,000.

N.Y. DEMOCRATS ELECT NEW HEAD; 'BIG JIM' IS OUT

P. E. Fitzpatrick.

Accepting the post, Fitzpatrick praised Farley as one who has given the Democratic party "standing not only in this state but the entire country."

Thus "Smiling Big Jim" bowed out of the last of many official party positions he held during 35 years in politics.

CALUMET MAJOR CALLS BATTLE A 'BLOOD BATH'

WITH U. S. FORCES BEFORE MOBECQ, France, July 11 (AP).—"We've had a blood bath here today," said Maj. Benjamin B. Cohen of 4117 Parrish av., East Chicago, Ind., as he paused while directing mopping up operations against German suicide squads.

"Despite the pounding we are giving them, the Huns are plumping mortars among our boys. How anybody still is alive up there in Mobecq is more than I can see," he added.

Cohen's men were called up along with heavy demolition crews after the American infantry and tanks ran into some of the bloodiest fighting of the Normandy campaign. Hand to hand combat spread thru the junglelike foliage and thick hedge rows.

NEW DEAL FOES RALLY HELP TO JAB CONVENTION

The American Democratic National committee yesterday took on the character of the gadfly of the Roosevelt convention, with a call for a meeting at the same time and an invitation to other anti-New Deal groups to rally around. The call, issued by former Rep. John J. O'Connor of New York, whose brother once was Mr. Roosevelt's law partner, said it was expected also that some convention delegates would be "thrown out or treated roughly there" and would welcome a haven.

Out of the Chicago meeting next week there is expected, committee spokesmen said, a call for a national nominating convention, to be held probably in New Orleans, La. O'Connor's statement indicated this session possibly would select Sen. O'Daniel [D., Tex.], "who has been a nation-wide leader in the drive to flit the New Dealers."

Plan Activity in South.

O'Connor's committee expects the support of other anti-fourth term groups, especially those active in the south. Their strategy will be planned according to the situation as it develops and probably will vary in different states.

"As chairman of the executive committee, I have called together all our representatives thruout the country to meet again at Chicago, this time during the week the Democratic convention is in session, and to take such steps as the action of that convention shall make necessary. We shall be right on the job, ready to move in every state possible.

"We will be joined by the several other anti-New Deal groups, especially those which have been active in the south, and we expect our group will be augmented also by those delegates to the Democratic convention who will be thrown out or treated roughly there, as expected, and those dissatisfied with the Kelly-Hague-Browder steam roller.

O'Daniel Leadership Suggested.

"In our convention, immediately following the obsequies of the New Dealers, we shall prepare to meet the situation with appropriate ticket, or tickets, or indorsements, as the situation may warrant or demand in different sections of the country.

"For instance, there is a considerable demand thruout the south and southwest that a Democratic ticket be put in the field headed by W. Lee O'Daniel, United States senator from Texas, who has been a nation-wide leader in the drive to flit the New Dealers."

Dr. Gleason L. Archer, national chairman of the committee, added:

"A real Democrat will shortly be placed in nomination for President in whatever states are now controled by the New Deal, so that the genuine Democrats living there will at last be given an opportunity to vote for a Democrat."

OAK PARK FLYER MISSING AFTER RAID IN PACIFIC

Lt. William L. Reilly Jr., a bombardier on a Liberator bomber, who formerly lived at 1215 N. Elmwood av., Oak Park, was reported missing in action June 23 over Yap Island in the Pacific, friends learned yesterday. His parents moved to York, Pa., a month ago. Lt. Reilly was graduated from Oak Park High school in 1941 and attended Monmouth college until he enlisted in the army air forces in 1942. He was commissioned a 2d lieutenant Dec. 3, 1943, and went overseas last April. His letters indicated that his final mission over Yap was his 17th against the Japs.

'UNHOLY' UNION OF NEW DEAL, CIO DENOUNCED

G. M. Owlett Assails 4th Term 'Plot.'

Philadelphia, Pa., July 11 [Special].—Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO political action committee, is the "malignant force" behind a gigantic fourth term conspiracy by which he hopes to become "the supreme dictator of all American labor," G. Mason Owlett, Republican national committeeman from Pennsylvania and president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' association, told members of the Union League club here tonight.

Hillman's alliance with the New Deal, Owlett said, leaves the United States with a grave civil war "that must be fought uncompromisingly to end the nightmare of governmental abuse we have had for the last 12 years."

"This civil war is not a war of armor. It is a violent domestic struggle with dangerous economic and political stresses to determine whether Lincoln's government 'of, for, and by the people' shall survive or be replaced by all-out power in the hands of an outrageous political dynasty," Owlett asserted.

Charges Evasion of Law.

Owlett declared the CIO political action committee "represents a conspiracy by which the Democratic national committee plans to evade election laws covering expenditures and the action of political parties.

"What the Democratic party is prohibited from doing by statute, it proposes to do thru its soulmate, the CIO's hatchet and pocketbook squad.

"There has been no more shocking incident than the unholy marriage between New Deal leadership and the Earl Browders, Sidney Hillmans, and other apostles of the Communist party. The workers of this nation, union and nonunion, would be the first victims of this strange coalition of political power and labor czardom.

Dictator of U. S. Labor.

"Can any one doubt that Sidney Hillman, by virtue of the capers of his political action committee, is not the treacherous force behind a colossal fourth term conspiracy by which, as a reward, he will become the supreme dictator of all American labor with a special nook for himself in the White House?"

Owlett declared the future and freedom of this country will be imperiled as long as the "New Deal works to break down our constitutional form of government."

Coal Men Shovel 20 Tons Into the Wrong Basement!

Haverhill, Mass., July 11 (AP).—With the temperature in the upper 90s, two men delivered 20 tons of coal to the Colonial theater yesterday, sighed, and headed for the showers. Then they discovered the coal should have been taken to the Strand theater instead. So they shoveled the 20 tons out again and delivered it to the correct destination.

SMASH GERMAN DRIVE TO SPLIT NORMANDY LINE

day until late afternoon when the Americans had sorted out most of the German tanks and self-propelled guns and with the help of the air force destroyed or damaged a considerable number. But while the German effort to disrupt our beachhead neck failed it still appeared that the enemy had a tank force with which the Americans must reckon in this area.

An estimated 35 German tanks had got into the salient around Pont Hebert, on the west bank of the Vire river. One pocket of 15 tanks was encircled back of our lines. A call to the air forces brought flights of dive bombers which found their target, definitely destroyed seven tanks and probably more.

Other tanks had been attacked during the night by our Shermans and our artillery. Doughboys stayed in their foxholes to take part in the tank slaughter, shooting at them with bazookas. One report to headquarters said four tanks were destroyed by doughboys using flame throwers, the first case of this kind in the campaign.

United States Attack Delayed.

Northeast of St. Lo other Yanks were prepared to jump off at 6 a. m. in the assault to the south toward the St. Lo road net. One primary objective was to secure Hill 192, which dominates the entire countryside, and a ridge line extending from it back toward the town.

Before this could start the Germans threw another counter-attack against one unit. In a short while the Germans were about a half mile into our lines, a maneuver like this being easily accomplished in the darkness by either side because of the fluid nature of the front and the excellent cover afforded by the hedgerows.

Fighting milled about in the darkness and one American battalion commander reported the "situation is very grave." However, an hour later came his next report: "Situation clear. Less grave."

By that time reserves had been brought up and it was learned only one German company was attacking.

Altho delayed on the jump-off by this raid, the American unit attacked five hours later behind another thundering barrage. By evening it was up fighting with its sister organization on the edge of St. Andre Delpine, just west of Hill 192.

Americans reached the outskirts of La Luzerne, two miles northeast of St. Lo; the outskirts of Le Mesnil-Roxelin, two miles north of the German hinge city, and also captured Pont-Hebert, three miles on the northwestern side of their goal.

Northwest of St. Lo, in the drive along the road from Carentan to Periers, the Americans captured La Roserie and La Maugerie, four miles northeast of Periers.

FIGHT COUNTER-BLOWS

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, July 12 [Wednesday].—Canadian tanks and infantry yesterday smashed to the western bank of the River Orne on a stretch of nearly three miles, capturing Rocreuil and Louvigny. The Germans later fought back into Louvigny.

Simultaneously, British troops attacking southward from the salient across the Orne above Caen, gained a mile to seize Saint Honorine and Colombelles, less than two miles northeast of Caen.

The Germans then made a very heavy counter-attack on the British formations. It was admitted the Germans had some success, but whether they had retaken these villages was not stated.

Withdraw from Maltot.

Colombelles is an industrial town and it was suggested that probably the British held the residential part of the city, which was to the north, while the Germans had penetrated back into the industrial part of the town. There are iron works in Colombelles.

Just beyond Colombelles is Faubourg de Vaucelles, which is on the south side of the curving Orne and just opposite allied troops holding the center of Caen.

Below the Canadian grip on river line from just above the confluence of the Orne and Odon rivers to the woods southwest of Maltot, British troops were engaged in heavy fighting against German infantry and tanks. By strong and repeated counter-attacks the enemy succeeded in recovering Maltot, and the British rtreated a mile to the Esquay-Eterville road after German tanks laid down a heavy fire on the village.

35 Tanks Knocked Out.

Tanks in some strength were pushed into the expanding Odon bridgehead, and a fierce battle raged all day for the vital Hill 112—"Crucifix Hill"—which dominates the countryside. The allies held the height against five counter-attacks.

The German counter-attacks were of the most determined character. One unofficial estimate was that at least 35 tanks had been knocked out. Most of the counter-attacks came from the south and southeast of the Odon bridgehead near Evrecy. They were pressed with plenty of infantry support, but British guns laid down great barrages and shattered every assault. Enemy losses were believed to be heavy.

A British advance of half a mile on a two mile front between the villages of Onchy and Hottot-les-Bagues, 12 miles west of Caen, was reported from the Tilly sector on the British west flank. As elsewhere, the attack evoked immediate and heavy enemy response.

A German report said a British break thru attempt was launched north of Tilly, west of the Villers-Bocage road. Savage fighting was going on yesterday afternoon.

As weather cleared late in the day, Marauders and Havocs smashed at rail lines and fuel dumps behind the enemy front. American Thunderbolts struck up German gun positions and tanks in the Lessay and Periers sectors of the battlefront. R. A. F. fighter-bombers destroyed at least three tanks and knocked out another southeast of Hottot-les-Bagues, and damaged two other near Vimont.

GERMAN WAR REPORT

Tuesday's German war bulletin as broadcast by Berlin and recorded in New York by the Associated Press said:

"In Normandy, the defensive battle continues in large sectors of the enemy beachhead front. With very strong use of artillery, tanks and air force, the Anglo-Americans are time and again trying to tear up our front so as to be able to thrust into the depth of the French area. With exemplary gallantry, our troops are withstanding the enemy onslaught. Enemy losses are very heavy. One hundred two enemy tanks were knocked out in the Caen area alone on July 8-9.

"The enemy launched an offensive east of the Orne river in an eastern direction yesterday [Monday]. The enemy was repulsed. South of Caen, the enemy succeeded in capturing Maltot, just behind our forward lines. Our counter-attacking panzer [armored] grenadiers thereupon threw the enemy assault groups back again.

"To the west, embittered fighting took place for a dominating height which changed hands repeatedly until it finally fell into our hands in the evening.

"At Tessel-Bretteville, repeated enemy tank actions were smashed.

"On both sides of the Carentan-Periers road, the enemy attacked on a wide front but was brought to a standstill just southwest of our old positions after fierce fighting.

"In the French area, more than 50 terrorists were annihilated after fighting yesterday.

YANKS HAMMER DOWN VALLEY TO FLANK LIVORNO

ROME, July 11 (AP).—American troops were striking northward tonight down the Era river valley beyond the by-passed German strongpoint of Lajatico in a bold flanking threat to Livorno [Leghorn] and Pisa.

American armored spearheads were reported within a dozen miles of the broad Arno river valley at the point where the Era joins the Arno to flow westward thru Pisa to the sea. Should Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's forces succeed in plunging thru to the Arno valley they would be in position to wheel westward and entrap the Nazi divisions which have stalled the allies some 10 miles below Livorno.

Battle Elaborate Forts.

An allied spokesman said the Americans in the Era valley were advancing against elaborate fortifications, the enemy evidently having anticipated such an attempt to pierce their "Gothic line" outposts.

"The Germans' sensitivity in this sector is evidenced by the many machine guns in position, with alternate prepared emplacements," he said. "They also are using a number of self-propelled guns and considerable light artillery."

The Era valley battlefield is approximately 21 miles inland from the Tyrrhenian coast, almost due east of Livorno, the immediate prize of the allied campaign. For the past two days there has been no report of progress by United States infantry forces directly below Livorno on the coast. They ran into fresh Nazi units bolstered by intense fire from artillery and mortars.

Measure Gains in Yards.

Allied gains clear across the peninsula continued to be measured almost by the yard, with the enemy fighting hard for every hill and clump of ruined houses. British forces still probed at the elaborate defenses of Arezzo, 36 miles southeast of Florence, without making appreciable progress. French and American units of the 5th army were reported fighting in the outskirts of Poggibonsi, 22 miles south and slightly west of Florence.

Frequently positions changed hands several times in a day as the Nazis repeatedly counter-attacked. There no longer was any hope of a quick smash thru the "Gothic line."

Report Nazis Take Over Five Italian Provinces

ROME, July 11 (AP).—The Germans have forbidden Fascist leaders to recruit troops in the provinces of Trento, Belluno, Bolzano, Trieste and Goriziano in northern Italy and have placed the provinces under Nazi gauleiters, an Italian who came thru the enemy lines said today. He added that Fascist officials had been forbidden to wear uniforms and that Fascist police and customs officers had been disbanded.

ALLIED OFFICERS PROBE GERMANS' ROME MASSACRE

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, July 11.—A shrine will be established in the Ardeatine caves in the southern section of Rome if an inquiry fully proves the allegation that 320 civilians were executed there by the Nazis between March 23 and 25, Col. Charles Poletti, head of the allied military government [AMG], said today.

According to reports when the allies reached the city, 32 Germans were killed on a Rome street early in March and the Germans then murdered 320 Romans—10 for each Nazi slain—in the caves.

"If the inquiry bears out details of such an atrocity, the ruthless slaying of innocent and defenseless persons, we will build a memorial to them in the caves where they died so that all the world will remember the Nazi brutality," Poletti said.

Poletti appointed a fact finding commission to investigate the Ardeatine caves affair and to locate and identify all the victims. The findings will be presented to whatever body may ultimately be created to consider such war crimes.

Report Italian Patriot Jailed 18 Years Set Free

ROME, July 11 (AP).—Dispatches from Zurich today said that Italian patriots had released Gen. Luigi Capello from a German prison at Verona where he had been serving a 30 year sentence imposed by a Fascist tribunal in 1926 for alleged complicity in a plot to assassinate Mussolini. The Communist leader Giovanni Roveda was said to have been freed from the same prison.

HIGHLAND PARK FLYER MISSING IN RAID ON YAP

NIGHT PROWLING YANK RESCUES A CHICAGOLANDER

Finds Park Ridge Buddy in 5 Nazis' Dugout.

WITH U. S. TROOPS IN ST. LO SECTOR, France, July 11 (AP).—A 21 year old rifleman with circles under his eyes as a result of his penchant for solitary night stalking of Nazis bagged five German soldiers today. He also freed a buddy who had been their prisoner for five hours.

Pvt. Roosevelt Fusilier of Port Arthur, Tex., whose commander said he was the scrappiest soldier in the company, came upon an enemy dugout while helping mop up during an advance that resulted in the taking of Hill 192, a key height overlooking St. Lo.

Attacks in Indian Style.

He was sleepy eyed from an all-night solo search for patroling Nazi troopers, but decided he had better give the dugout a check. He worked his way to it Indian fashion. Just as he reached it one of the Germans raised his head over the edge in search for ammunition.

"I poked my rifle into the dugout," Fusilier said, "and they all began yelling 'Kamerad!' and gave themselves up."

Saves Park Ridge Private.

Inside the dugout Fusilier found five live Nazis, two dead ones, and Pvt. John R. Simpson, 25, of Park Ridge, Ill., who had been taken prisoner earlier in the drive. The Germans had forced him into the shelter already occupied by the two corpses.

"They treated me all right," Simpson said. "I told them they were surrounded and should give themselves up. But they said that as soon as it was dark they would try to slip thru to their lines, and that they would let me go back to mine."

Captured as He Sought Aid.

Simpson, who was part owner of a grocery in Park Ridge, was seized when he left the advancing front line to get machine gun support. He stumbled on the little dugout and when he yelled down, "Are you Yanks?" three Germans came out with machine pistols pointing at him. He tried to fire at them but his carbine jammed and he was captured.

[W. W. Chaplin, a radio reporter in Normandy, said one of the German prisoners was an officer who spoke English. Chaplin reported: "The German said he was afraid Simpson would be punished when he rejoined his regiment, so he gave the private a note saying: 'To whom it may concern and to Pvt. Simpson's commanding officer in particular—The bearer, John Simpson, has been a prisoner of German soldiers all afternoon. Please excuse his delay.' The note was signed with the officer's name."]

He completed pilot training Dec. 13, 1942, and thereafter was graduated from a nine weeks' bomber pilot course at Tarrant field, Fort Worth, Tex. He went to India in March, 1943. Surviving are his father, Paul A. Payne, 7130 Ingleside av.; his mother, Mrs. Laurette Borsch, formerly of 4432 N. Racine av.; a brother, John; sister, Gertrude, and half sister, Shirley.

HIS CAMBRIDGE DEGREE REACHES YANK IN FRANCE

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN NORTHERN FRANCE, July 11.—Corp. Philip Glaessner of New York City, who has been pushing thru the La Haye du Puits sector with his outfit in the last nine days, today received a letter within a few hundred yards of the front lines. In it he found his master's degree in economics from Pembroke college, Cambridge university, England.

Glaessner, who speaks French, German, and Spanish, studied at Columbia university in New York, received his B. A. degree at Cambridge, and then took his master's. Now his job is interrogating prisoners and serving as liaison between his unit and the French populace.

Arrival of his master's today, he said, "made me laugh." When we saw him, Glaessner was serving as an interpreter between an American brigadier general and a French peasant who wanted to return to his farm near-by to see how badly damaged it was. The general was assuring the Frenchman that the damage was nominal.

YOU DON'T RIDE OVER THIS HILL; DEATH IS THERE

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN NORMANDY, July 11.—As you drive south from the shambles of a once sleepy French town in this section of the Normandy front, you finally reach a point beyond which you're advised against going because "the last vehicle over that hill ahead drew heavy artillery fire." So you park your jeep a few yards beyond where a dead American soldier lies on his stomach, his face slightly turned to one side as tho he were sleeping, and you walk.

On each side of the road engineers are slowly passing mine detectors over the ground under the direction of Lt. Col. William Canallen. He explains it's their job to keep the road cleared to the front, since it's an important supply route. They haven't found a great number of mines, he says, but they came across several of the "Schu" mines which are of wooden construction with a plastic detonator and are difficult for our men to detect.

Major Leads Battalion.

Canallen says they are also finding a few "mustard pots." This is a small mine which explodes under 30 pounds pressure and "severs your foot very neatly."

A couple of hundred yards farther on you cut thru a field in which are two dead donkeys and a dead cow and go into a courtyard in which a dead German is covered with canvas. At the French stone-house there you find Maj. Henry F. Knoch of Boise, Idaho, shaving for the first time in many days. Knoch has commanded an infantry battalion since the commanding colonel was wounded four days ago. His men have been fighting steadily the last nine days and were getting an hour or so sleep nightly. Now they are getting ready to take their first rest.

Knoch's men a few nights ago captured important high ground beyond La Haye altho it was occupied by SS [elite guard] troops of the Das Reich division.

Fight for Hill Four Days.

There had been bitter fighting for the hill for four days when a company commanded by Capt. Theodore West of Cuba, O., managed to reach the summit undetected by the Germans. It was about dusk and neither group knew the other was there until they were about 50 yards apart. Then some one spotted a German moving and fired at him.

Yanks and Germans spent most of the rest of the night tossing grenades back and forth over hedgerows at close range. The battle lasted a couple of days until our artillery, which Knoch says is "superb," ranged in on the Germans and drove them out.

They Capture Two Nazis.

While we talk to Knoch, West, and another officer, Capt. Paul De Bruhl, Asheville, N. C., a left handed pitcher who is the property of the St. Louis Browns and formerly pitched in Toledo and Springfield, O., and a brigadier general, who is an assistant divisional commander, arrived. They are accompanied by a colonel.

The general is making an inspection trip along the front. He strides erectly past gaps in hedgerows behind which infantrymen crouch. He and the colonel were so close to yesterday's fighting they captured two German privates who had come running around a bend in the road.

"All I could think of to tell one so and so was 'Achtung' [attention]," said the general.

In the last nine days one unit here has taken about 200 prisoners, Lt. Col. Philip Schimhan, Temple Hill, N. C., said. They were mixed in a bag which included Russians, Poles, and even a few from Turkestan, as well as four S. S. men. Schimhan said they didn't seem particularly of a high type soldier, but "they fought like hell."

While we were visiting the front Aaron Bohrod, 4828 Dorchester av., Chicago, a fellow war correspondent and magazine artist, was talking with the engineers when they heard a burst of firing. Something whizzed past so close to Bohrod that he narrowly missed being wounded.

Two more Chicagoans, Staff Sergeants Harry Schaefer, 4928 N. Ridgeway av., who owns a chain of shoe stores, and William Schenk, 4922 Byron st., a former employe of an auto supply house, also were seen today. Both are 81 millimeter mortar men. Schaefer asked that greetings be sent to his son, Stephen Michael, who will have a birthday July 15.

"Dexter has a swimming pool all to himself in the country. But gas rationing keeps him in the city this summer!"

FIRST RADIO IN FREED FRANCE STARTS DAILY CHERBOURG PROGRAM

New York, July 11 (AP).—Radio Cherbourg, the first domestic station in liberated France, began broadcasting today, the federal communications commission said. The new station said it would open its daily broadcasting program with:

"From the liberated soil of France, Radio Cherbourg speaks to you."

The first broadcast consisted of relays of French material from ABSIE [American broadcasting station in Europe] and from the British Broadcasting corporation, and short news bulletins of local Cherbourg interest.

1,067 NAZI PLANES AND 1,284 ALLIED LOST IN FRANCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, July 11.—Allied aircraft flew 158,000 sorties in the first month of the Normandy operations, it was disclosed today by headquarters. The allies shot down 1,067 German planes and lost 1,284 of their own.

The 8th United States air force flew 53,000 sorties. It claimed the destruction of 372 enemy planes in the air and admitted the loss of 433. Of these, the bombers claimed 55 enemy planes and admitted 218 losses. Fighter planes reported the additional successes and losses.

The United States 9th air force flew 38,000 sorties, claimed 200 enemy planes, and admitted 317 losses. The British 2d tactical air force flew 36,000 sorties, claimed 245 enemy planes, and admitted 269 losses. British air defense forces flew 21,000 sorties, claimed 134 planes, and reported 49 losses. The British royal air force flew 10,500 sorties, claimed 109, and lost 216.

PRISONER TOTAL FOR NORMANDY REACHES 54,000

LONDON, July 11 (AP).—Gen. Montgomery, the allied ground commander in France, visited Caen today and assured his warriors that they had "given the enemy forces a tremendous pounding" and won definite and concrete results, including the capture of 54,000 prisoners, since the beginning of the invasion.

In a broadcast to his troops in Normandy, Montgomery praised the courage which he said had secured the beachhead, but he closed on a note of sober warning by quoting a prayer of Sir Francis Drake, historic British naval commander, beseeching God to grant the knowledge that "it is not the beginning, but the continuing" of a task that "yieldeth the true glory."

The American army in France disclosed tonight that its own total of Germans taken prisoner since landing on the Normandy beaches was 46,819. In addition, the Americans have buried 5,030 Nazi soldiers, and the Germans have buried hundreds of their own dead.

REDS PUSH 20 MI. IN DRIVE TOWARD BALTIC CAPITALS

Outflanking Latvian Rail Center on South.

LONDON, July 12 [Wednesday] (AP).—Russian armies plunged steadily toward East Prussia and the Baltic sea yesterday, while late German broadcasts cried, "The enemy is at the gates of Germany."

Daugavpils [Dvinsk], big rail center in southern Latvia, rapidly was being outflanked from the south and advances up to 20 miles were registered by soviet forces on some sectors of the 350 mile battle front, Moscow said.

Everywhere the disorganized Germans were being pounded relentlessly. The early morning supplement to the Russian war bulletin listed at least 4,000 Nazi soldiers killed and hundreds captured during yesterday's fighting. Moscow reported that the round-up of encircled Nazi remnants east of Minsk had been completed.

The Russians also were carrying out a battle for the annihilation of German troops encircled in the center of Wilno [Vilna], Moscow said, as street fighting there continued thru the fourth day.

Strike Toward Kaunas.

The Berlin radio said "the supreme test had come," and acknowledged that soviet troops had smashed west beyond Wilno and were striking along the road leading to Kaunas [Kovno], capital of Lithuania.

The Moscow bulletin told of the capture of Olkeniki on the Merechanka river, 50 miles southeast of Kaunas, as Red units advanced 20 miles westward from a point midway between Wilno and Lida.

This added the threat of a flanking movement against Kaunas, already opened to frontal assault by cavalry and tanks driving along the railway from Wilno.

Another arm of the 1st White Russian army, aiming at Bialystok, fought its way 13 miles west of Slonim, which was taken Monday, and captured Ozernitsa, 23 miles east of the important railway and highway junction of Wolkowysk, last major German stronghold before Bialystok.

Sixty Miles from E. Prussia.

Already within 60 miles of East Prussia and little more than 100 miles from the Baltic seaport of Riga, capital of Latvia, the Russian armies threatened to break thru the Nazis' crumbling defenses.

Lt. Gen. Kurt Dittmar, Nazi propagandist, predicted still other retreats on the central front and intimated that the German high command had been guilty of miscalculations. etaet

Associated Press Correspondent Eddy Gilmore said in a dispatch from Moscow that "For all practical purposes Pinsk is lost to Hitler. It has Russians on three sides closing in rapidly."

The first White Russian army, already 20 miles west of the rail junction of Luniniec [Luninets], which fell Monday, was within 10 miles of Pinsk and within a little more than 100 miles of Brest-Litovsk.

GERMAN WAR REPORT.

The German war bulletin as broadcast from Berlin and recorded by the Associated Press yesterday said:

"In the Kowel area, troops of the army and the Waffen SS repulsed an onslaught of 10 soviet rifle divisions, one tank corps and two tank brigades in four days of fierce defensive fighting. In this fighting, 295 enemy tanks were knocked out in joint action of all arms at the front and in the Hinterland.

"The heroic garrison of Wilno yesterday repulsed the enemy attacking from all sides in grim fighting with heavy casualties to the enemy. By-passing the town, the enemy is advancing farther westward and southwestward.

"West of the Wilno-Daugavpils railway, numerous soviet attacks were beaten off. South of Daugavpils, heavy fighting is going on with several soviet rifle divisions and tank formations.

"Southeast of Novorzhev, however, the enemy succeeded in achieving a local dent, for which fighting is still is progress."

Developments reported yesterday in Red army drive.

F. D. R. TO ACCEPT CIVIL AUTHORITY OF DE GAULLISTS

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—President Roosevelt today announced he has reached an understanding with Gen. Charles de Gaulle under which the French leader's committee at Algiers will be the working authority for civil administration of metropolitan France.

Thus the main problem of Franco-American relations during the fighting for the liberation of France has been solved, the President said at his news conference.

The untangling of a controversy which has flared intermittently between De Gaulle and this government for two years came at Mr. Roosevelt's two talks with the French leader late last week.

Based on London Agreement.

The President said the understanding will be set down in a memorandum which will be signed by De Gaulle, the United States, and presumably Britain.

The draft agreement negotiated in London by Britain and the French committee will be the basis for the new arrangement, the President said.

In effect, the understanding will give De Gaulle virtual government powers, but Roosevelt emphasized that it is not to be a formal agreement. When a reporter asked if the authority agreed upon for De Gaulle made the French committee a provisional government, the President replied that he had not said that.

It's Up to Eisenhower.

As President Roosevelt explained the arrangement, it will be up to Gen. Eisenhower to declare which zones are ready for civilian administration and which must remain under military control. There are no nonmilitary zones in France yet, the President said.

The question of currency, which has been a point in dispute, has not yet been settled. The President said, however, that he saw no reason why De Gaulle's committee should not issue a temporary currency.

The currency which has been given allied troops now in France was printed in this country and bears no guarantee or backing on its face other than the words "emis en France" [issued in France].

New Capital Must Wait.

LONDON, July 11 (AP).—The French committee of national liberation may set up an advance headquarters in the liberated area of France soon, but the establishment of its full governing machinery on the soil of the homeland will await the capture of a big city.

Personnel of Gen. de Gaulle's organization and the French consultative assembly approximates 3,000. Neither Cherbourg nor Caen is equipped to handle that number.

CHICAGO TAIL GUNNER SERIOUSLY WOUNDED ON ITALIAN FRONT

Staff Sgt. John M. Miller, 25, has been seriously wounded in action, the war department has informed his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Miller, 3524 Rita st. The sergeant is a tail gunner assigned to the air forces in Italy. He is a graduate of Lane Technical High school and enlisted in the army air forces Nov. 7, 1941. He recently was awarded the air medal, an oak leaf cluster, and the Purple Heart.

Staff Sgt. J. M. Miller.

Cicero Pilot Who Took Part in Invasion Lost

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Korinek of 2108 Austin blvd., Cicero, were notified by the war department yesterday that their son, Lt. George R. Korinek Jr., 28, a fighter pilot who took part in the Normandy invasion, has been missing over France since June 24. Prior to the invasion, Lt. Korinek had flown 35 missions over enemy territory. A graduate of Morton High school and the University of Illinois, he had been in the army for two years.

STREET CAR KILLS MAN, 86.

Henry P. Backus, 86, of 66 W. Oak st., was killed yesterday by a street car while he was crossing Clark st. at Maple st. He was pronounced dead at Henrotin hospital. Edward Devine was the motorman.

SGT. REEBIE, 25, WINNETKA, LOST IN BALKAN RAID

Staff Sgt. Earl S. W. Reebie, 25, of 66 Fox lane, Winnetka, radio operator and gunner on a Liberator bomber, has been missing in action over Yugoslavia since June 26, a few weeks after he went overseas, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reebie have been notified. He enlisted in January, 1942, after being graduated from Choate Preparatory school, Wallingford, Conn., and attending Princeton university. He has two brothers in the army air forces. They are Sgt. Claude S. Reebie, who is with the bomber command in the China-Burma-India theater, and Lt. Robert S. Reebie, student flying officer at Stuttgart, Ark.

QUELL COLOMBIA REVOLT; REBEL LEADER ESCAPES

BOGOTA, Colombia, July 11 (AP).—Colombian army troops loyal to President Alfonso Lopez have quelled a short-lived revolt in which the president and several cabinet ministers were seized yesterday at Pasto while watching army maneuvers, it was announced tonight.

Lt. Col. Diogenes Gil, leader of the rebels, was said to have fled after his seizure of Lopez did not produce a general uprising.

Lopez was freed and reported safe in a village near Pasto in southern Colombia.

Calmness was reported from all major Colombian cities, which remained loyal to the Lopez regime.

BRITAIN OPENS 4 NEW REGIONS TO ROBOT REFUGEES

Restrictions Lifted as Crowds Flee London.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 11.—While railroad stations serving northern England had the busiest evacuation day since the Germans' flying bombs began hitting London nearly four weeks ago, War Minister James Grigg announced today that the government had lifted the ban on access to the protected areas of southwest England.

[The Germans resumed their flying bomb attacks on London at daylight today, an Associated Press dispatch reported.]

Beginning tomorrow evacuees will be allowed to enter Cornwall, Devon, Dorset, and part of Hampshire. For "operational reasons," Grigg told the house of commons, other areas must remain restricted. However, permission to enter closed areas will be extended to persons in "priority classes" from London and other evacuable areas in southern England if certified by a local authority under the government evacuation scheme. Priority classes are: Children of school age or under; mothers of such children; expectant mothers; the aged, invalids, and the blind.

41,000 Leave in One Day.

Another 15,000 evacuees left London this afternoon after 26,000 had moved out of the city this morning. These 41,000 made a total of almost 100,000 since Friday. Thirty-one thousand of today's departures were mothers with children under 5. The remaining 10,000 were school children and their teachers. It is expected that 16,000 evacuees will leave tomorrow.

Northern householders who refuse to take evacuated children may be compelled to do so, an official spokesman warned.

Meanwhile it was revealed that the National Fire service was warned last December to get ready for the German secret weapon.

Fighters Bag Many Bombs.

A succession of kills was scored by allied fighter pilots operating in strength tonight as many robot bombs struck southern England. Casualties and damage were officially admitted to have been caused in the capital during the day but London experienced its second raid free night tonight.

Tho there was no explanation of the respite, the Germans voiced new threats and said the first 'month's attacks were "just to get the range" for heavier blows.

Food Loss "Insignificant."

In London a second deep shelter probably will be opened tomorrow night and a third over the week-end.

Reviewing the effects of flying bombs on the food position of London and southern England, Food Minister John J. Llewellin said the loss of foodstuffs was insignificant and that wholesale distribution had been maintained.

EICHER AGAIN REFUSES TO HALT SEDITION TRIAL

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—Chief Justice Edward C. Eicher of District of Columbia federal court refused today to halt trial of the mass sedition conspiracy case pending a ruling of the court of appeals on an application for a writ of prohibition made by Defendant Robert Noble.

The application was filed by James J. Laughlin, attorney for Noble in the trial before he was ousted last week by Justice Eicher.

Pounding with his gavel, the justice ordered Noble to sit down after he had moved in person for a halt in the trial. The court added that the defendant would be heard only thru his court appointed attorney, Marion Bischoff.

Noble had contended he was "without counsel" thru Laughlin's removal and that the trial thus was proceeding without legal authority.

2 Charged with Taking 7 Autos Get Probations

Two young men charged with stealing seven automobiles were placed on a year's probation yesterday by Judge Francis Borrelli in Felony court. The theft charge was reduced to tampering with autos. The two are Jack Bach, 7644 Bosworth av., and Joseph Alton, 1418 Touhy av., both 17. They were arrested by Rogers Park police June 22 and admitted, police said, taking seven automobiles from the Terminal garage at 7632 N. Paulina st.

BRITISH SAY NEW GASOLINE ENGINE PROPELS ROBOTS

Uses Impulse Reaction Principle.

New York, July 11 [Special].—A simple impulse reaction engine of an entirely new form is used to propel German robot bombs, according to an article published in the British aircraft journal, Flight.

"Contrary to popular belief, there is neither compressor, turbine, nor rocket apparatus used for propulsion of the robot bomb," the British information services said today in discussing the article.

It takes about one gallon of gasoline per mile to shove the death missile toward Britain, and the maximum range is 150 miles. At the forward end of the 25 foot 4½ inch power tube, the article says, is a grille containing a series of air inlets, "rather like a harmonica." Shutters of spring steel control the air inlets, with fuel sprayers just behind.

How the Engine Works.

After the bomb is launched, here's how the engine action is pictured:

"Pressure of air at the front forces the shutters open and air enters the tube, where it is mixed with gasoline sprayed from fine jets to create an explosive mixture. Here it is ignited, and the succeeding explosion closes the air shutters. The pressure wave created at the front end causes the combustion products to be violently ejected from the open end, and propels the pilotless craft by impulse reaction.

Principle Not New.

"As the internal pressure in the tube falls by reflection of the pressure wave, the series of flap valves are opened again by the pressure of the surrounding air, a new charge is admitted, and the operation repeated in rapid succession. Thus arises the characteristic pulsating or rhythmic note.

"The impulsive duct engine is not entirely new, but it is the first time it has been applied in this way."

Gasoline is metered thru the sprayers by compressed air, contained in two large, spherical, wire bound bottles in the fuselage.

Death of Army Captain Laid to Thirst on Desert

Kingman, Ariz., July 11 (AP).—Thirst on the desert caused the death of Capt. Howard Brady, 37, of Newport Beach, Cal., when his car became stalled in the sand on a side road about 40 miles west of here, an autopsy revealed today. Brady was en route July 4 from here to an auxiliary army field 90 miles west where he was supply officer. The body was found Saturday night by army flyers.

URGES ASSOCIATION TO UNIFY ALL PHASES OF AERIAL PLANNING

Formation of a national association to be representative of all phases of aviation was urged last night by Col. Roscoe Turner, president of the National Aviation Trades association, before the 16th annual convention of the American Association of Airport Executives in the Hotel Sherman.

Col. Roscoe Turner.

He suggested such an association could be made up of representatives of smaller associations devoted to such problems as research, production, and commercial flying.

He also warned that plans for post-war aviation be kept within reason. Many projects for super-airports two miles square, he said, are not feasible for the reason that such ports would be unprofitable.

Oliver L. Parks of East St. Louis, Ill., president of Parks Air college, urged establishment of both residential and downtown areas for use of post-war air commuters.

County Area's Seventh Polio Case Is Reported

Seven cases of infantile paralysis have occurred this year in the county area outside of Chicago, Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, county health director, reported yesterday. He said the latest case, reported yesterday, was that of a 9 year old Cicero boy who is recovering in the county contagious disease hospital. Three previous cases were reported from Brookfield, and one each from Evanston, Wilmette, and Glenview. None of them proved fatal.

BURGLARS ARE RATION CONSCIOUS.
Burglars who broke into two apartments at 4032 Irving Park rd. yesterday stole jewelry worth $130 and ration books from Richard Buske and an alarm clock belonging to Miss Lillian Fox.

IT TAKES FARMING PLUS TRANSPORTATION FOR A WHEAT CROP

Good American farming has produced another bumper wheat crop. Now it's up to the railroads to transport the grain from farm to mill to be ground for Victory's bread.

Last year, Wabash alone moved more than a million tons of wheat... nearly twice the amount carried five years ago. Our 1943 cars of wheat would have made a train more than 200 miles long.

Again this year, we will do our part in moving the wheat crop. This is Service For Victory.

THREE FIREMEN OVERCOME WHILE FIGHTING BLAZE

Three firemen were revived and taken to St. Anthony's hospital late yesterday after they had been overcome by smoke while fighting a fire on the third floor of the Essex Wire corporation, 411 S. Peoria st. They are Acting Lt. Edward Dlouhy, 37, 1701 W. 19th st.; Joseph Moran, 32, of 6413 Bishop st., and William Considine, 33, of 7324 S. Oakley av. None was injured seriously.

City authorities discounted any theory other than accident for six major fires which caused $275,000 damage in the 36 hours ending at noon yesterday. Assistant Corporation Counsel Earle R. Downes, who is in charge of fire investigations, said the hot, dry weather created conditions favorable for fires.

Two of the six fires occurred early yesterday. They were in the Apollo theater, 74 W. Randolph st., where damage was estimated at $50,000, and in the National Lead company plant, 900 W. 18th st., where the loss was placed at $25,000.

OPA Official Here Made Acting Chief at St. Paul

Harold J. Slawik, office of price administration regional rationing executive, has been appointed acting district OPA director at St. Paul, Minn., effective July 17, Rae E. Walters, regional OPA administrator, said yesterday. Slawik will be succeeded here by John M. Kamerick, now district rationing executive at Des Moines, Ia.

BLACK MARKET FEAR HELD BAR ON PENICILLIN

Fear of black market operations is withholding penicillin, the new infection fighting drug developed since the start of World War II., from drug store shelves, Dr. Donald W. MacCorquodale of the Abbot laboratories, North Chicago, told members of the Chicago Retail Druggists association yesterday.

"You know as well as I do," he told the druggists, "that, if the limited suply were released, some one would buy it all up within 24 hours and the black market would result."

The National Research council, headed by a Boston physician, controls the available supply now, Dr. MacCorquodale explained. The drug is distributed for civilian use thru certified hospitals. So far, the speaker said, the military services have taken most of the supply, but gradually production is exceeding the present military demands, and unless the military demand increases sharply, "it won't be long before druggists can have it."

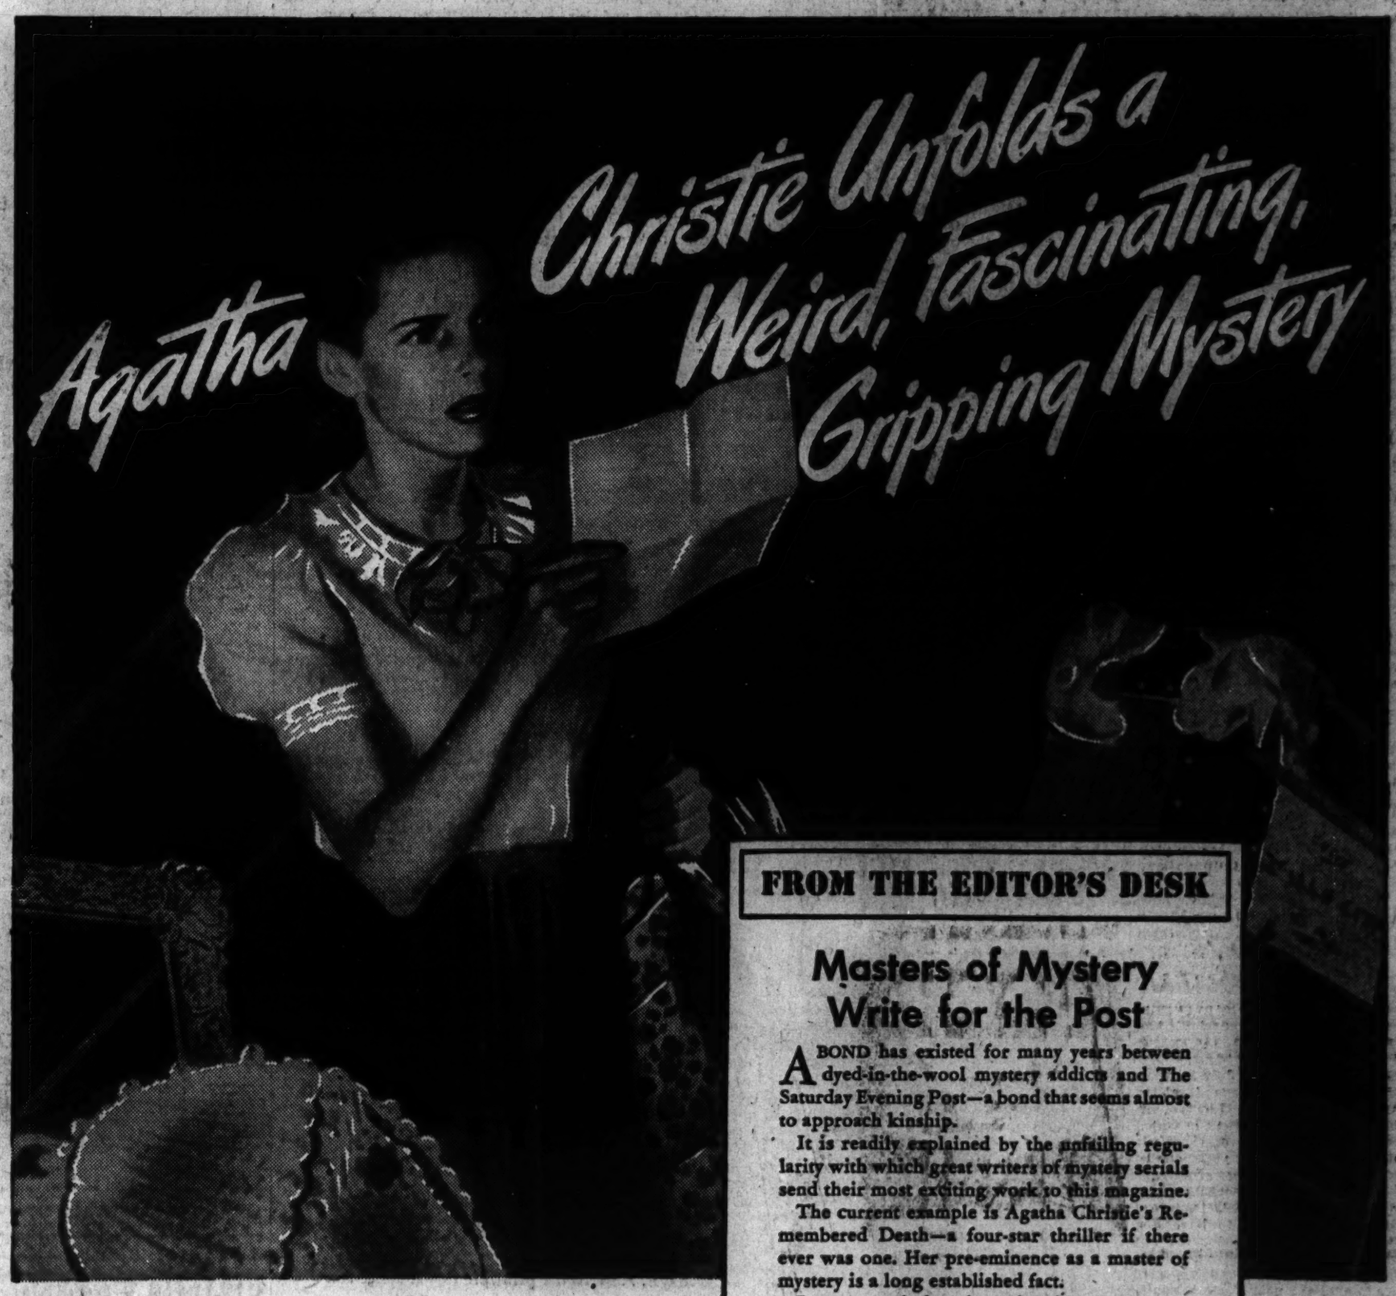
People are talking about the MYSTERY serials in the new Post



DEATH came to beautiful, wealthy Rosemary Barton. Death . . . in a strange, mysterious way. And Agatha Christie—master of mystery—has taken that death, and woven it in weird threads into one of the most fascinating serials to come from her pen. There's the gay birthday party that ended in tragedy . . . the question of why she had married nice, dull George Barton . . . the letter of passionate love to another man . . . the rising suspicion of murder. It's loaded with suspense . . . intrigue . . . burning romance. It's better than the best mystery story you've recently read.

Masters of Mystery Write for the Post

A BOND has existed for many years between dyed-in-the-wool mystery addicts and The Saturday Evening Post—a bond that seems almost to approach kinship.

It is readily explained by the unfailing regularity with which great writers of mystery serials send their most exciting work to this magazine.

The current example is Agatha Christie's Remembered Death—a four-star thriller if there ever was one. Her pre-eminence as a master of mystery is a long established fact.

Recent months have brought other, equally outstanding mystery masterpieces to Post millions. Plunder, by Clarence Budington Kelland; The Opening Door, by Helen Reilly; Odd Man Pays, by Darwin L. Teilhet; All for the Love of a Lady, by Leslie Ford.

To mystery fans—these are the names that make thrills and chills in extraordinary fashion. Their continuous contribution to the amusement of Post readers makes certain that in Mystery, as in War, Politics, Fiction, Humor, Business—the great things in writing naturally come first to the new Post.

SWANK ROBOT SHELTER GIVES MOST TO A FEW

Hyphens in His Name? Real Mattress, Please.

BY HOWARD WHITMAN.
[Correspondent of the New York News and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, July 11.—There are two types of people in London these days—people who say robot bombs don't bother them a bit, and the honest people. Among both types it's becoming increasingly fashionable to spend these summer nights in the nearest shelter.

The swank shelter in which I've been doing some of my sleeping lately is in a hotel basement and has nearly all the comforts of home except peace and quiet.

A Lounge Without Cocktails.

At one end is a large room with tables and chairs, much like a cocktail lounge. But there are no cocktails. The sleeping quarters are in a cavernous room with a high ceiling reënforced by steel piping. This section is divided into three parts by heavy curtains—for women, for men, and for married couples.

The run of the mine customers get triple decker bunks with mattresses so narrow that one false move and you're on the floor. Privileged customers, such as people with two of three hyphens in their names, often are assigned to regular mattresses which are spread out on the floor.

Insurance Rates Up.

The section for married couples has two double mattresses in it, but I've been unable to determine on what basis they are assigned.

I spent my first night in the shelter after a dozen robot bombs had zoomed over my room in the top floor of the hotel between midnight and 2 a. m.

Today I went down to Lloyds to discover what effect the robot bombs were having on war risk rates. The underwriters figure its is a good 200 to 1 shot against any individual being killed or hurt.

Before the coming of the robots an individual war risk policy, covering death or injury, was 37½ cents for $100 of coverage. Now the premium is 50 cents per $100.

There has been no change in property damage rates.

IOWAN STABS 2 NAZIS AND FLEES DURING ATTACK

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

U. S. 1ST ARMY HDQ. IN NORMANDY, July 11.—Early this morning, about four hours before H-hour for the St. Lo sector, the Germans threw in a counter-attack which penetrated our lines. While overrunning some of our positions the Germans captured 2d Lt. Robert L. Davis of Derby, Ia.

Davis was being marched back into the German lines later when our artillery opened up against the enemy. The Germans immediately ran for the nearest cover.

"It was my chance," Davis said later. "My two guards seemed more interested in cover than in me, so I pulled my knife and stabbed them. That's why I'm here now. I guess they're dead."

DETROIT CLERK WHO JUMPED OFF SHIP FOUND DEAD

The body of a man recovered yesterday from Lake Michigan near the Lincoln park service men's center at Fullerton av. was identified as that of Maurice McGrath, 45, Detroit [Mich.] court clerk, who leaped from the steamer City of Grand Rapids on Thursday after leaving a suicide note in his hotel room.

The body of a man, clad in a sailor's uniform, was found yesterday wedged in the sanitary district's intake at Pershing rd. and the lake. Papers on the body bore the name of Joseph J. Harbacek, 24, of 3057 Millard av. The homicide bureau was investigating because of a deep gash on the back of the head, which was not definitely identified as a rock cut.

A GAS RATIONS IN AREA DOUBLE B AND C TOTAL

More than twice as many motorists in the Chicago metropolitan area have A gasoline rations as have supplemental B and C rations together, Paul A. H. Shults, acting area OPA director, reported yesterday. The B and C rations are for occupational and essential driving.

Shults said that of the 1,137,563 ration books issued by ration boards for vehicles in Cook, Lake, Du Page, McHenry, and Kane counties, and Lake county, Ind., for March, April, and May, 169,222 were C and 218,330 were B.

ALLIED AIR ARMADAS RAID MUNICH, TOULON, FLYING BOMB SITES

LONDON, July 11 (AP).—Sky fleets totaling thousands of heavy bombers and fighters today pounded three vital German targets—the Munich area, Toulon on the Mediterranean, and flying bomb sites in northern France.

More than 1,100 American Fortresses and Liberators flew to southern Germany from British bases under escort of about 750 fighters. They dumped well over 3,000 tons of explosives on unannounced targets in the vicinity of Munich. Flak was heavy and 20 bombers and two fighters failed to return from the mission. Seven bombers landed in Switzerland.

The Mediterranean air force sent fighter escorted Liberators—a force of probably more than 500 planes—to attack harbor installations at Toulon. British based Lancasters, with a fighter escort making up a striking force of perhaps 500 planes, blasted the flying bomb sites in northern France. R. A. F. heavy bombers made a second attack during the day and another tonight.

U. S. WILL HELP BRITAIN IN PEACE, WRITES RAYBURN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 11.—Assurances to Britain that United States congressmen recognize the need for the closest American-British coöperation in the peace as well as in war were contained in a letter just received by the speaker of the house of commons from Sam Rayburn [D., Tex.], speaker of the house of representatives.

The letter was read in commons today. It is a reply to the invitation sent to the house of representatives for a delegation to visit parliament. Rayburn said the invitation would be given the friendliest consideration and continued:

"We must—and I am sure we will—work together in the fateful days ahead as in the past. The friendship and common interest between our peoples dictate this—and we in America wish you to know it is our every desire to work hand in hand with your great democracy for the peace and well-being of us all."

PRICE CONTROL BOARD FOR ROME SET UP BY AMG

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Italy, July 11.—Leading business men were named today to posts on a price control agency in another effort by the allied military government [AMG] to break the black market. The agency will publish lists setting the maximum prices for certain goods and services, and the business men were asked to assume the responsibility of seeing that all the merchants conformed.

Items covered in the lists will include clothing, liquor, such food as fish, meat, vegetables, tomatoes, and eggs, and essential services such as cleaning and laundry. Merchandise prices and service rates are to be posted prominently in the establishments.

Those violating the price controls will have their premises marked, "Off limits," or "Out of bounds" and will face trial in allied military courts.

CONSTIPATION GONE WRITES INVENTOR!

"4 years' use convinces me nothing helps like KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN"

This true incident may bring new hope to constipation sufferers. Read this unsolicited letter!

"Some of my friends were talking about a laxative ad in the Post. I cut in and insisted there's nothing like ALL-BRAN—and told them how it has helped keep me out of a condition I was in 4 years ago. Then they told me the ad they were discussing was an ALL-BRAN ad—they told me I should have a medal for spreading the good news about ALL-BRAN — which had helped these friends too." W. J. McLaughlin, 605 2nd No. St., Camden, N. J.

Scientists say KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN can really "get at" a common cause of constipation—lack of sufficient "cellulosic" elements in the diet—because it is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements. They work by helping the friendly colonic flora to fluff up and prepare the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative medicine — but a wholesome, gentle-acting, "regulating" food.

If you have constipation of this type, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN or several ALL-BRAN muffins regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you don't cheer its welcome relief. Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Do you feel headachy after eating?	☐	☐
Do you get sour or upset easily?	☐	☐
Do you feel tired—listless?	☐	☐

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again, your food must be digested properly!

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 10¢ and 25¢.

ADDRESS A B 508. TRIBUNE

TELL HOW JAPS' SAIPAN SUICIDE ATTACK FAILED

Enemy Charges Using Wooden Guns.

BY HAROLD SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAIPAN ISLAND, Marianas, July 9 [Delayed].—A vivid eyewitness story of the fatal Japanese suicide attack which penetrated the American line at Tanapag for 1,500 yards before being hurled back with more than 1,500 slain Thursday was told today by three American participants.

They were Lt. [j. g.] Charles J. Blank, Dayton, O.; Sgt. Frederick W. Stilz, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Corp. Joseph A. Ferrer, Syracuse, N. Y.

"Just before daybreak all hell broke loose," said Blank, displaying a bullet hole thru his left trousers pocket. "The Japs were so close we had no patrols out. It looked like two or three thousand were attacking. They simply overwhelmed us.

Cartridges Run Low.

"I kept backing up, firing my carbine till the ammunition was gone, then some one handed me more. Cartridges became very precious as our supplies ran low.

"About noon we organized on the beach and held the pocket until our ammunition was almost exhausted and then dashed 300 yards to contact the main force to the rear. As I ran, a Jap with an upraised grenade bobbed out of a hole just ahead. I made the luckiest shot of my life, shooting from the hip and drilling his forehead."

Corp. Ferrer, who was wounded slightly in the leg, said the Japs "simply came faster than we could shoot 'em. I saw Japs bayoneting our wounded and some Nips with sabers flashing, all yelling like demons. Within the perimeter we formed we made every shot count because ammo [ammunition] was precious. It was like a rifle range—we'd rise up from our foxhole, shoot a Jap, then duck.

"The Japs gave our pocket hell with mortar fire. We placed all the wounded near the beach with as much concealment as possible. The Japs overran some of our artillery positions but the troops to their rear, aided by a reserve battalion to the right, halted the enemy attack."

Carry Wooden Guns.

Sgt. Stilz, unwounded, said some of the Japs carried rifles from our wounded and were armed with a polyglot of weapons, some even carrying only bayonets lashed to poles.

The battle field was a scene of utter carnage, the dead of both sides intermingled. In numerous places the Jap dead lay literally in heaps, indication that our infantry fought fiercely to the end, succumbing finally to overwhelming numbers.

SMITH ON W-G-N

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

With a background of rumbling artillery fire Harold Smith, Chicago Tribune war correspondent, described the battle for Saipan in a recorded broadcast aired over W-G-N yesterday. Smith's account of the fighting, recorded at the Saipan Press club nine days after the start of the campaign, was flown back to the United States and made available to W-G-N by the United States marine corps.

"Boys from farms, cities, and villages of the midwest are doing a magnificent job as soldiers out here," said Smith. "They're civilians at heart—and they're homesick; they want to finish the job as soon as possible."

Smith, who reported the Makin invasion for THE TRIBUNE, said combat on Saipan is "all new and interesting, and very different from the atoll type of fighting."

"It has been smartly waged by our troops and efficiently officered. Our troops have outclassed the Japs in every department."

Smith said that the weather was an important factor. "There have been more heat prostration cases here than anywhere I have been," he said. "The sun is merciless."

YAP AIRDROME BOMBED; 5 JAP PLANES DOWNED

ALLIED HDQ., New Guinea, July 12 [Wednesday] (AP).—Southwest Pacific Liberators have blasted Yap airdrome in the Carolines again, this time with 30 tons of bombs. Some parked airplanes were destroyed. Five of 20 intercepting Zeros were destroyed in a half hour fight over the island, headquarters announced. The raid occurred on Monday.

Other southwest Pacific bombers damaged a 10,000 tone Japanese tanker off Halmahera Island, west of New Guinea, Monday. Also bombed were enemy installation at Sorong, on the tip of Dutch New Guinea, Palau, and Woleai in the Carolines, and Rabaul in New Britain.

FLEET CONTINUES TO SHELL GUAM; INVASION HINTED

Japs Report 90 Planes Bomb Island.

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, July 11 (AP).—Smashing new blows by American forces ripping up Japan's inner island defenses were reported today, with indications that fighter plane sweeps from newly conquered Saipan Island have added their weight to the attack.

The continued action against the islands led to speculation on the possibility of other landings in the Marianas.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific fleet commander in chief, reported warships to the south in the Marianas continued shelling of Guam, former American base, Sunday. Bombardment of Guam has been under way for nearly a week and could mean that invasion there is planned.

Japs Report New Blows.

A powerful American fleet struck at Guam, Rota, and Tinian Islands, said the broadcast. This report followed an announcement by Adm. Nimitz that a United States carrier task force shelled Guam on Saturday and carrier planes bombed Guam and Rota on Saturday.

The report said 90 planes attacked Guam and that cruisers and destroyers shelled Japanese positions on Guam while other aircraft were bombing Tinian and Rota.

Berlin Foresees Battle.

The Berlin radio said the United States "possesses considerable supremacy in aircraft carriers in the Marianas. The United States has prepared itself for a decisive battle. It will not shun this battle wherever opportunity offers."

Guam and Rota are less than 150 miles south of Saipan. Light cruisers and destroyers shelled Guam Saturday for the second time since Japan took the American island Dec. 11, 1941. Guam first was shelled June 15, while the Saipan landings were in progress.

A navy bulletin today said "shore based fighters" attacked Pagan Island in the Marianas last Friday. Anti-aircraft fire was intense but there was no interception.

Isley Field in Use.

Pagan is about 200 miles north of Saipan. Saipan's major air field, Aslito, but renamed Isley, was captured at the outset of the Saipan invasion. It is within easy fighter range of Pagan.

Today's mention of the shore based sweeps indicated that Isley field is in operation. Earlier, the Tokyo radio broadcast a Domei news agency dispatch saying "several large planes and more than 50 small planes" were observed using the field.

Futile attacks by small enemy units were reported Sunday on Saipan, where American ground forces are mopping up. Adm. Nimitz said the enemy remnants were killed or driven into hiding, to be hunted down later. Many enemy survivors had been routed from hulks of ships off shore. They, too, were killed or captured.

In the North Pacific, Ventura search planes bombed Paramushiro and Shumushu in the Kuriles chain. Several fires were started. Truk and the Marshalls also were attacked again.

Developments in China war.

CHINESE RETAKE TOWN 45 MILES FROM HENGYANG

Stall Jap Drive on Rail Junction.

CHUNGKING, China, July 11 (AP).—Chinese troops have recaptured Yungfeng, 45 miles northwest of the Hunan province rail junction city of Hengyang, and withstanding Japanese pressure in the outskirts of Hengyang itself, the Chinese high command announced tonight.

Severe fighting raged northwest of Liling, where reenforced Japanese troops launched a counter-attack, the Chinese bulletin said. Liling is 80 miles northeast of Hengyang.

Bomb Two Jap Bases.

Flying in support of Chinese troops which have stalled the Japanese drive along the Canton-Hankow railway, Warhawks of the United States 14th air force destroyed 50 enemy supply boats and two pontoon bridges southeast of Hengyang, Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell announced. They also damaged an air strip in Hengyang.

Other United States planes bombed the Japanese bases of Sinyang and Yochow. Yochow is the chief base for the current Japanese drive in Hunan province, while Sinyang nourishes the enemy offensive moves in southern Honan province.

Fight Near Canton.

In Kwangtung province south of the Hunan battle area, fighting continued above enemy-held Tsingyun, 40 miles northwest of Canton, the Chinese bulletin said. No mention was made of the new Chinese offensive launched to the north in Hupeh province.

Chinese troops driving toward Burma in Yunnan province were declared to have completed preparations for a full scale assault on three main objectives—Tengchung, Lungling, and Mangshim. The primary purpose of such an assault would be to sweep the Japanese from positions commanding the Burma road west of the Salween river.

URBAN LEAGUE TO ADD OFFICE.

The Chicago Urban league will open an additional office Aug. 1 at 203 N. Wabash av., Earl B. Dickerson, president, and Rabbi Louis Binstock, chairman of the executive committee, said yesterday.

JAPS IN RETREAT TO BURMA AFTER DEFEAT IN INDIA

SOUTHEAST ASIA HDQ., Kandy, Ceylon, July 11 (AP).—Japanese apparently were in flight today from Ikhrul toward the Chindwin river in Burma, following the final dispersal of enemy forces threatening Kohima and the Imphal plain in northeast India.

Another enemy force containing elements of two Ukhrul divisions was withdrawing to the south, probably in an attempt to salvage heavier equipment to reenforce groupings in the Bishenpur, Palel, and Tamu arc, which contains the only unbeaten Japanese force in Manipur state.

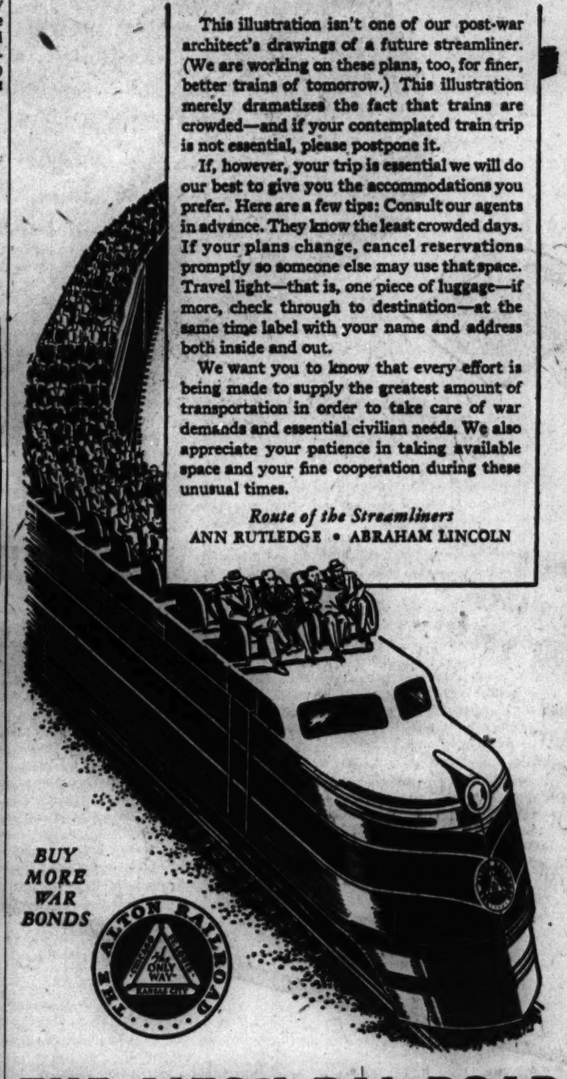
Chinese Forces Join.

CHUNGKING, China, July 12 [Wednesday] — (AP). — Organized enemy resistance has been cleared from the Kamaing-Mogaung road in Burma, the Chinese high command announced today. One column moving down the road from Kamaing and another moving up from Mogaung made contact seven miles from the latter city, the Chinese announced.

British Ration of Bacon Goes Up to 6 Oz. a Week

LONDON, July 11.—Food Minister J. J. Llewellin announced today that Britain's bacon ration will be increased from 4 to 6 ounces a week for the eight week period beginning July 23.

We Can't Put Seats On the Roof



This illustration isn't one of our post-war architect's drawings of a future streamliner. (We are working on these plans, too, for finer, better trains of tomorrow.) This illustration merely dramatizes the fact that trains are crowded—and if your contemplated train trip is not essential, please postpone it.

If, however, your trip is essential we will do our best to give you the accommodations you prefer. Here are a few tips: Consult our agents in advance. They know the least crowded days. If your plans change, cancel reservations promptly so someone else may use that space. Travel light—that is, one piece of luggage—if more, check through to destination—at the same time label with your name and address both inside and out.

We want you to know that every effort is being made to supply the greatest amount of transportation in order to take care of war demands and essential civilian needs. We also appreciate your patience in taking available space and your fine cooperation during these unusual times.

THE MAN TO DESTROY THE REPUBLIC.

Mr. Roosevelt pretended not to be a candidate for the third term until he had the nomination. It was a silly performance which this time has not been repeated in precise detail, but in all essential respects the 1944 procedure follows the pattern of 1940, with only the difference that the announcement has come a week earlier.

There is the usual fraudulent talk about his inability to decline the command of the sovereign people, the artful pretense that he is another Washington craving the peace of his Mount Vernon, and the hokum that he is not going to run in the usual political meaning of the word. The obvious truth is that Mr. Roosevelt cannot bear to think of his good friends, Churchill and Stalin, in the limelight, moving the nations about as pawns on a chessboard. Mr. Roosevelt is a man of insatiable ambition and vanity. He wants reelection as President because he cannot tolerate the thought of any other occupant in the White House. He really regards himself as the irreplaceable man and it is for these reasons and no others that he is seeking the fourth term and, if he gets it, may be expected to seek the fifth.

His ambition, if gratified, will destroy the Republic. Unlimited tenure alone would be enough, as the experience of other republics has shown. As Thomas Jefferson wrote:

"Reason and experience prove to us that a chief magistrate, so continuable, is an office for life. When one or two generations shall have proved that this is an office for life, it becomes, on every occasion, worthy of intrigue, of bribery, of force, and even of foreign interference. . . . Once in office and possessing the military force of the Union, without the aid or check of a council, he would not be easily dethroned even if the people could be induced to withdraw their votes from him. . . ."

The danger that Jefferson foresaw was not realized until the two term tradition was broken four years ago. Today Mr. Roosevelt possesses the military force of the Union and he used it at the Montgomery Ward plant in Chicago to serve his ends. In Hawaii he has sought to supplant the civil courts and his department of justice for this purpose is working to deprive the citizens of their Constitutional right to the habeas corpus process as a check upon military tyranny.

Mr. Roosevelt's determination to degrade congress into a mere registry of his will and to reduce the courts to impotence provides another index to the consequences of reelection. His will to rule as a dictator remains what it always was. He has been checked from time to time. In the fourth term, if he gets it, he will return to the charge.

The fourth term candidate is the fomenter of class strife. He is the degrader of the electoral process. Every election he has won has been won on false promises to the people whose faith in their republican institutions has been by so much weakened. He is the advocate of unlimited debt and of destructive taxation that, however burdensome it becomes, never is sufficient to bring the budget into balance. He is therefore leading the country to the day when it must choose between repudiation and inflation. No matter which choice is made, the destruction of the savings of the people must follow and from it, in turn, an appalling political and social instability.

In such circumstances, even a President determined to preserve the Republic might not succeed. Mr. Roosevelt has no such purpose. If he had, he would not have filled government offices with Communists nor would he have sought or accepted their support as he is now doing. To cap it all, Mr. Roosevelt has imposed on this nation a foreign policy of subservience to foreign nations that of itself promises the end of our independence and therefore of our Republic.

The America which is winning the war is the unified, independent, self-reliant nation that we owe to our free system of government. The America that Mr. Roosevelt will create if his ambition is gratified is a military dictatorship.

SIENA.

One of the war correspondents writing from Italy the other day referred to Siena as a "communications center of some importance." That was all. Siena was a place where some roads came together.

He can't be blamed too severely. For the purpose of driving the Germans northward that is all Siena is: a place thru which they can be chased along a number of roads. He couldn't stop to say that in Siena the human spirit once flowered as it has seldom flowered before or since and that its monuments and its buildings are among the richest treasures which mankind possesses.

Happily the war passed thru and beyond Siena without damaging it. May Florence, Siena's great rival in a great era, be equally fortunate. The world has need of them both.

THE STRIPPER WELL SUBSIDY.

Mr. Vinson, the director of economic stabilization, has approved an increase of 25 to 35 cents a barrel for crude oil produced in so-called stripper wells, pumping only a few barrels a day. Almost 75 per cent of American oil wells are in the stripper class, but they produce only 12 to 15 per cent of the nation's crude oil.

Oil industry spokesmen have told the New Dealers all along that America could produce much more crude oil than it does. They recommended a price increase of 35 to 50 cents a barrel for all crude oil as a production incentive, and there is no reason to think it wouldn't have worked. In one sense, Mr. Vinson's new order is a victory for them, but, as is customary when New Dealers decide anything, the taxpayer is the loser. The price increase for stripper oil will not be passed on to the consumers, but paid for by a government subsidy amounting to about 50 million dollars a year.

How much additional crude oil will result from this price increase has not been estimated, but at best it will be a percentage of a small percentage of the total. If Mr. Vinson had granted a price increase for the whole industry, and allowed consumers to pay it at a penny or so additional for each gallon of gasoline, the amount of gasoline produced obviously would have been greater. He refused to take this step last October, however, declaring that it would have broken Mr. Roosevelt's "hold the line" order against inflation.

Somebody, certainly, is going to pay for the price rise Mr. Vinson has ordered for the benefit of the distressed operators of small wells, and that somebody is not the consumer who burns gasoline but the entire body of taxpayers in the country, walking and driving. Everybody pays, yet nobody is assured any more gasoline.

SUBURBAN SCHOOLS.

It is often said, and it may well be true, that the public schools in many of the suburbs around Chicago are better educational institutions than the schools within the city. In the nature of things, the proposition is difficult to prove if only because there is a wide variation in quality within the Chicago system. Some of the schools in Chicago will compare favorably with all but the best the suburbs can show. Certainly the comparison of a school in an upper middle class suburb with another in a blighted area in Chicago cannot have much meaning unless the most careful and judicious account is taken, not only of costs per pupil, physical plant, teaching personnel, and educational methods and results but also of such matters as the home environments of the children themselves.

These lines are written not with a view to excusing the many and serious deficiencies in the Chicago schools but rather as a warning against too much self-satisfaction in the suburbs. For the most part they grossly underpay their teachers in the grades and the provisions for teachers' pensions can be described only as shameful. How much better the suburban schools might be if they paid their teachers as well as Chicago does is a question worth considering.

There is another aspect of public education in the suburbs that also has been too long neglected. There, as in the city, the high schools are by long odds too large. Schools containing several thousand children are the rule and it is a bad rule. Sound educational practice would break these huge units into two or three smaller ones, serving 800 to 1,000 pupils each. An added cost of operation would have to be accepted, but some of the increase could be balanced by eliminating such extravagances as swimming pools and stadiums.

By and large, the grade schools in the suburbs are handicapped by a shortage of funds. It must be said for the great majority of the school trustees that they are unhappy about the low salaries they find themselves obliged to pay. In the residential suburbs there is little or no industrial property against which to levy and the revenue is further restricted by state laws limiting the tax rates for primary education. In contrast, the suburban high school districts are, for the most part, well heeled. Their relative affluence offers an opportunity for leadership in secondary schooling, but little advantage is being taken of the favorable situation.

The typical overgrown high school is an educational monstrosity. It is remarkable that the intelligence of the suburban communities has not corrected the abuse. It is even more remarkable that, with the fewest exceptions, the suburbs have not even recognized the existence of the problem.

A SIMPLE REMEDY.

Paul Gerhardt Jr., city building commissioner, says that racketeering contractors have been violating the fire laws and defrauding property owners in remodeling of attics to furnish apartments for war workers.

The city building code requires that any apartment above the street floor have two stairways. It is a proper precaution, born of experience in fires that trapped people in single entry apartments, but many home owners who want to remodel their attics are not aware of the provision. The contractor shows them plans for a one-stairway apartment, but files plans for a legal two-stairway apartment with the building department when he gets his permit to do the work. When the city building inspector discovers that the finished apartment violates the building code the contractor tells the building owner that he did the work contracted for and is not interested in the city's complaint.

Mr. Gerhardt is undertaking an educational campaign to warn home owners against the racket and threatens court action against contractors who use such tactics. This seems the long way of going about a matter that has a simple solution. The Chicago building code must provide penalties against contractors who fail to follow the plans they file in getting a building permit. If it hasn't, it's even worse than most people think it is. All Mr. Gerhardt has to do is to send some of these contractors to jail for their fraudulent misrepresentations in getting building permits.

TOWNS ON THE MAIN LINE.

You may have observed that three French cities on the main line between Cherbourg and Paris have names that end with the same syllable: -eux. They are Bayeux, Lisieux, and Evreux. There must be a common meaning here, just as in the English and American town names that end in "-ham." Well, come into the seminar on Old French, and we will try to tell you.

• • •

The -eux in these French place names corresponds to and is a linguistic cousin of the familiar English suffix for adjectives: "-ous." The meaning is the same: Full of, abounding in, having, possessing the qualities of, like. For example, a human nose may be described as bulbous when it has the qualities of a bulb, or seems to be full of bulbs. Both of these suffixes come from a Latin adjective ending: -osus. Don't ask why -osus turned into -eux in one language and "-ous" in another. Such mysteries are reserved for graduate students.

• • •

When Julius Caesar was collecting material for his high school text book, "The Gallic Wars," the site of the city of Evreux was the capital of a Gallic tribe named the Eburovices. The contraction of such a long name was inevitable, and when you hitch its first two syllables to -eux, you get Ebureux, which is easily whittled down to Evreux, a place that used to be full of Eburs.

• • •

Lisieux seems to have followed the same process. It was the capital of a Gallic tribe named the Lexovii. This name is corruptible into Lisieux, when you consider the queer way in which Popular Latin fell apart and became modern French. Lisieux, therefore, means a town that used to be full of Lexes.

• • •

We cannot find the name of a Gallic tribe to be juggled into Bayeux. The first syllable of the name is, no doubt, the same as the English word "bay," and in French it has almost as many meanings. Perhaps it refers to the lay of the land thereabouts, for there are inland bays as well as marine bays. Anyway, Bayeux used to be mighty like a bay.

DOODLEBUG FURLOUGH.

[By V-mail from London.]

I had just arrived from the land of France
Back to town for a week's romance

I had written ahead to reserve a dame
With a bosom of snow and a heart of flame,

But no one had told me about doodlebugs.
There is no rhyme for doodlebugs, even if you call them pilotless aircraft. I will, nevertheless, sing doodlebugs. I will also sing the 20 guinea flat I rented, and spent day and night in an air raid shelter. No souls are lost in an air raid shelter, even if the lady is willing. The British fed their children all over my slacks; their dogs littered on my overcoat.

A man of my age should have had more sense,
The dame took off with my shillings and pence,

I wouldn't chase her. I wouldn't go out there with that ol' doodlebug. He just says "kerboom"—and he disintegrates, so does everything that hears him. Lucky I wasn't in the 20 guinea flat. It was there when I looked last, but it ain't there now, brother!

So as soon as it's dark I will mount my jeep,
And back to France to get some sleep,

I am going to find the kraut that invented doodle bugs.

How to Break a Cat's Heart.

"Sabotage," cried Ferdinand, my silver tabby cat, rushing to meet me at the door. "It's gone. They've stolen it."

"Not my beautiful steak," I said, horrified.

"Always thinking of your stomach," he accused. "I was referring to my catnip bush. I wake up this morning feeling low and go out to grab a slug. What do I find?"

"Grandfather," I diagnosed.

"In a pig's eye. I find a hole in the ground."

"I mean, grandfather was up early this morning, weeding the flower beds. And to him catnip is a filthy weed."

"And he thinks the same of me," mourned Ferdinand. "I jumped into his lap just to be hospitable, you know, and he roared, 'Git out to the barn where you belong.' By the way, what's a barn?"

"It's where they used to keep the surrey with the fringe on top. And please don't worry about your catnip bush. The kid will dig up another one out in the alley and transplant it for you."

"And we'll put up a sign by this one," chuckled Ferdinand, "that will read: 'Hands off the grass. This means you, Fred'."

RABIES RARE BUT NOT EXTINCT.

THE world owes much to the genius of Pasteur who founded the science of bacteriology and did more than any one of his day to point the way to the conquest of disease.

It was in the early '80s of the last century that a harassed mother accompanied her young son, Joseph Meister, from Alsace to Paris. The lad had been bitten by a "mad" dog and his parents had heard that in Paris they would find a man who had a remedy for hydrophobia. Joseph was vaccinated and failed to develop the dread malady.

But this epochmaking discovery did not come overnight. Pasteur began studying the problem in 1881. Three years later, he had detected the virus in the brain of rabid wolves. He prepared an antidote, with which he injected certain animals. All of his pets were then exposed to the infection and none of the vaccinated group contracted it. Those to whom the neutralizing substance was not given succumbed. Pasteur's reasoning proved sound—he was not introducing virulent organisms but an agent which would save human lives.

At that time the disorder was far more common than it is today altho every now and then some section of our country will report the loss of live stock because of the attacks of diseased beasts.

We can caution our children not to fondle strays and the household pup can be kept at home and thus guarded against contamination should the ailment be rife in the community. The infecting germ is in the saliva of the sick animal and can be transmitted thru contact with broken skin, such as an abrasion. An actual nip is not always necessary. The reason we take these precautions is because the affliction is too terrible for description. Once it has developed it is too late to use the vaccine.

This means that every laceration should be given proper care. The family doctor can cleanse and cauterize the wound. If the biter can be identified it should be penned up and watched for signs of illness. If it is lively and normal at the end of two weeks, there is nothing to fear. It does not have rabies.

Veterinarians describe two types of the disease—"furious" and "dumb." In the first, the owner will note that Rover has changed in disposition. Then he becomes more restless, rushing to attack everything in his way. There is a tendency to run long distances, snapping at everything en route. The "dumb" or quiet form never shows excitement and the animal crawls off by himself, refuses to come out from under the porch for food or water. Death finally occurs.

If the caged hound displays either variety, the Pasteur "shots" may be begun. We must make certain that the one who is to undergo treatment has been exposed. In other words, the antirabic substance should not be administered unless it is needed. But, despite the inconvenience, even the danger involved, if the dog is known to be afflicted, we dare not take a chance.

There may be some value in protecting the household canine. But authorities differ concerning the value of such inoculations. Cases have been reported wherein the supposed safeguarding doses have proved wholly ineffective.

FAIRY TALE.

Mrs. C. writes: I am going to have my child's tonsils and adenoids out but some one told me that if I had it done at this time of the year hay fever would develop later. Is this true?

REPLY.

There isn't the slightest ground for the belief that any type of throat operation will render an individual more susceptible to hay fever. There is only one reason for removal of tonsils and adenoids—infection, followed by swelling which causes some interference with breathing.

TYPHOID.

O. H. D. writes: Can a typhoid carrier be cured?

REPLY.

Yes, with proper management. Typhoid germs may take up a permanent residence in the gall bladder. Occasionally it will be necessary to remove this pouch surgically or apply some other method which will rid it of infection.

D. O. writes: Can malnutrition cause a rapid pulse?

Yes. A starved heart muscle may be more irritable.

Federal Arithmetic.

All you meanies who go around picking flaws in the current administration of federal affairs are just a bunch of nasty, picayunish idlers. You are brittle, undiscerning brutes who never see beauty because you never look for beauty, and what you need is a new slant on Washington. You should approach it with a long forgotten charity, forbearance, and understanding. Once you have these fine attributes choked into your tiny brain, you will realize how helpful the bureaucrats are and how often and how tenderly they think only of you.

Proof of this lies in a recent mimeographed bulletin of the United States department of agriculture. This little bulletin is two weeks or so old now, but it has not lost its tender thoughtfulness.

"To the editor: Beginning this week, editors of women's pages and of women's magazines will receive two copies of home and food notes. We must put the notes on both sides of each sheet to stay within paper conservation orders. Many of you have written that this means the extra work of copying, when you want to use something from both sides of any pages, so we have obtained permission to send two copies to each of you, which should be a solution."

And so paper conservation passes another milestone.

Event in the Night.

Word has drifted this way of a Chicagoan who tiptoed home one night sadly in his cups. In one hand he carried a bottle of liquor, in the other his shoes. He was extremely leary of awakening his wife and took his burdens to the bathroom. When he started to drop the shoes on the tile floor he dropped the bottle instead. Then, quite inadvertently, he dropped himself. The result was a neat crisscross of cuts across his back. His first thought was to pick up the broken bottle and dispose of it. His next was to patch up his back. He did both dexterously, he thought, and crept stealthily into bed. The next morning his wife, up and about long before his first stir, noticed with horror a trail of drops of blood leading from the bathroom to her husband's bed. Frightened, she awakened him. "S'nothing," he mumbled. "Just a few little cuts on my back. I fixed them up with adhesive tape." The wife was not satisfied. She insisted on inspecting his back. "You were drinking!" she stated baldly. "No, dear," he assured her. "I just broke a bottle of tonic on the floor." "You weren't drinking?" she demanded incredulously. Sleepily he reaffirmed his stand: He had not been drinking. "Then why," she asked severely, "are strips of adhesive dotted all over the bathroom mirror when there are none on your back?"

Campaign License.

Just by one act, that of accepting the Republican nomination for the Presidency, Mr. Dewey landed his mustache where no mustache should be: In the public domain. Mr. Dewey's mustache now belongs to the public, and, judging from the controversies raging in the press, the public can't make up its mind whether it likes or dislikes it. No one yet has asked Mr. Dewey if he likes it, altho he surely must, for he has worn it since he was 19, but terrifying earnest analyses of it are being made and no doubt it will end up as the gravest issue in the Gallup poll. One would think the tide of election turned on it. One lady writer in the east suggested, almost tearfully, that Mr. Dewey go straight to the barber and have it shaved. She said she was certain that underneath it lay a noble upper lip. A male confederate replied tartly that no Presidential candidate yet has changed his face between his nomination and election day. Our only suggestion, purely of the who-cares-anyway variety, is that all who are interested in the results of mustache shaving study the comic strip, "Moon Mullins." Willie chopped off his mustache a few weeks ago, and, altho there seemed nothing sinister in it at the time, Willie not only looks frightful but is in severe trouble.

EMERGENCY VICE PRESIDENTS.

Hutchinson, Kas., July 5.—Creating emergencies has been the cornerstone of the New Deal strategy in the past. Here are a few ideas that might be worked out at the Chicago convention. President Roosevelt will be a fourth term candidate, but to prevent any hard feelings over the selection of a candidate for Vice President I suggest that they create an "emergency" calling for nomination of four candidates for Vice President instead of one, and then after election put each one of them in charge of something at the taxpayers' expense.

Such an emergency would have these advantages: Henry Wallace could hold the New Dealers, Dorothy Thompson would catch the international vote, and Sidney Hillman and Earl Browder would please the Communists. The wise, but very modest Dorothy, who has the inside dope all over the world, could undoubtedly tell the President in advance what Churchill and Stalin will be thinking about six months from now.

I do not know about the Constitution, but then a little thing like the American Constitution should not be permitted to stand in the way of political reforms. The nomination of such a combination of wisdom and vote getting for candidates for the Vice Presidency should insure a fourth term.

FRED F. KOPKE.

STRANGE COMPANY.

Evanston, Ill., July 5.—Mayor Kelly is quoted as making the statement, at a meeting last week at the Morrison hotel, that "God is on the Democratic side this year—you should be proud to be Democrats." If the mayor has the real "lowdown" this certainly leaves little hope for the Republicans. If the Almighty has now teamed up with Earl Browder, Sidney Hillman, and the CIO, there is no real need—except for a demonstration on the part of the jobholders in the so-called Democratic party—for any convention at all, Mr. Browder having already nominated the President. We will all hope, however, that the plans for the convention will be carried out; if it is as funny as it was four years ago it will be well worth while as a source of entertainment. Besides, His Honor might be mistaken; Kaiser Wilhelm had the same hunch in the last war and it turned out that he was just bragging.

DAVID M. PHILLIPS.

GRUESOME PROSPECT.

Forest Park, Ill., July 5.—Re: Your editorial, "Who Nominates the Democrats?"

If you have a copy of the speech Mayor Kelly read to the ward heelers in convention assembled last Monday evening, you will see in it his statement that he would like to nominate Scott Lucas for Vice President, as he is well qualified, etc. But, of course he would not want to do anything along that line, without first getting the O. K. from the commander in chief.

So the Democratic convention of July 19 will not be a "free convention" and they will, no doubt, nominate Wallace—and like it.

HOW TO GET 100 PER CENT BOND SALES.

Chicago, July 6.—I was glad to see a letter from a Mr. Johnson regarding the lack of bond wardens canvassing their blocks and districts in Chicago and suburbs to obtain pledges on the fifth war loan drive. I am a bond warden and we have canvassed our block and received practically a 100 per cent response in pledges.

The tragedy of this fifth war loan drive in Chicago and Cook county is that approximately half or more of the blocks in Chicago and suburbs have not been canvassed at all, and that is why bond pledges and sales on the individual quota goal have barely reached the 50 per cent mark.

Every block captain and bond warden I have spoken to, and there were many of them, reported that where they canvassed their blocks they have met with practically a 100 per cent response and, in every instance reached their goals or better. I do not think it is too late for those in charge of the bond campaign to have a check made of all uncanvassed blocks in Chicago and Cook county and see that bond wardens are assigned.

RICHARD C. HUNTER.

THE VANISHING OCD.

Chicago, July 6.—Mr. S. R. Johnson asks, "Where are all these bond wardens I have heard about?"

When the danger of air raids passed the members of the OCD dropped out like flies leaving the different communities in some cases with a personnel of less than 50 per cent.

There are many patriotic tasks yet to be done, such as war loan drives, victory gardens, salvage drives, blood bank drives, and many others.

With a personnel reduced to such proportions it is very difficult to reach every person, even after giving the long hours that we do.

Instead of just sitting there waiting for your war bond warden to call, why don't you call at the community office in your community and offer your services?

ASSERT ILLINOIS LAWS AID BLACK MART IN BABIES

Charity Official Urges New Legislation.

Illinois has become a state for hasty adoption of orphaned children by couples who cannot qualify as satisfactory parents under the laws of their own state, Joel D. Hunter, superintendent of the United Charities, declared yesterday.

Nearly 75 per cent of the adoption cases in this state, he said, are authorized without adequate investigation of the child's parents or of the adopting family. As a result many of the children are placed with undesirable foster parents or the adopters get a baby unsuited to them by race, religion, or temperament, or one who develops mental or physical deficiencies, Hunter said.

Long Waiting Lists.

"All the licensed agencies have long waiting lists, with an average of 20 good homes for every child available," he asserted. "Undesirable people do not go to licensed agencies, but obtain their children thru well meaning citizens and others who supply babies for a fee.

"This type of 'black market' in babies cannot be wiped out unless we change Illinois' adoption laws. Only thru sweeping changes in the law can we protect both the child and the adopting parents."

Hunter listed four points as essential safeguards which are now lacking in the law: [1] A social investigation of the adopting home and the child; [2] a six month residence period in the adopting home before signing the final decree; [3] the consent for adoption to be signed in the presence of a representative of a licensed agency, and [4] confidential adoption records.

Kolodziej Case Cited.

"If such requirements were incorporated into the Illinois law," Hunter said, "a case such as that of Miss Angeline Kolodziej might have been avoided."

Miss Kolodziej, 19, of 1453 Huron st., an unwed mother, filed suit Monday in County court seeking to set aside a decree by which a Detroit [Mich.] couple adopted her baby boy. In her suit she asserted that she was in a dazed and weakened condition when she signed the papers consenting to the adoption of the child, born June 15 in the People's hospital, 255 W. Cermak rd. She said her physician, Dr. Samuel G. Seinfeld, 561 Diversey pkwy., urged her to offer the baby for adoption.

Dr. Dante Cortesi, 758 N. Ogden av., owner of the People's hospital, disclaimed all knowledge of Miss Kolodziej's case, declaring he made no attempt to keep records on the outcome of illegitimate pregnancy cases or the disposition of the newborn babies.

Can Give Up Child.

"Under Illinois law a doctor can give a child up for adoption to any one he wishes," Dr. Cortesi said. "It is none of my business what Dr. Seinfeld or any other doctor does with the children born in my hospital and placed for adoption.

"If I had a friend who wanted to adopt a child and I knew of one I probably would give it to him. There's no law against it."

Dr. Cortesi said he would not know if any of his staff were taking money for babies placed for adoption. "That's their business. I'm only interested in getting the hospital expenses from patients," he said.

The Peoples hospital, he said, often takes in unwed mothers in the later months of their pregnancy and gives them jobs so they can "hide" from their family and friends.

WATERMELONS, RASPBERRIES TO FACE OPA CURB

Ceiling prices will be imposed upon watermelons and raspberries at retail for the first time in the Chicago metropolitan area beginning tomorrow, Paul A. H. Shults, acting area OPA director, said yesterday. The ceilings were adopted because many Chicago housewives complained about the high prices of the fruit, he said.

In the week beginning tomorrow, watermelons will sell at not more than 5½ cents a pound. Red raspberries will sell for 33 cents a pound and the black variety for 31 cents.

The only change in the community price list for the coming week is an increase of 1 cent in the various types of cabbages, which will retail at two pounds for 10 cents.

Submarine Lost in the Pacific

OLD SUB SINKS; CHICAGO SKIPPER AND 60 MEN DIE

It Goes Down During Training Cruise.

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—The submarine S-28, 20 year old veteran of the underseas fleet, has been lost during training exercises with all of her personnel of about 60 officers and men.

Lt. Comdr. J. G. Campbell.

The navy said today she went down from an accidental cause in water so deep that salvage will be impossible. "Hope has been abandoned for the recovery of the missing personnel," the announcement added.

Investigation Under Way.

An investigation is being made, the navy said, to determine the exact cause of the sinking, somewhere in the Pacific.

The S-28, 25th submarine lost since the war started and 162d United States war vessel lost in the same period, was commanded by Lt. Comdr. Jack Gordon Campbell, 29, native of Chicago. His wife, Mrs. Jean Brooks Campbell, formerly of Chicago, now lives in Groton, Conn.

Campbell entered the navy as an ensign in May, 1937. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Campbell, live at 2526 Grant st., Evanston, Ill.

NORTHWESTERN GRADUATE.

Lt. Comdr. Campbell was graduated from Northwestern university in 1936 and later was employed by the U. S. Gypsum company and the Public Service company of Northern Illinois. He held a commission in the naval reserve and was graduated from the submarine school at New London, Conn., in 1940, and later from the deep sea diving school in Washington, D. C.

In November, 1943, he was assigned to duty with the Pacific fleet and was awarded the silver combat medal when his submarine sank a Japanese troopship and a destroyer and damaged another destroyer near Truk. His father is vice president of the Chicago Mortgage and Investment company at 1 N. La Salle st.

Parents of two Aurora men, John Salerno, 19, electrician's mate, and Kenneth Wurtz, 19, fireman, who were members of the crew of the S-28 when last word was received from them, said yesterday that they had been notified by the navy department that their sons were missing in action. Salerno's home is at 830 Bowditch av., and Wurtz's, 601 Mitchell rd.

CADET CHOOSES COURT MARTIAL ON RAPE CHARGE

Cadet Joseph Daniel Harrington, 20, of Revere, Mass., attached to the Glenview naval air station, chose to face court martial when arraigned in Boys court yesterday on charges of rape and attempted rape. He was released on his own bond by Judge Mason S. Sullivan, who continued the hearing to Sept. 19.

A dice girl, 22 years old, employed in a tavern at 1614 Howard st., who was with Harrington when he was arrested early Monday by park police on the Montrose beach, accused him of attempted rape. A 19 year old girl clerk charged him with raping her at the same beach earlier that morning.

POLICEMAN GETS SUSPENSION FOR ALLEGED THREAT

Police Commissioner Allman yesterday suspended Patrolman William Hardy of the Shakespeare avenue station, acting on a report submitted to him by Acting Capt. John T. O'Malley.

Capt. O'Malley said that Hardy, a co-owner with John Motley, 3043 N. Hamilton av., of a basketball concession at Riverview park, offered to sell his half of the enterprise to Motley for $100, and that Monday night, after Motley refused, he first threatened over the phone to shoot Motley, and later appeared at Motley's home and attempted to break in.

Motley called police, but Hardy was gone when police arrived. Capt. O'Malley left word for Hardy to report to him in his office Monday morning, but Hardy failed to appear. Capt. O'Malley then submitted his report to Allman.

NURSE POISONER ASKS DEATH FOR KILLING FRIEND

Young Mother Tells of Lethal Dose.

Springfield, Ill., July 11 [Special].—Pleading for death for herself, Mrs. Roberta [Bertie] Steiger, 25, mother of a 4 year old daughter, was held in the county jail tonight on a charge of murder in the sandwich poison death of another young woman with whom she had lived for a year.

Her "best friend," Miss Helen Hovey, 24, a registered nurse, died last Saturday after eating a peanut butter sandwich in which Mrs. Steiger said she had spread rat poison.

State's Atty. A. H. Greening quoted Mrs. Steiger, estranged wife of a soldier, as saying she poisoned her companion because increasing quarrels had convinced her their friendship was ending. Tonight Mrs. Steiger said in her cell that she wanted "to follow Helen."

Held to Accident Story.

Authorities had questioned Mrs. Steiger repeatedly after a chemical analysis showed a quantity of poison in Miss Hovey's organs, but the survivor insisted her companion had accidentally taken the poison, a contention to which the nurse also had held to the last.

Another woman finally got the story from her. After male investigators had been unsuccessful, Deputy Coroner Katherine Rutherford took Mrs. Steiger to dinner and gained her confidence.

Mrs. Steiger, who is a nurse's aid, said she and Miss Hovey had been living together for about a year. Recently, however, they had quarreled violently over Mrs. Steiger's correspondence with a soldier and Miss Hovey's plans to enlist in the army nurses corps.

Poisoned Two Sandwiches.

She said she spread two sandwiches with peanut butter and the poison paste she took from a tube and gave one of the sandwiches to Miss Hovey. The nurse ate part of hers and became ill.

Mrs. Steiger then gave Miss Hovey milk as an antidote, took her to a hospital and later to a physician for treatment. The two women agreed they would insist it was an accident, Mrs. Steiger said. Miss Hovey died early Saturday.

POSTAL AUCTION OFFERS VARIETY TO PURCHASERS

Girdles, overshoes, leather jackets, colored movie film, and lipsticks were among the items offered for sale yesterday at an auction of unclaimed articles in the main postoffice, Canal and Van Buren sts. Nathaniel Lyman, foreman of the dead letter and dead parcel branch, said that there has been a 35 to 50 per cent increase in the number of articles for sale this year as compared with the list offered in the preceding auction. The sale will be concluded today.

Henry Braun, 3332 Berteau av., a war worker, attended to bid for camera equipment. Before he left, he bought beauty sets, 50 pounds of modeling clay, 30 boxes of water colors, and 200 assorted decalcomanias. His wife will have first choice, he said. The rest he will sell.

One man bid past $17, supposedly for a set of juvenile books. He discovered he had bought a lot of women's skirts and blouses.

FOUR SELECTED FOR JURY DUTY IN QUIRK CASE

Three women and one man were accepted and sworn yesterday as jurors in the trial of James Fawcett, Robert Bock, and Ray Deskovita, who are charged with the murder of Martin [Sonny Boy] Quirk, gangster and gambling syndicate agent. The trial is before Judge Harold G. Ward in the Criminal court.

The jurors are: Mrs. Bernice Krause, 7620 Dante av., a housewife; Miss Dora Gernick, 5923 Laflin st., a factory clerk; Miss Carmen Plavec, 3041 W. 53d st., secretary, and Walter C. Demerling, Lansing, a chemical-steel worker.

In the trial last winter of three other men for the Quirk murder a jury of nine women and three men voted not guilty verdicts. It was explained they so decided because they did not believe the state's principal witness, James Egan. In this trial Egan again is to be the state's main witness.

TWO STORES ROBBED.

An armed man robbed two National Tea food stores yesterday, getting $90. At 4459 Belmont av., he took $60 from Miss Anne Montgomery, the clerk, and 30 minutes later he got $30 from Delphine Smolucha, manager of a store at 1401 N. Ashland av.

An automobile chase of six miles in heavy traffic on the Outer dr. and Foster av., some times at a speed of 75 miles an hour, ended yesterday in the capture by two police squads of a man who said he was Ralph L. Williams, 26, a fugitive from the Indiana state penitentiary at Michigan City.

Policemen Helge Peterson and Joseph Kirk saw Williams speeding and driving thru red traffic lights on the Outer dr. near North av. and went after him. Williams turned into Foster av. in a manner described by police as dangerous to other traffic. Sgt. William Perry and Policeman Edward Smith, in a squad car from Summerdale station, joined the chase at Broadway and Foster.

Williams finally was stopped by the squads in the 2200 block on Foster av. No shots were fired, because of the risk of hitting other cars or pedestrians. Williams said he walked away from the Indiana prison after serving three years of a 10 year sentence for robbery. Police said they suspected the car he had was stolen.

PARDON BOARD WEIGHS PLEA OF FOUR IN KILLING

The state pardon board in Springfield yesterday took under advisement a petition that it recommend executive clemency for four Chicago men convicted of murdering a customer during a grocery robbery in 1935. Assistant State's Atty. John J. Phillips of Cook county opposed the petition, made in behalf of Bruno Austin, Morris Jacobs, Alex Shapiro, and David Sinnenberg, who are serving life sentences for the murder of Anthony Benidetto, who was shot to death during a robbery at 2929 Taylor st.

The board also took under advisement the pardon petition of Robert Fiester, 55, who is serving a life sentence for the murder of his niece, Royalene Hinkle, in 1941 on a farm near Woodland, in Iroquois county.

MEET Dave Noe

FATHER OF THE SEVEN FIGHTING NOES

● Rarely will you find a family like the Noes. Dad Dave, section laborer for the "North Western" in Valentine, Nebraska, is a quiet, industrious chap, and so young looking it seems incredible that he has nine sons, seven of them wearing the uniform of Uncle Sam!

Seven out of nine boys in service—that's a high batting average even for duty with Uncle Sam. Small wonder Dave is a proud father. We salute him and his stalwart sons. Imbued with the fighting spirit of America, each of them is doing all he can to speed the day of victory.

Mrs. Margaret Talbot Cochran Bride Today of Lt. Carrington

BY JUDITH CASS.

IN a quiet ceremony at 4 p. m. today in the E. Division st. home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Eugene S. Talbot, Margaret Talbot Cochran will become the bride of Lt. Bennett W. Carrington of the navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carrington of E. Walton pl. Following a small reception, Lt. Carrington and his bride will leave for California to live while he is on duty there.

Neither Mrs. Cochran nor Lt. Carrington will be attended at the ceremony. The bride arrived from Charlevoix, Mich., Monday, and her mother came from their summer home yesterday to prepare for the wedding. Dr. Talbot and their son-in-law and daughter, the John H. Rices, are arriving today from Charlevoix, but missing from the family circle will be the bride's brothers, Capt. C. Conover Talbot of the army medical corps, who is in Italy, and Quartermaster 1st Class Eugene Talbot Jr., who is stationed in Florida with the navy.

Lt. Carrington, who was on the Hornet, just was released from a year spent in a navy hospital following his recovery from injuries sustained on a mission later. He is a graduate of Dartmouth and of the University of Missouri law school and has one brother, Geddes Carrington, who also will be absent as he is serving in the southwest Pacific as a lieutenant in the marines.

Mrs. Cochran's children, Tim and Jean, will be with the Talbots in Charlevoix this summer, and will join their mother and Lt. Carrington in the fall.

Other Wedding News.

Mr. and Mrs. John Matter of Winnetka and Ephraim, Wis., announce the marriage June 25 of their daughter Janet to Lt. Robert Lloyd Rix, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lloyd Rix of Ferndale, Mich. The ceremony took place suddenly in the post chapel at Fort Mason, San Francisco, when Lt. Rix, who is stationed there with the navy, was given an unexpected leave. The bride's parents were unable to go west on such short notice, so old family friends, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Cross, former Chicagoans, represented them, and Mr. Cross gave the bride in marriage.

Mrs. Rix is a graduate of the University of Chicago High school, the Emma Willard school, and Wellesley college. She had been pursuing a business career in San Francisco. Lt. Rix attended Highland Park Junior college and Wayne university in Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Matter, who are at their Ephraim home now, expect to return to the Whitehall this winter, as they have leased their Winnetka home.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Sanderson of Evanston went to Ottawa, Ill., for the marriage last Saturday of their son, Lt. Edward Gatewood Sanderson of the army, and Miss Barbara Taylor French, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Melvin French of Ottawa. The ceremony took place at 4 p. m. in the First Congregational church, with a reception following at the French home.

Thomas W. Sanderson of Wilmette served his brother as best man, and the ushers included another brother, John Jr.; Alfred H. Taylor, and Lindley Jones. The bridesmaids included Miss Patricia Taylor of Glencoe, cousin of the bride, and Miss Betty Jean Moulding of Wilmette. Lt. Sanderson, a graduate of the University of Illinois and of Northwestern's law school, and his bride, who attended Smith college and Northwestern, have gone to Denver to live.

News has been received of the marriage in San Antonio, Tex., last Saturday of Miss Barbara Grace Moynahan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Moynahan of Pleasant Ridge, Mich., to 1st Sgt. Robert E. Field of the army air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Field of Pleasant Ridge, formerly of Chicago. Sgt. Field, a grandson of the poet, Eugene Field, attended Dartmouth and the University of Chicago.

Birth News.

The twin daughters who were born to Lt. and Mrs. Frank F. Fowle Jr. [Elisabeth Ballard] Monday in the Evanston hospital have not yet been named but will be by the time their father arrives here to see them next week. Lt. Fowle, who returned to this country a few days ago from naval duty in the South Pacific, missed the babies' arrival by one day, as he had gone from here to Washington, D. C., Sunday. The twins and their little sister, Lisa, are grandchildren of the Ernest S. Ballards and of Mr. Fowle and the late Mrs. Fowle of Winnetka.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Word Expert Goes to Work.

This may teach your white collar girls a lesson: Don't call on me unless you want me. As to the derivations:

Deliberate—Latin root libra [earlier form libera] meaning scale [for weighing]. Hence by progression we get "weighed" or "considered," or "careful," and sometimes even "slow."

Journey—Latin Diurnus, daily; middle Latin, Diurnata, and later Jiurnata, meaning a day's work or travel; hence by progression to any travel. Note, too, that a journeyman is one who works by day's work, originally.

Taxicab—Taxi from Greek taxis, assessment. Cab from cabriole which was so named because it was thought to be a leaping, bounding sort of vehicle. Cabriole came from Latin Capriole, a middle Latin word meaning wild goat. So, a capriole was a goat; a cabriole was a leap; then the name cabriole was given to a leaping vehicle; then it was shortened to cab, and taxi was put on when the taximeter was installed to measure the tax.

But more later.

American Originals Sketched at Current Fashion Showings in New York

American designed originals, sketched by Margot, Tribune fashion artist, at current fashion shows in New York sponsored by New York Dress institute. Models 1, 2, 3, and 4 are designed by Bruno of Spectator Sports, the others by Brownie of Fox-Brownie.

1. Black lounging pajamas with climbing bean stalk pattern worked in black jet beads.

2. Sophisticated long evening gown with dramatic new back interest, consisting of bustle-bow of jet bead-embroidered satin and fish fin flounce inset at kneeline.

3. Strapless bodice evening gown of wide striped taffeta.

4. Checked tweed ensemble of two-piece suit, hat, gloves, and walking stick. Stick is covered with suit material. Fringe cut ascot scarf matches cuffs of gloves and flaps of jacket pockets.

5. Bow trimmed jacket suit in appealing shade of amber colored wool crepe.

6. Two-piece suit combining slim straight black skirt with scarlet jacket. Jacket is trimmed with Chinese crossed bands of black forming chest pockets.

7. Faille house coat of honey beige, buttoning down front to knee with large covered buttons. At back, to accentuate flare, are petal flowers of same faille. Petals trim neckline.

8. Two new Renaissance hats, designed for Fox-Brownie collection.

Designer Brings Renaissance Frills Up to Date in New Style Creations

BY REA SEEGER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 11.—Renaissance costumes found in the picture books of that period in England, Italy, and France piquantly influence the fall and winter fashion collection of Fox-Brownie shown here in the Press week presentations sponsored by the New York Dress institute.

All the exquisite jewel colors, the opulence of gleaming fabrics, the romantic doublets and slashed sleeves with puffings, the many unusual shell and curved collars, peplums, and decorative apron effects of the rich renaissance plenty are ingeniously used in a modern manner for American women's fall and winter clothes.

Brownie, astute designer, has turned her fashion trickery again, for in this collection are outstanding feminine styles assuring charm, distinction, and figure flattery. Her jewel colored suits are fascinating, with the new slashed or panel flares below the waistline, or with soft big bows, one on each side of the chest, and with intriguing doublets agleam with sequins beads or beautiful embroidery.

Fox-Brownie originals still stress very brief peplums to jackets and the straightest and slimmest of simple skirts. The allure is in the vivid colors, the daring of different color combinations such as jade, king blue, and raspberry; deep purple with damask rose and gold, or cypress green, tangerine, and beige. Very feminine double or triple rows of ruffles, deftly tied bows of either thin silk or wool crepe, and the emphasized soft curve-flowing silhouette are highlighted again and again.

Fox-Brownie originals next fall will have the same inimitable femininity of line and detail. The stained glass window colors are fabulously beautiful without being theatrical, and such elegances as swishy taffeta blouses in gay plaids in French color contrasts, matched to long pull-on gloves and the inner lining of wool jackets to make eye-catching costumes, alone would establish the unmistakable wizardry of any dress designer.

Since most of the doublets, revers, aprons, and other distinctive details have been filched from the decorative masculine costumes of the Renaissance, it was inevitable the Borgia's boy friends' hats also should be copied. They range from the conical—and also comical—affairs going into a high point from a flat shallow brim to the funny little muffins with a fallen look and the jaunty little toppers with a cluster of ostrich feathers spilling over the side brim.

Thru the Looking Glass

One day last week three midwestern women stepped off a transport on the west coast, home again after 27 months of army nursing in New Guinea. Their uniforms were pretty battered, their complexions and hair in pretty bad condition, and their morale [feminine] wasn't helped much when they observed the striking quality of the clothing and the grooming of their stay-at-home sisters.

Their first telephone call was to Chicago, arranging for "the works" in one of our largest beauty salons. The problems of having hair cut and cleaned and of obtaining at least a smidge of softening skin cream have lessened somewhat for the women who are now in New Guinea, but for these girls, who went in early, it had been a struggle that had left its mark and they wanted that mark erased, as much as possible, before they saw their families.

All three, when the train brought them to Chicago on the first stopover from the coast, made a mad early dash for a lingerie section, then bought new shirts. Packages under their arms, they arrived at the beauty salon at noon and spent the Balance of the day wallowing in rediscovered luxury.

Body treatment, facial, shampoo, styling, finger wave, manicure, pedicure . . . they asked for the book of beauty treatments and the management gave it to them, with enthusiasm. One had a permanent, her first in more than two years. Their leather skins were smothered in oils, their burned hair brushed and burnished. They relished the shower that followed the body treatment, and when they left the salon, in their new-bought clothes, Christmas had come in July.

The mechanics of grooming that we take for granted, are miracles to them.

Next time we get annoyed because beauty service perhaps isn't what it used to be we'll find it awfully easy to be patient. The nurses from New Guinea, browned from sun and from anti-malaria medicines, are the only women we've heard of in a long time who appreciate beauty services for the wonderful luxuries they really are.

New Play with Miss Swanson Fails to Click

"A GOOSE FOR THE GANDER."

Comedy by Harold J. Kennedy, staged by Franklin M. Heller, in a setting by Frederick Fox. Presented by Rudolph Allen at the Blackstone theater Tuesday evening, July 11, 1944.

THE CAST.

David.....Ralph Forbes
Suzy.....Lynne Carter
Lorraine.....Choo Choo Johnson
Tony.....Harold J. Kennedy
Katherine.....Gloria Swanson
Benson.....Jane Elliott
Jonathan.....Forrest Orr
Wally.....David Tyrrell
Chauffeur.....Cebert LaVine

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Gloria Swanson, the best advertisment a milk farm ever had, made her stage debut at the Blackstone theater last night in a play that should have been written, if at all, by Noel Coward. Harold J. Kennedy, who did write it, has done his best. He has tossed in a preposterous plot, stirred it with a tune or two, and hung it with parlor games and festoons of wisecracks, some of them quite funny. Taking most of the best lines for himself, he hangs around the premises looking disconcertingly like Joe Cook in a drawing room. But at best the result is an intermittently successful stunt. He lacks the flair, the insouciance, the plain, unadulterated theatrical skill to make it click.

So "A Goose for the Gander" is slim fare pleasantly displayed on a handsome stage, a well dressed sojourn in emptiness. It opens with Miss Swanson coming back from a four week visit to that milk farm, just in time to find her husband breakfasting with a goose with red curls and a phony southern accent. He is already bored with the girl, a circumstance shared by the audience, for pretty as Miss Carter is, she simply can't act. But Miss Swanson, svelte from the milk farm and gowned by Valentina, plots her revenge. She invites the girl to stay over the week-end, and amplifies her own side of the triangle by three more men—a witty one, who would be Mr. Kennedy; a prosperously solid one, who would be Forrest Orr, and a Tarzan who consumes vitamin pills, known in the playbill as Wally Tyrrell. It is not unfair disclosure of Mr. Kennedy's plot to say that none of them enjoyed that week-end, and truthfully, neither did I.

But Miss Swanson is a piquant gift to the stage, a trim comedienne whose appearance is both a comfort and a challenge to every woman past her salad days, and the only things in the play she can't make you believe are her singing and the accusation that she had to go to that milk farm to shed a middle aged spread. Ralph Forbes, now, has spread a bit, but solidly, and he hasn't lost his way with a comic scene, even when that scene evaporates into the painfully thin air of a poor play. And you might like Choo Choo Johnson, too. Choo Choo is not a train but a beautiful blonde model who delivers telegrams. Late, of course, which is precisely what seems to have set Mr. Kennedy off on the arduous business of trying to write a play.

20,000 Brave Rain at Grant Park to Hear Army Concert

An estimated 20,000 persons braved a downpour of rain in Grant park last night to listen to a concert by musical organizations from Fort Sheridan and Camp Skokie. Huddled under umbrellas and newspapers, the crowd declined to seek shelter when the rain started. Vocal soloists for the evening were Pvt. Bob Eberle and Buddy Clark.

INSTALMENT XV.

CORNERED.

A door had opened in Ellen's mind that had never been open before. Strange music was playing in the room and it drummed in her ears with a sharp pain. She closed the door resolutely and turned to Jed, wide eyed. He had been standing in that room. Mae Nolan was standing by the phonograph in the main salon of the schooner, again playing the arrangement of "Summertime."

She studied Ellen and Jed as they came into the salon and then looked away. Ellen said "Hello" to her, but she made no reply. She waited until Ellen had gone to the aft stateroom, then turned off the phonograph and faced Jed.

She jerked her head toward the passage and said, "Lovely creature, isn't she?"

Jed gave her a flat look. "Yes."

"Watch your step, brother. That kind comes with a price tag. It may be more than you'd like to pay."

He smiled at her reflectively and rubbed the side of his face. "I'm not buying," he said.

She looked down at the floor for a moment, and then her eyes came back to his. Her chin lifted and she said, "You're doing something that's right. During the past week I—well, I've noticed something. You have no thought for yourself. You're doing a job. You don't have to be part of an army, or have men behind you, or some one to tell you what to do. You're fighting this war on your own, like we all should be doing. You're fighting for us, the big people and the little people, while we're just interested in our own petty problems. It's a fine thing, what you're doing. So I—well, I'd hate to see anything interfere with it."

"You've changed your mind about a lot of things, haven't you?"

"Yes, I have."

He stared at her for a long time, frowning, lost in thought.

"Nothing fine about that," he mumbled.

"What?"

"A cornered rat. That's what you are witnessing, the fight of a man who is trapped and can't help himself. That's about the whole of it. You won't find anything noble there."

He started to turn away, but she placed a hand on his arm. "If that was the whole of it," she said, "then I would hate you."

He felt the intensity of her feeling and was puzzled. "No," he said, "that's all of it." He turned away from her and started for the galley, but paused in the doorway. He looked back at her with narrowed eyes and swore under his breath.

Scott Banning and Hugh St. John were leaning against the cold range, arguing about England's position in the war. Tom Riddell was sitting in a corner, apparently listening, but brooding upon some thought of his own.

The men turned around as Jed came in and nodded to them. Their talk came to a halt and they silently watched him as he washed his face and arms in the sink. When he had dried his face, he turned toward them, holding the towel in his hand.

"Time is beginning to run out fast," he said.

Their eyes held and then St. John's mouth straightened in a tight-lipped smile. "Really?" he said. "How fast?"

Jed told them about the encounter with the two Japs in the jungle. "Scouts," he said. "The Japs know we're somewhere within this area, an area of about four square miles. It won't be too hard to comb that thoroly. It's inevitable, now that they find the boat."

Banning was staring at him with a slack mouth. He wet his dried lips with the tip of his tongue and said, "You talked with the scouts?"

"One of them," Jed replied. "Malay is the international tongue down here. Most of them understand it. He said he came from a fairly large garrison about eight miles down the coast. That means they're beginning to close in. But they take their time about this sort of thing, so they can bring some force to bear. I give them six or seven days."

Tom Riddell got to his feet and said, "Well, that means we get out of here."

Jed chuckled. "Where would you suggest going?"

Riddell glared at him and his face darkened. "Look," he said, "I'm getting sick of the way you push us aside. You certainly don't think we're just going to sit here and allow ourselves to be taken, do you?"

"I was hoping," Jed smiled, "that you might put up a fight."

"You go to the devil, you and your lousy heroics. That last-ditch business. I don't go for it. Not with two women on our hands. Or have you ever stopped to think about them?"

Jed nodded soberly. "I have thought about them. If we left this boat, there is only one place to go, into the jungle. I could get along there for a while and so could Bart."

Banning's eyes were popping and he ran a hand over his mouth. He said, "You don't think the rest of us could get along in the jungle?"

Jed shook his head. "You men might live for a while, but not the women. We'd have to go over the granite mountains and down into the swamps on the other side. Ever seen 20 or 30 foot crocodiles, just their eyes above water like knots on a log? Then there are black panthers, dirty-mean devils; tigers, pythons the size of the crocs, cobras, the only snake in the world that strikes without warning or reason, and the swamps reeking with malaria. It's in the air. Leeches to suck your blood—no," he said, "the women wouldn't even reach the swamps."

Jed nodded. "You could put up a scrap, but you know what the end would be."

"Yes. A rather blunt sort of thing, isn't it? Inescapable. Well, if one must face it—"

"Not me," Banning cried. "I'll buy my way out of this. I have millions. I have investments all over the world. Great enterprises. Heavy industries. I got all of us out of Manila, didn't I? All right. I can buy my way out of this, too."

Jed said, "Take it easy. The Japs aren't here yet. Something might turn up for you before then."

Banning looked wildly about and waved his arms dramatically. "And just out there in the gulf," he said, "just 80 miles—there'll be a submarine. Waiting to take us on. It's due in about four days. There must be some way to reach that submarine. There has to be!"

Jed shrugged and crossed the room to the door of his stateroom. As he opened it Riddell said, "Wait a minute, Captain."

Jed paused in the doorway and turned about, his face close to Riddell's. "Yes?"

"I'm just beginning to understand something," he said. "I don't remember you making any references to yourself in our Custer's last stand. You don't intend being there."

The contract in today's deal was the result of unbelievable bidding, but there certainly was nothing wrong with declarer's play!

East, dealer.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 heart	2 clubs	2 no trump	Pass
3 hearts	4 diam. [!]	4 hearts	5 diam.
Pass	Pass	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

Let's not even comment on South's four diamond bid! Nor on North's raise to five diamonds, for that matter.

West led the heart ten. Declarer ruffed and promptly laid down the trump king, thereby smothering East's blank ten. West won with the ace and led another heart. Declarer again ruffed; then he took the club finesse. West refused to cover, and the third round found dummy in with the ace. Now declarer deliberately ruffed another heart on his own account, then led an established club. West ruffed and was overruffed by dummy.

At this point the average player would lead a spade to the ace and continue with clubs, satisfied to trap West's remaining jack-three of trumps under dummy's queen-seven. This declarer was more ambitious, and shrewder. He was morally sure that West was now out of hearts [because of the bidding and the fact that with four hearts, West originally would have led fourth best instead of the ten]. Hence, declarer did not try to trap West's trumps; he cashed the trump queen and made West take the seven, discarding two spades from the closed hand. As was to be expected, West then had to lead a spade. Declarer won and cashed his remaining clubs, thus fulfilling the contract.

ORPHAN ANNIE

Mrs. Cochran Bride of Navy Officer Today

has been announced in Plainfield, N. J., by her mother, Mrs. Walter E. Marder, is of interest here because Miss Marder's father, the late Mr. Marder, lived here for a number of years. Miss Marder was graduated from Wildcliff Junior college in Pennsylvania, now known as Mary Lyons Junior college. Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Pond of Plainfield, was graduated from the Salisbury school in Connecticut and from Princeton university. A fall wedding is planned.

The engagement of their daughter, Mary, to Pvt. Richard Buenger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore A. Buenger of Winnetka, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Valentine E. Lidecker of Kenilworth. Miss Lidecker attended Northwestern university. Her fiance was a student at Princeton before entering the army and is stationed as an army medical student at Northwestern university.

Wedding

At a ceremony in the De Witt chapel at Auburn, Cal., June 25, Suzanne Biossat became the bride of John Halliday Andrews of the army signal corps. Mrs. Andrews, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Biossat of Bennett av., is a graduate of the University of Colorado and was a graduate student at Stanford university before joining the faculty of the University of Colorado. Mr. Andrews, son of Mrs. Dorothy B. Andrews of El Cajon, Cal., attended San Diego State college and California Institute of Technology before entering the army. He and his bride are at home in Auburn.

Here and There.

Members of the Chicago committee of the Arden Shore association will meet for their annual "day at the races" today at the Arlington Park Post and Paddock club at the Washington Park track. Preceding luncheon there will be a discussion of plans for a fall benefit. Mrs. Maynard G. Fessenden heads the committee.

Early transparent apples, now on the market, aren't a pie fruit, for they quickly cook to a mush. This quality makes them a choice subject for applesauce, and for canning.

Wash these apples thoroly, then pare, quarter, and core them for sauce. For 6 pounds of apples, add 2 cups water and simmer until the fruit is soft, shaking the pan occasionally, to keep the apples from scorching. Sweeten to taste, using 1 to 1½ cups sugar. Stir to dissolve. Chill sauce before serving.

Applesauce may be flavored with a little lemon juice, grated rind, and a sprinkling of nutmeg for serving, but is delicious as it is.

To can applesauce, prepare apples as described, fill sterilized jars with the hot fruit, seal, and process in a boiling water bath for five minutes. Tighten seals on jars with glass or zinc lids and separate rubber bands, after removing from boiling water. Lids with composition edges and screw bands should not be tightened after processing. They are screwed on more firmly before processing than are other types of lids.

After a family has eaten applesauce as dessert and with the meat course for a week or so, it usually begins to tire of applesauce. That's the time to put the remaining sauce into a cake or cookies. Applesauce cake and cookies keep well, are moist and full of flavor.

Applesauce Cake.

- ¼ Cup fat
- ¾ cup sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 egg
- 1 cup slightly sweetened applesauce
- 1½ cups sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon soda
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon cloves or allspice
- ½ cup chopped nuts
- ½ cup raisins
- ½ cup chopped dates

Cream fat with sugar and salt. Beat in egg. Add applesauce alternately with sifted flour, soda, and spices. Beat batter smooth. Stir in nuts, raisins, and dates. Pour into greased square or loaf pan, filling pan no more than two-thirds full. Bake at 350 degrees for 40-45 minutes. Serve cake plain, with a sauce, or with frosting.

Applesauce Cookies.
[Four dozen.]

- 1 cup shortening
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 2 eggs
- 4 cups sifted flour
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- ½ teaspoon allspice
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon soda
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 cup applesauce
- ½ cup raisins
- 1 cup chopped pecans

Cream shortening and sugars. Beat in eggs. Sift flour with spices, salt, soda, and baking powder. Add dry ingredients to creamed mixture alternately with applesauce. Add nuts and raisins. Drop from a spoon onto greased baking sheet and bake cookies at 400 degrees about 15-20 minutes, or until brown.

TURN IN WASTE FATS FOR POINTS AND PENNIES!

The Solid Side Helps to Erase a Few Doubts

BY MAUREEN DALY.

Q.—"Lend a sympathetic ear, will you, please? I like a boy visiting in our town and tho he seems to like me—he's never asked me for a date. Our crowd has a weekly dance and we always dance together a lot. He seems to enjoy it, but still no dates. I know he likes to go out because he dated one of my friends last year. He's not bashful at all and is good-looking enough to date any one—anything I can do?"

A.—Do nothing till you hear from him. The stardust in your eyes may have scared him off so keep the glow to yourself till joe blow catches the mood, too. In the meantime, you can keep your fingers crossed, look forward to Friday night, and be sure he sees you at your smooth and charming best. A girl can dream, can't she?

Q.—"Why is it, while talking with just any boy, I know what to say but when a special fellow comes along I haven't a thought in my head and am very bashful?"

A.—If this "special fellow" is a jackson whom you like more than somewhat, you will be anxious to have him think of you as an attractive and intelligent young character. And when you talk to him the right words are hard to find and are slow in coming out. Don't worry about it—you are fortunate to find some one whom you like so well that you're at a loss for words. When a girl is so pleasantly in the dreams department, she shouldn't talk too much!

Szigeti Again Has Off Night at Ravinia Park

Overture, "The Roman Carnival" ..... Berlioz
Concerto for violin and orchestra, D major ..... Brahms
Symphony No. 5, E minor ..... Tschaikowsky

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG.

From the one extreme of the uninhibited emotionalism of Leonard Bernstein's conducting, the Chicago Symphony orchestra at Ravinia this week is watching the studied elegance of Vladimir Golschmann's baton waving.

Last night our orchestra, which is old and wise and has been there before, played that ancient war horse, Berlioz's "Roman Carnival" overture, without following the conductor too closely.

Then Joseph Szigeti came forth for the third of his four appearances at Ravinia and labored mightily with the Brahms violin concerto. And as usual when any one labors mightily with a fiddle, the poor instrument protested openly. But it could not entirely resist Mr. Szigeti's slugging and hacking, tho it did the best it could in the way of producing some of the most unmusical sounds ever heard on a first class concert stage. It was Szigeti versus Brahms and Brahms was knocked out in the first round, assisted by some adverse decisions from the conductor, who served as a somewhat helpless referee between the opponents. Nor was the situation helped by a sudden storm between the second and third movements, when standees outside the pavilion were admitted to cover with further disturbance of strained relations.

Mr. Golschmann held forth alone and uninhibited in Tschaikowsky's Fifth symphony, which closed the concert. Heard imperfectly from under the trees, it appeared that Mr. Golschmann was more concerned with underscoring the feverish theatricality of the score than of revealing the truer qualities of Tschaikowsky's melancholy genius. It was effective in a way but it also was exaggerated.

All States Expected to Join in Drive of National War Fund

Forty-five of the 48 United States are ready to start their fall campaigns for war related relief agencies, it was disclosed by Prescott S. Bush, vice president of the National War fund, in a talk yesterday in the Palmer House before a meeting sponsored by the Community and War Fund of Metropolitan Chicago. He said the other three states are expected to announce their participation in the drive this week.

Bush described the Community and War fund movement as a "creation of the people" and said that, prior to its formation in 1943, a multiplicity of appeals for foreign relief, U. S. O., and other organizations now a part of the national drive, harassed the people. He declared that the financial needs of U. S. O., one of the principal agencies of the fund, are highly flexible because that organization must be prepared to fulfill government requests for U. S. O. centers thruout the world.

City's Urban League Women Open Office in Loop Next Month

The woman's division of the Chicago Urban league plans to set up an office in the loop, it was announced yesterday by Earl B. Dickerson, league president. A lease has been signed, and the women will take possession of a seventh floor suite in the building at 203 N. Wabash av., Tuesday, Aug. 1. The office will become headquarters for the league women. By acquiring a convenient central location, the division expects to facilitate its purpose of bringing together women of all nationalities, races, and creeds for the improvement of race relations and more effectively to aid the league in its work to raise the social and economic status of the Negro.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 11.—June Vincent finally gets a good role in "Enter Arsene Lupin." She plays opposite George Korvin, whom Eugenie Leontovitch found and signed for her play, "Dark Eyes." . . . John Emery, Tallulah Bankhead's ex, will be Gregory Peck's rival for Ingrid Bergman's hand in "The House of Dr. Edwardes." . . . Lillian Gish hopes Walter Huston will skip to Broadway with her in "The Magnificent Yankee." Walter likes the script—is afraid to turn it down. It might be another "Life with Father," which he was offered, with 35 per cent interest plus salary. On advice of Max Gordon, who didn't think it would run more than 12 weeks, Walter turned it down. . . . "Naughty Marietta" in color and "Vagabond King" being talked of for James Melton at Metro next year. Director Bob Leonard has a story ready for him about an opera troupe stranded in the west.

It's a Great Pleasure.

Franklyn Farnum, former silent star, is being paid to sit in the audience while watching Rita Hayworth and a line of girls, including his 19 year old daughter, Jerry, dance in "Tonight and Every Night." Philip Merrivale has been added to the cast of that picture. He plays Lee Bowman's father. . . . Jinx Falkenburg is hostess to Consuela Valesquez, author of "Besame Mucho," who sold that famous song for less than $100. Jinx is tipping her off as to how to get real dough for the rest of her brain children. . . . One of Hal Wallis' first pictures for Paramount will be "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals," to be made in England. . . . Gene Fowler really is a good sport. He can't say no. Instead of working on his own book he's reading bad scripts written by those who call him friend.

Now's the Time.

Jack Warner's writers are doing a story around the rehabilitation of our returning soldiers, their problems, and a solution for same. If Jack's successful, maybe his idea should be adopted by Washington. . . . Vic Fleming is still reading scripts and in no hurry to make a decision as to what he'll do next. . . . Col. Robert Lee Scott's new tome is titled "Banned to Glory." . . . David Selznick's special invitational preview of "Since You Went Away" is scheduled next Monday at the Carthay Circle theater. Picture runs two hours and 50 minutes. . . . I hear Rosalind Russell's husband, Capt. Freddie Brisson, has been made a major. . . . The Myron McCormicks [she's daughter of William and Helen Dodge] expect their baby in October. He'll be with Martha Scott in "Soldier's Wife" this fall.

It Has to Be That Way.

Too Good to Be True.

Clark Gable and Bill Seiter were talking about swapping Clark's ranch for Bill's Brentwood home. Bill called up his housekeeper and told her Gable would be there that afternoon and to show him everything. There was a gasp at the other end of the line, then she blurted out, "You mean he's coming alone?" . . . Since Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne are doing Noel Coward's play "Sweet Sorrow" as a picture in England, we should be pretty upset if we fail to talk them into appearing before our cameras over here. Only picture they did here, years ago, was "The Guardsman." I still think it was good.

A Wanger Brain Child.

Universal has started another of those photographic searches for a girl to play "Salome—Where She Danced." If you know of such a girl, send her picture to Universal studio, but for heaven's sake, not to me! [My secretary added, amen.] . . . Beverly Roberts plays feminine lead opposite Robert Armstrong in "Sleep No More," which opens in Chicago after Labor day. . . . Guy Kibbee is back from five months of eastern road showing in "The Old Soak." . . . Joe E. Brown returns soon to his old home lot, Warners, for another picture. They liked him so much in "Hollywood Canteen."

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

Spokesmen for two of the women's services, the WAC and the SPARS, have announced new billets available to recruits.

The WAC in Chicago, now conducting a procurement campaign, is seeking volunteers for jobs in the medical corps. Qualified high school graduates who can meet WAC enlistment requirements are eligible.

Women accepted for these army jobs will train as medical and surgical technicians after five weeks of basic instruction at a WAC center. The medical training will cover three months at Camp Atterbury, Ind. Women completing the instruction will be assigned to army hospitals thruout the nation, where their duties will be connected with the rehabilitation of wounded soldiers returned from overseas.

The first group of technicians will enroll at Camp Atterbury Sept. 8, which means their enlistments must be made in time to begin basic training July 21.

WAC recruiting headquarters is in Room A-333, 166 W. Van Buren st., Harrison 4390.

More musical SPARS are needed for the Coast Guard women's reserve band in Palm Beach, Fla., site of the SPARS' boot training center. Enlistment is open now to women who have had experience in instrumental playing, can read standard marches and concert music at sight, and have general musical knowledge.

One of the band billets is that of assistant conductor. The woman selected must have a college degree, maturity, executive ability, and good bearing as a director.

Instruments awaiting SPAR players include cornet, French horn, sousaphone, oboe, B-flat alto clarinet, alto clarinet, baritone saxophone, bassoon, and snare drums. SPARS recruited for the band must first take boot training.

The Palm Beach station also has a training course open to SPARS to replace men at various Coast Guard mess halls at shore stations. Volunteers taking the 12 week instruction will receive cook's and baker's ratings. All applicants must enter as apprentice seamen and take six weeks of boot training.

Subjects in the curriculum are designed to stand the trainee in good stead after the war: Theory of food preparation, meal planning and nutrition, mathematics, meat cutting, and duty in wardroom mess. Other phases of instruction are the use, care, and cleaning of equipment; sanitary regulations, disposal of waste, inventory, organization of mess, and classroom work, including menu planning.

Two hundred additional pharmacist's mates also are needed in the SPARS. Women who have had civilian training qualifying them for the work are especially sought for enlistment. Accepted applicants will receive a three month training course at the college of pharmacy of Columbia university, New York City, after completing boot instruction.

Details about these SPARS billets may be obtained at Chicago recruiting headquarters, 53 W. Jackson blvd., Harrison 0442.

First Post-War Appliances to Be Old Models

The year following the armistice will witness not the debut of new home appliance equipment but rather the reintroduction of 1941-'42 models, which are still new to the market. During the post-war decade manufacturers will bend their drafting boards to consumer demand, now being built up, for startling merchandise—but only after they have had the time and obtained the designers and materials to swing into bright new products.

This was the message of speakers yesterday before appliance retailers attending the summer furniture market here. Roscoe R. Rau, executive vice president of the National Retail Furniture association, presided at the session.

"I have no jet propulsion irons to tell you about," said John Wicht, president of the American Washer and Ironer association and a General Electric executive, "but I can describe good post-war markets awaiting us." He said that 4,200,000 individuals now want washers. For five years after the war 2½ million washers will be sold yearly as compared with 2 million in pre-war years, he said.

Harry M. Kelley of the General Motors refrigerator division at Dayton, O., warned that far-fetched merchandise promises were apt to build sales resistance in families in the immediate post-war world. "They will wait a few months to buy in the belief that radically different refrigerators will be made available," he predicted. "Any 'quickies' dumped on the market will prove to be boomerangs." Mr. Kelley said the 1942 models would still be advanced models when the refrigerator market reopened.

"The stoves we offer after the war will be the 1941 models, for which we will have the dies and facilities," declared Alden Chester, Globe American company, Kokomo, Ind. "They will not be like the beautiful art work in the magazines," he smiled, "and they'll be on the market until our designers are ready with new offerings."

Combination radio-phonographs and frequency modulation sets will enjoy post-war popularity, the vice president of Zenith Radio company, J. J. Nance, explained, but television is still traveling toward the consumer market. "It's on the way," Mr. Nance said, "but not with us yet."

Chicago Area Girls and Women to Help Tassel Illinois Corn

Seventy-five Chicago area girls and women have volunteered to tassel corn for two weeks on farms near El Paso, Ill., Frank Gingrich, assistant state farm labor supervisor, announced yesterday. Four hundred women have been requested to leave Friday for El Paso, where they will be employed at 50 cents an hour by the Pfister Hybrid Corn company.

Half the volunteers are high school girls and the rest are housewives or business women, who will devote their two week vacations to work on the home front. Among the professions represented are nursing, school teaching, and secretarial and industrial work.

The group will be housed in the El Paso High school gymnasium. Information may be obtained at farm labor headquarters, 226 W. Jackson blvd., room 500.

Mrs. Fred S., Oak Park—My husband and I both do quite a bit of painting around the house in summer. To keep insects from settling on a newly painted surface he adds about a spoonful of citronella—or pine oil—to a pail of paint and this certainly discourages the little pests.

Agnes H., Davenport, Ia.—I am making my own clothes these days and wonder why dress patterns don't come in half sizes for in-betweens. It would be a help.

Mrs. Thomas H., Chicago—The first time one of my children got marks from an indelible pencil on her dress I tried to remove them with water. I only spread the dye and had trouble getting rid of it. Now I soak stain in denatured alcohol—making sure, first, that any dyed material is colorfast.

Sunback Dress

With or without shoulder ruffles, this sunback dress for teen-agers is a summer wardrobe favorite. The model is easy to cut and sew, simple to launder, and uses a minimum of inexpensive cotton fabric. Style No. 3831 is designed for sizes 10 to 16. Size 12 requires 3¼ yards of 35 inch fabric for dress with ruffles.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing. The summer fashion book, on sale at Tribune Public Service offices, is 15 cents, 12 cents if ordered by mail with a pattern.

Allow Unruly Child to Blow Off Steam, Psychologist Urges

If a "bad" child is allowed to blow off steam by freely expressing his resentments, jealousies, and dislikes, the end result is likely to be better than it would if he were compelled by the fear of punishment to repress his true sentiments and to pretend a sweetness and affection which he does not feel, Dr. Carl R. Rogers, professor of psychology at Ohio State university, said yesterday at the University of Chicago in a lecture on new developments in the treatment of problem children.

He explained that studies made at the Rochester, N. Y., Guidance center and at Ohio State indicate that if a permissive atmosphere is created, and the child feels free to bring out any attitudes and feelings he may have, he will develop a better understanding of himself and will choose, on his own responsibility, better behavior goals.

The fact that the child's feelings are accepted, without being either approved or disapproved, may help produce astonishing changes in behavior, Dr. Rogers said.

Certain Rules Basis of Child Management

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Whenever I think I am devoting too much time to the new baby, the small child, the inbetweens, or the adolescents in this column, I receive innumerable requests from parents which read:

"I have been watching for an article from you on how to arrange things so that my 5 months' old daughter will sleep more. She keeps us awake most of the night. The doctor says she is physically perfect, gets enough to eat, and so on, but I guess I just don't know how to handle the situation."

Another mother writes, "Please devote more of your articles to the 2 and 3 year olds. I have children of these ages, a boy and a girl, and they are a handful, lovable, but into everything and always on the go, and they run me ragged."

The very next letter opened reads—"Your articles on the inbetween child and the adolescent have helped me so much, so please keep them coming. Recently you seem to have been writing more on the younger children. . . ."

So there you are. I suppose what happens is that we parents snatch at everything enlightening or helpful that bears on the age of our child at the moment, or when we are faced with special difficulties. We can't get quite enough, and so wonder why more attention isn't focused on what so intimately concerns us. The father worried over his teen-age daughter searches for light on his questions, and the mother with a noisy, maddening 8 or 9 year old looks for help in all directions, each feeling that every age problem is covered except his or hers.

As a matter of fact, the scope of this column is childhood in all its stages, and we always try to give each age its due space and consideration. We do this in two ways: sometimes we cover a wide range of ages in a week, while at other times we find that a whole series of consecutive articles on one age or subject presents it more helpfully to parents.

Tells Word Relation System That Spurs Reading Instruction

One year of remedial reading instruction, in which words and ideas are related to the tangible world by means of field excursions, play activities, and the use of globes, maps, pictures, and other aids, has proved capable of advancing the average child's reading ability two years, according to Orrin G. Thompson, assistant superintendent of schools in Elgin.

He spoke yesterday at a second day session of the five day seventh annual conference on reading for teachers and school officers of elementary and high schools and junior colleges. The conference is being held at the University of Chicago.

Mr. Thompson explained that the good results noted were achieved at a school where no stigma was attached to pupils taking remedial reading instruction and where emotional tension had been banished and a spirit of coöperation between pupils and teachers established.

FRESH FRUIT SALAD

1 envelope Knox Gelatine	¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup cold water	¼ cup sugar
1 cup hot fruit juice or water	¼ teaspoon salt
	1½ cups fresh fruits

Soften gelatine in cold water and dissolve in hot fruit juice or water. Add lemon juice, sugar and salt. Cool. When it begins to thicken, fold in diced fruits. Any fruits or desired combinations may be used. Pour into large mold which has been rinsed in cold water, or individual molds. Chill. When firm, unmold. (Canned fruits may be used.)

IMPORTANT! Be sure to use Knox Gelatine. It is pure, plain gelatine—contains no artificial flavoring. Use Knox with all your favorite fresh fruits and berries—not only for finer flavor, but also for the precious vitamins you don't get in artificial mixtures.

JOHN TAVENER WINS BERTH ON ALL-STAR SQUAD

Indiana Center to Face Bears Aug. 30.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

John Harold Tavener, captain and center on the 1943 Indiana university football team, will be one of the College All-Stars who will meet the Chicago Bears, professional football champions, in Dyche stadium Aug. 30. By virtue of the All-Stars' 27 to 7 victory last year over the Washington Redskins, Tavener and his associates will be defending champions in the 11th annual game sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Tavener played center for Coach Bo McMillin's teams for three years. Weighing 210 pounds, he still had so much speed that last season, when he was a standout in midwestern football, he actually pulled out of the line after starting the play and led the ball carrier on thrusts inside and outside of defensive tackle. Tavener is 6 feet tall.

He's Speedy and a Blocker.

Tavener's agility and speed, plus his exceptionally blocking ability, made him invaluable to the Hoosier squad. Composed principally of freshmen and inexperienced sophomores, Indiana had a most creditable record. Tavener and Pete Pihos, veteran end, were principal cogs, especially on defense where Pihos protected one flank and Tavener backed up the other side of the line.

Pihos won a starting berth on the 1943 All-Star team which whipped Washington. The Redskins went on to win the eastern championship in the National Football league, but were defeated in the playoff last December by the Chicago Bears.

Tavener was sworn into the marine corps reserve early in 1943 but failed to pass his physical examination and later met the same disappointment when examined by the army men. He continued his studies at Indiana, where he was enrolled in the school of physical education. He expects to continue his studies this fall.

He's an All-Around Fellow.

Altho Tavener has played center at Indiana for three years, rising to stardom in his sophomore season, he was a full back during his high school career at Granville, O. In his senior high school year, John was captain of the football, basketball, and baseball teams. In addition, he was president of the student council, a member of the national honor society, and president of the Hi-Y club.

John's family are farm folk and he knows the details of the agricultural business from experience. He has two brothers and five sisters.

Squad Reports Aug. 12.

For the last two years Tavener has been a 60 minute player. His endurance was particularly valuable to his team last season when Indiana did not have a competent replacement at center. He is so versatile, as well as possessing the fundamental skills, that he could be assigned other line positions if the All-Star coaches so wish. In any event, Tavener undoubtedly will see considerable service against the rugged Chicago Bears line on the night of Aug. 30.

The All-Star squad will report for training at Dyche stadium Aug. 12. The game with the Bears offers particular incentive. The Bears, who won the National league title in 1933, opened the series with the All-Stars in 1934. This game ended in a scoreless tie. The following year the Bears were victorious, 5 to 0.

The Bears' great teams of 1940 and 1941 ruled professional football and these squads walloped the college players in the 1941 and 1942 games. Thus, the Bears have won three games and played one tie in the 10 years of the competition.

Ward Will Tell About Game on Radio Preview

Arch Ward who was in Pittsburgh last night to cover the All-Star baseball game for THE TRIBUNE, will be back in time to conduct his Sports Preview, weekly W-G-N feature, tonight. In addition to relating high lights of baseball's midsummer classic, which he originated in 1933, he will discuss other sports developments of the week. The program will be aired from 9 to 9:15 p. m.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 11.—The American league All-Stars tonight opined that it's true what they say about Pittsburgh. . . . The town is full of smoke, but it didn't come out this evening from the steel furnaces that have made this city world famous. . . . It was off the red hot bats of the National league's strongest array of sluggers, who won baseball's glamor game by the most decisive margin in the history of the series. . . . The 12th presentation of the interleague competition lacked the drama of 1934 when Carl Hubbell struck out five famous hitters in a row and the ninth inning homer by Ted Williams which gave the American leaguers a brilliant victory in 1941, but for concentrated power and flashes of pitching excellence it rivaled any of its predecessors. . . . The star of stars in the parade of mound talent was Rip Sewell of Pittsburgh, who set down the American batsmen without a hit or a man reaching first base in his three inning stint. . . . His famed balloon pitch sometimes cut the plate from an arc 25 feet high. . . . The Cubs came out of the game with their best showing in years. . . . Phil Cavarretta, who went the route at first base, had a perfect night at bat with two hits and three walks in five trips to the plate. . . . Bill Nicholson started the Nationals on the victory trail with a double that scored Connie Ryan with the first run of their team's four run splurge in the fifth inning. . . .

Tommy Connolly.

Rip Sewell.

The All-Star game brought Tommy Connolly, the American league's umpire in chief, to Pittsburgh for the first time in 41 years. . . . He and Hank O'Day worked the first world series, which was between the Boston Red Sox and the Pirates in 1903. . . . Connie Mack regretted his inability to attend, because he, too, has a sentimental attachment to Pittsburgh. . . . It was here that he began his long and brilliant career as a manager in September, 1894. . . . Mr. Mack, at the invitation of an old friend, President Tommy Richardson, was guest of honor at an exhibition game in the Eastern league. . . . Clark Griffith, who like Mr. Mack, seldom misses an All-Star game, celebrated the occasion by using airplane transportation. . . . He said he wanted to prove to his friends he wasn't afraid to ride in one of those newfangled machines. . . .

One of the odd things about this year's American league squad is that two of the three clubs which supplied as many as four players, Detroit and Cleveland, are second division outfits. . . . A mystery which the White Sox tried to solve in their brief visit to New York a week ago had to do with a report that some American league player became confused in Chicago and picked up a sample pair of baseball shoes at a display of sports goods. . . . It turned out, according to rumors, that both shoes were lefts, a simple precaution taken by all salesmen, it is said. . . . Bob Johnson, veteran outfielder of the Red Sox, who thru some miracle made the All-Star team, can neither throw nor field as of yore. . . . Jimmy Conzelman of the St. Louis Browns' staff, hurried his breakfast with President Don Barnes and General Manager Bill De Witt, when Coach Clark Shaughnessy of the Pittsburgh football squad came into the coffee shop. . . . They found a clean table cloth on which to diagram plays. . . . Conzelman, who coached the Chicago Cardinals prior to his transfer to the Browns, had some good tips on pro teams for Shaughnessy, who intends to spend a few weeks next month in the camp of the Washington Redskins as advisory instructor. . . . Shaughnessy used to serve in the same capacity for the Bears. . . . Thurman Tucker, lead-off man for the American league All-Stars, says the best park in which to field at night is Sportsman's park in St. Louis. . . . His choice spot for hitting is Yankee stadium. . . . Forbes field presents a real challenge to distance hitters. . . . It takes a solid wallop to land in the right field stands and the left field wall is far, far away. . . .

The laundry situation is so bad in some cities that ball players, club officials and authors often dry their own washing, which makes the sartorial splendor of Eddie Brannick, traveling secretary of the Giants, all the more mystifying. . . . Brannick in the last 48 hours has appeared in three perfectly laundered Palm Beach outfits. . . . Since the retirement of Joe Barry of the White Sox, Brannick is recognized as the best dressed man in baseball. . . . Connie Ryan of the Boston Braves, starting second baseman for the National leaguers, was one of the few players who got a unanimous vote of the managers for a place on the squad. . . . Connie's granddaddy came from Ireland and fought in the Civil war. . . . His father is a steamboat captain on the Mississippi. . . . The family headquarters are in New Orleans. . . . Ray Mueller of Cincinnati, an All-Star catcher, has rolled up a National league record by working in 137 consecutive games. . . . The string is still unbroken. . . . Wilbur Cooper, star southpaw of the Pirates a couple of decades ago, came in from his suburban home to see his first All-Star game. . . . There was a nostalgic touch in tonight's game for Joe Cronin of Boston, American league coach who managed his circuit's All-Stars in 1934 and 1940. . . . Cronin broke into the majors with the Pirates in 1926. . . . He went from here to New Haven, then back to Pittsburgh. . . . After a short stay in Kansas City he moved to Washington in 1928, and he has been an American leaguer ever since. . . . A native of California where many major leaguers got their start, Cronin's baseball schooling has all been in the east. . . . Center field is called middle field in Pittsburgh. . . . It appears that way in the box scores. . . .

Jimmy Conzelman.

Eddie Brannick.

Forbes field has two playing hazards not encountered in any other major league park. . . . The distance from home plate to the screen behind the plate is 110 feet, almost as far as the bleachers in some layouts. . . . A passed ball to the screen usually means two bases and sometimes three, instead of the conventional one. The right field screen has a barrier in front which not only runs obliquely, as in the Polo Grounds, but also has panel insets which add to the danger of freak bounces not possible in any other park. . . . The outfield distances range from 300 feet on the right field foul line to 457 in left center. . . . There were 500 in line at 2:30 this afternoon when 15,000 bleacher seats were placed on sale. . . . The most surprising development of the day was the fact that no newspaper printed the name or picture of the first customer. . . . Many of the players brought their charming brides, none of whom was prettier than Mrs. Nancy Nicholson, wife of the Cubs' Bill. . . . One of the first to arrive in the box seat section was old Cy Young, famous pitcher of baseball's pioneer days. . . . Young won 510 games, more than any other moundsman in major league history, but he also lost more, 313. . . . He came over from his farm near Canton, O. . . . Young, who didn't get his start until he was 24 years old, was a headliner from 1890 to 1911. . . . He was voted into baseball's Hall of Fame in 1937. . . .

Bill Voiselle of the Giants, freshman pitcher, who was added to the National league squad only yesterday, is said to be the only man on the Giants' roster who does not object to rooming with Ernie Lombardi. . . . He's deaf and can't hear Ernie's horrific snoring. . . . Vince DiMaggio, Pittsburgh center fielder, wonders what a fellow has to do to earn a starting position in an All-Star game. . . . He was substituted in last year's contest in time to knock a homer, triple, and double. . . .

MORE, CLINE AND LINDSAY WIN IN WOMEN'S GOLF

Medalist, Champion Gain 2d Round.

Bloomington, Ill., July 11 [Special].—Ruth More of Peoria, qualifying medalist in the 11th annual Illinois Women's Golf association tournament, negotiated her first match play barrier today at the Bloomington Country club when she defeated Mrs. Earl H. Miller of the host club, 7 and 5.

Bloomington's other representatives emerged triumphant, Jeanne Cline wresting a 3 and 1 decision from Mrs. MacLean Funk of Decatur, while Ann Lewis, 18 year old University High school senior from Normal, took the measure of Betty Ann Ohnemus of Quincy, 3 and 2.

Defending Champion Wins.

Virginia Nilles of Arlington Heights upset Jane Nelson, Hinsdale High school student, 3 and 2, in another major first round match. Miss Nilles had the best medal score with a 77, one over par.

Mrs. Pike Reelected.

The Illinois Woman's Golf association tonight reelected Mrs. A. M. Pike of Aurora Country club as its 1945 president, and elected Miss Gladys Sines of Olympia Fields vice president. Mrs. P. H. Waggoner of Decatur was chosen secretary-treasurer, and Decatur asked that the 1945 tournament be held there.

Novices Eager to Enroll in Tribune Swim

The 100 yard swimming races, which will be held July 22 and 23 for the 15th year by the Chicago Tribune Charities, were inaugurated for novice contestants. That this goal has been successfully met during the years again is attested by the list of early applicants to compete in the four preliminary sectionals.

The letters received Monday, for instance, were exclusively in the age classes from 11 to 16 years of age. More proficient swimmers will enter, of course, for many of Chicago's outstanding swimmers began competition in these 100 yard races.

The awards, from the souvenir buttons to the 10 championship medals and two team trophies, are supported by the 120 prizes given those boys and girls who qualify for the finals in the California park pool July 30. No other swimming event is comparable.

Contestants may swim in any one of the four sectional meets. The trials on Saturday, July 22, will be held at Cermak pool and Sherman park. The following afternoon the races will be staged at Whealan pool and California park. Contestants will report at 1 p. m. at all centers and the first race will start an hour later.

One hundred twenty boys and girls will qualify in the 10 age classes for the championships at California park July 30. The number qualifying from each pool and in each age division will be assigned in proportion to the number of contestants. Entries close at midnight July 17.

Fight Decisions

CAVARRETTA'S OUT, BUT HE HAD A BIG NIGHT

Phil Cavarretta, field captain of the Cubs, being tagged out at home plate in the first inning of last night's All-Star game in Pittsburgh by Catcher Rollie Hemsley of the Yankees. Phil met a similar fate later in the game, but he boasted a 1.000 batting average for the evening with a triple, single, and three walks. Last night marked Cavarretta's first appearance in an All-Star game. The National league team won, 7 to 1. [Associated Press Wirephoto.]

MAJORS GIVE THE GREEN LIGHT TO GAMES AT NIGHT

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 11 (AP).—Major league baseball moved another step nearer to a night sport today when the National and American leagues approved almost unlimited after dark games. The leagues ruled that any club could play as many night games as desired, except on Sunday, with the approval of the visiting team. Only Washington, at present, plays all of its week-day games under the lights.

Cards Switch to Nights.

President Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals said the National league leaders would play all of their remaining week-day games at night. The St. Louis Browns, however, are not expected to add more than a dozen contests.

Officials of the Phillies, Athletics, and White Sox said they would add more games but would not go all the way. The Dodgers, Giants, Pirates, and Indians also may add a few more night games.

The major-minor league agreement, due to expire Jan. 12, 1945, was extended until Jan. 12, 1946, but before becoming official must also be approved by the minor leagues. The major league pact, under which Commissioner H. M. Landis has ruled baseball since 1921, also expires Jan. 12, 1946. It was decided that each league should appoint a committee to consider a new agreement and report back at the December meeting.

Landis Mum on Quitting.

Landis, asked about reports that he might resign when the major league pact expires, refused to comment other than to say:

"You'll have to ask Leslie O'Conner [Landis' secretary] about that. He makes all of my announcements."

HOSKINS, BADGER 1942 CO-CAPTAIN, LISTED MISSING

Marsch's Entry Finishes 1-2 in Arlington Futurity Test

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

Chicago and the midwest again advanced their bid for the juvenile championship and then doubled it as Free for All and Errard, a pair of fleet 2 year old colts from the John Marsch stable, ran one-two in the $3,000 Advance Guard purse yesterday at Washington Park.

The champion of the east, Lt. Edward Lasker's Flood Town, winner of four of his five starts, was shunted back to third in a field of five as Free for All, ridden by Otto Grohs, triumphed by three-quarters of a length over his stablemate, piloted by Buddy Haas.

The entry went postward a 1 to 3 choice of the crowd of 13,000 and paid off at $2.60 for $2. There was no place or show betting.

That Saturday's Futurity would have one of the largest fields in it's history was the premise on which Benjamin F. Lindheimer, executive director and John D. Jackson, general manager, proceeded to widen the Washington Park backstretch 35 feet. Room was provided in the overall width of 105 feet to start 20 or 22 horses.

Then Free For All, Errard and Flood Town started to win and in convincing fashion, so that now the trainers of some 163 thorobred eligibles for the Futurity seem to have lost all interest in the season's first rich juvenile stake.

However, there may be a half dozen to challenge the threesome.

10 Start in Roseben.

Yesterday's daily double was worth $558.40, the largest return of the Arlington Park meeting. It came about thru a victory in the first race for J. V. Maggio's Leorey, ridden by Joe Cavens, at $12.80 and the triumph of B. C. Kelley's Vanflag in the second at $48.60. Bobby Campbell had the leg up on Vanflag which scored by three-quarters of a length over Miss E. Kraus' Shining Chance, one of the favorites in a field of 12. The day's mutuel handle totaled $773,211.

Today's midweek feature is a seven furlong handicap for 3 year olds and upward for which 10 good sprinters have been named to start. The race carries a $2,500 purse and is named the Roseben after the great sprinter which established the world's seven furlong record of 1:22 in 1906, a mark equaled in 1935 by Clang at Arlington Park.

BILL NICHOLSON CRACKS DOUBLE IN 4-RUN FIFTH

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 11.—The National league All-Stars, with Chicago Cubs playing prominent roles, slapped a 7 to 1 defeat on the American league representatives here tonight. The Nationals' victory was the most decisive triumph by either league in the 12 year history of the midsummer classic, conceived and sponsored in 1933 by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

A crowd of 29,859 paid $81,275 to see what proved to be an exciting contest despite its lopsided character. Added to receipts was a $25,000 radio fee. The fund will be used in buying baseball equipment for service men. The crowd was several thousand under estimates—a circumstance blamed on too much ballyhooing of an expected sellout, a mistake similar to one which held down patronage at the Boston game in 1936.

It's a Big Night for Phil.

Capt. Phil Cavarretta and Bill Nicholson of the Cubs both were standouts, even tho Phil twice was thrown out at the plate. Cavarretta had a perfect game at bat with a triple, a single, and three walks. Nick's pinch double in the fifth was the shot that apparently threw the dashing Americans into a panic from which they never quieted.

Thurman Tucker, the lone White Sox representative, went hitless.

After Cavarretta had been thrown out at home for the first time—in the first inning—the Americans scored to take a 1 to 0 lead in the second inning. The 1 to 0 edge stood up until the fifth, the only considerable threat of the Nationals being Cavarretta's wasted triple off Hank Borowy in the third.

Tex Hughson, the eventual loser, retired the side in his first inning, the fourth. Then came the fifth, in which the Nationals enjoyed their biggest inning in the 12 year history of the All-Star competition.

Ryan Starts Winning Rally.

Connie Ryan opened with a single to center. Martin Marion struck out, but as he did so Ryan stole second. Then up went Nicholson to bat for his one time Cub teammate—the eventual winning pitcher, Ken Raffensberger, now a Philly. Bill slashed a double along the right foul line, scoring Ryan with the tying run. Augie Galan, long time Cub favorite, now a suffering Dodger, singled to center, scoring Nicholson with what proved to be the winning run.

Cavarretta drew his second pass and when Stan Musial landed at first on George McQuinn's error, the bases were loaded. Walker Cooper singled, scoring Galan, but Cavarretta was sunk at the plate for the second time. Dixie Walker lined out his second single, scoring Musial. George Muncrief replaced Hughson and got Bob Elliott on a foul to Bob Johnson.

Rip Sewell Fools 'Em.

Four pitchers worked for the Nationals. The Americans made their one run and five of their six hits off Bucky Walters, who has won 14 for the Cincy Reds, largest 1944 victory total in the majors. Stan Spence made the other American hit. It was off Raffensberger, but the Washington player was out trying to go on to second.

Rip Sewell faced nine batsmen in three innings and put on a demonstration of his famous balloon pitch, to the great discomfort of the American leaguers. Old Jim Tobin, who has pitched one full length no hitter and a bob-tailed no hitter for the Boston Braves this season, retired the Americans in order in the ninth.

Sewell issued the only pass received by the Americans and it was wiped out on one of the game's double plays. Only 19 batsmen, one over the minimum, faced the National pitchers in the last six innings.

Tucker, first up in the game, bounced to Marion and Spence went out to Cavarretta unassisted. Then McQuinn singled to right field and stopped at second on Stephens' line single to left center. Johnson ran the count to 2 and 2, then almost hit Walters with his bat as he missed the third strike.

Galan opened the National's offensive with a grounder to Keltner, after which Cavarretta walked on five pitches. Musial beat out a looping hit over McQuinn's head. Doerr fielded the ball and in a belated try to get Musial with a toss to Borowy on first missed the mark, Cavarretta going on to third on the error. Cooper lined to Spence well back in right and Cavarretta was doubled, Spence to Hemsley, on a perfect throw which beat Phil without ar argument.

Americans Take 1-0 Lead.

The Americans broke thru in the second thuswise: Keltner opened with a single to left and got to third on infield outs by Doerr and Hemsley. He scored on Borowy's single past Walters. Tucker bounced to Ryan. Walker opened the National second with a single to center, but was forced by Elliott on a high bounder to Keltner. Ryan sent Tucker tearing back for his fly and Marion lined to Doerr.

Spence got the third inning under way with a single to center and was forced by McQuinn, Walters to Marion. Stephens was out, Cooper to Cavarretta and Johnson was tossed out by Elliott. Mel Ott batted for Walters and flied to Tucker, then Galan went out the same way. Cavarretta ran the count to three and two, fouled off five pitches, then tripled to left center. Musial bounced out to Keltner to end the National's third.

Raffensberger was the Nationals' pitcher at the start of the fourth. Keltner popped to Cavarretta and Doerr fanned. Ryan leaped high into the air for a one handed catch of Hemsley's drive. Hughson and Hayes formed the new American battery at the start of the National third. Cooper fanned, Walker flied deep to Spence, and Elliott flied to Tucker.

Tucker's Bunt Falls.

Hughson was safe on Ryan's error at the start of the fifth, but was forced on Tucker's attempted sacrifice. Spence singled to center, putting Tucker on third, but when Spence tried to advance to second on the throw to third, he was out, Musial to Elliott to Ryan. McQuinn fanned.

You have read of the Nationals' big fifth inning.

Sewell took over the pitching job for the Nationals at the start of the sixth and Kurowski went to third. Stephens struck out, but Johnson walked. Then Keltner hit into a double play, Marion to Ryan to Cavarretta.

Ryan opened the Nationals' sixth with a single to left, advanced on Marion's sacrifice, and went to third on Muncrief's wild pitch. Sewell struck out and Galan was out, McQuinn to Muncrief.

In the first of the seventh Doerr flied to Galan, Hayes struck out, and Higgins, batting for Muncrief, was thrown out by Kurowski. Hal Newhouser was the American's pitcher at the start of the National seventh. Cavarretta opened with his second hit, a single to center. Musial sacrificed and Cooper beat out a hit to Doerr. Stephens dashed back of third to rob Walker of a hit with a one handed catch, but Kurowski doubled to left, scoring Cavarretta and Cooper. Ryan popped to Doerr.

Sewell Uses Balloon Pitch.

Sewell put on his balloon ball show in the eighth. Tucker flied to Musial, and Spence grounded to Ryan. Sewell then fooled McQuinn with one balloon pitch, then came back with an even higher one than the first. McQuinn bunted, and was out, Cooper to Cavarretta.

The Nationals made their final run in the eighth without a hit. Marion struck out, but was safe when the third strike got away from Hayes. Medwick batted for Sewell and sacrificed. Galan and Cavarretta walked, loading the bases, then Musial flied to Johnson, Marion scoring. Newsom replaced Newhouser, and Cooper popped to Doerr.

hoped he would get the assignment in view of the fact that the game was in his home park, but the spot went to Stan Musial of the Cardinals. . . . Musial is considered a local boy, however, because he was born and reared in Donora, a suburb of Pittsburgh. . . . Typical All-Star weather prevailed, clear and warm. . . . The Pittsburgh chapter of the Baseball Writers' association was host to 250 authors at dinner before the game. . . . The conversation was more concerned with politics than baseball. . . . One of the more daring midwest scribes bet a New Yorker that Dewey would carry Illinois by 500,000. . . .

Branch Rickey is jittery for the first time in his major league executive career. . . . He rushed back to Brooklyn after the joint meeting of the two leagues today to find talent to bolster his stumbling Dodgers. . . . The Bums ran their western losing streak to 13 8/9 games here Sunday [the fraction being due to the fact that they were behind after eight innings when the Pennsylvania curfew law made it necessary to play the ninth inning at a later date]. . . . The three Dodger All-Stars, Dixie Walker, Mickey Owen, and Augie Galan, were a sorrowful crew, not to mention the lugubrious coterie of New York and Brooklyn scriveners. . . .

K. M. Landis.

Branch Rickey.

And how the ears of Rickey, who is unpopular with the Brooklyn press, must be burning! . . . Commissioner K. M. Landis, who brought his raincoat despite the weather man's assurance of fair skies, had a box seat directly back of the American league dugout. . . . Cameramen had their big pre-game moment when Gov. Edward A. Martin of Pennsylvania and Mayor Cornelius D. Scully of Pittsburgh came to home plate to shake hands with Managers McCarthy and Southworth. . . . The mayor expressed the hope that the capacity crowd would be back in October for the world series.

Tonight was the first time in the history of the All-Star series that 30 cent cigars were passed out in the press box. . . . Bucky Walters had to jump out of the way to avoid being hit by a bat that slipped out of Bob Johnson's hands in swinging at a third strike in the first inning. . . . When Mel Ott of the Giants stepped to the plate as a pinch hitter for Pitcher Walters in the third inning, it gave him a record of participating in more All-Star games than any other player. . . . He has appeared in 11 of the 12 contests. . . . Until tonight he was tied with Billy Herman of the Dodgers, who now is in the navy. . . . Phil Cavarretta hit three fouls into the stands before he socked a triple in the third. . . . Bill Nicholson's double which scored Connie Ryan in the fifth with the National's first run hit directly on the right field foul line.

Ten Years Ago Today—The Cubs defeated the Boston Braves, 7 to 4, to climb to within a game of the National league leading Giants. . . . Cavalcade was entered in the Arlington Classic. . . . Edward [Eggs] Manske, Northwestern football player, was appointed to the coaching staff of Boston university.

Former N.U. Player Downs German Plane

AN EIGHTH A. A. F. FIGHTER STATION, England, July 11 [Special].—A Messerschmitt 109, whose pilot was poor on aircraft recognition, provided Capt. Fred R. Haviland Jr., former Northwestern university football player, with his first victory and without firing a shot, a combat report filed here disclosed.

"Five Me-109s flew up alongside of our flight of four Mustangs, apparently thinking we were friendly," reported Haviland, whose parents reside at 6041 Matson av. "As soon as they recognized us they started to turn in to attack. Our flight broke into them. One of them was coming head-on at me, shooting as he passed.

"I got on his tail and we ratraced down to about 3,000 feet, with the Jerry taking violent evasive action. The race started at about 17,000 feet and when we finally got down to 1,000 feet I managed to turn inside of him. I was just getting within firing range when he made an abrupt turn in trying to get away, snapped over and crashed. He exploded as he hit. There wasn't much left."

FARGOS TRIUMPH IN FATHER-SON GOLF TOURNEY

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The clan Fargo, one of the most faithful in Chicago golf, finally holed out yesterday in the 41st annual Pater-Filius tournament conducted without interruption by the Midlothian Country club.

In 1923, the Hiram Fargos, senior and junior, old settlers at famed Edgewater, began trying to win this meet. They came close many a year, but never could quite make it. Then Hi Jr. took to competing with his own boys.

He tried it with son Dan, now of the V-12 naval school at Northwestern university, but unsuccessfully. Yesterday Hi Jr. and his second boy, Dave, a recent 17 year old graduate of Senn High school, took the main prize with a net score of 80—10—70.

Seeded Stars Win Matches in Tennis Meet

Billy Talbert of Indianapolis, seeded second in the River Forest tennis tournament at the River Forest Tennis club advanced to the third round in the men's singles division by winning a straight set match from Sol Gould of Chicago, 6-3, 6-2, yesterday.

Also winning their matches and moving into the quarter-final round were Gene Vash of Chicago and Norman Bickel of Oak Park, fourth and fifth in the seeded group. Vash defeated Harry DeLarme of Villa Park, 6-3, 6-4, while Bickel beat Bob David of Chicago, captain of the Senn High school team, 6-2, 7-5.

Top seeded Francisco [Pancho] Segura of the University of Miami, was forced to ask tournament officials for another day of rest before giving his decision about playing in the meet. The extra day was needed because of an ankle injury suffered in the championship match with Talbert in the western tournament in Neenah, Wis., last Sunday.

MAYWOOD WATER LINE TO COST CITY $475,000

Hewitt Finds a Chicago Main Must Be Built.

A new pipe line necessary to supply Maywood with lake water will cost Chicago an estimated $475,000, Commissioner of Public Works Hewitt said yesterday. Maywood completed negotiations to get city water on Monday after the village's well system broke down last week and a water shortage developed.

As announced by Earle K. Broberg, Maywood president, the village will start at once to build a $142,000 water main, connecting with the Melrose Park main at 9th av. and Iowa st. and running to the Maywood pumping station at 9th av. and St. Charles rd. The Melrose Park pipe line was built recently to supply Chicago water to that community and the Buick aviation engine plant, and connects with the Chicago line at Harlem and Wabansia avs.

Another Chicago Main Needed.

Hewitt disclosed, however, that with Maywood getting lake water Chicago will be forced to construct another main to keep water pressure on Chicago's west side from falling to a dangerously low level. He said that the Melrose Park main can handle 8,400,000 gallons daily, or more than enough for the needs of Maywood, Melrose Park, and the Buick plant, but the water pressure factor makes an additional Chicago line necessary.

Hewitt explained that by statute Chicago must supply adjacent towns with water if the communities so demand. The new main which Chicago must now build would connect with the pumping station at Springfield and Wabansia avs. with mains leading to the city limits at Wabansia and Harlem avs. The water now furnished to Melrose Park and the Buick plant is pumped by the station at Lamon and Wilson avs., and the new mains in the city are necessary so that both stations can share the water load when Maywood is hooked into the city's system.

Long Time to Pay Cost.

Altho the Chicago-Maywood water contract is not expected to be signed for a few days, and no price yet has been agreed upon, Hewitt estimated that, at the metered rate of 7.36 cents per thousand gallons, nine years would be required for Chicago to get back the $475,000 cost of the new main. This does not include pumping maintenance, labor, and fuel, he added. Anticipated Maywood water requirements average 2 million gallons daily.

Melrose Park is paying Chicago the metered rate for its water, but is charging the Buick plant in turn 27 cents a thousand gallons. In addition to whatever figure Maywood will pay Chicago, it is also expected that the village will pay Melrose Park 1½ cents a thousand gallons for rental of the latter's section of main.

Hewitt Looks to U. S. Aid.

Hewitt said he is hopeful Chicago may obtain federal aid in building the new pipe line because other communities have received assistance on similar projects.

Hewitt said application will be made today to the federal works agency for a grant of $190,000. All engineering, legal, and financial data are being prepared for filing with the application, he said.

The new main, Hewitt said, could be completed within 60 days after work starts.

62 GROUPS PLAN CENTRAL AGENCY TO AID VETERANS

Ninety men and women, representing 62 governmental, public, and private social welfare agencies, voted yesterday at a City club luncheon for the establishment of a committee of 15 to study creation of a central referral and information bureau to aid returned service men in a direct approach to their problems. It would, said R. Patrick O'Reilly, chairman of the City club's social welfare committee, define the functions of the many agencies working in behalf of service men in the city.

E. J. Condon, chairman of the mayor's committee on veterans' service, told of the steps already taken in that direction by the mayor's committee, and emphasized its willingness to work for the coordination of all information relating to service men's welfare.

NEGRO MEETING TO OPEN TODAY; CIO AIDS TO TALK

The national convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will be opened today in the Metropolitan Community church, 41st st. and South Park way. Several Congress of Industrial Organizations representatives are scheduled to speak at the sessions.

The convention will continue thru Sunday and will be concluded with a mass meeting in Washington park. The Chicago branch of the N. A. A. C. P. has objected to some of the announced speakers and charged that politics has become an issue and that the executive secretary, Walter White, is attempting to sell out the organization to the New Deal, the Communist party, and the CIO.

One of the subjects announced for tomorrow's program is "How Should the Negro Vote?" The talk is to be given by Leslie S. Perry, administrative assistant to the Washington, D. C., branch of the N. A. A. C. P.

HITS 2 BROTHERS CYCLING IN RAIN; BOY, 14, KILLED

Bernard Smelten, 14, son of Mrs. Louise Smelten, Pleasant rd., Glenview, was killed and his brother, Peter Smelten, 12, was injured last night when they were struck by an automobile while riding their bicycles at Waukegan rd. and Woodlawn av., Glenview.

Driver of the car, Mrs. Lester Pepper, 36, of 1926 Henley st., Glenview, told sheriff's police at Morton Grove station that she was blinded by heavy rain. The victims were taken to St. Francis hospital, Evanston, where Bernard was pronounced dead. Peter's back and legs were lacerated.

LIPP'S LOWER LEVEL TAVERN LOSES LICENSE

Mayor Kelly yesterday revoked the license of Lipp's Lower Level tavern in the basement at 56 W. Madison st. on complaint of Lt. Comdr. Carl Stockholm of the navy shore patrol that the place was frequented by unescorted women who had venereal diseases with which several sailors had become infected.

SCORES OF HEIRS SEEK TO SHARE THOMPSON CASH

Scores of men and women thruout the United States and Canada are seeking to share in the 1½ million dollars in cash found in the safety deposit boxes of the late W. H. Thompson, former mayor, after his death on March 19. James W. Breen, attorney for the Thompson estate, disclosed yesterday that letters containing actual—as well as fanciful—claims and inquiries as to possible relationships have been coming in.

One Canadian woman wrote that she might be the former mayor's foster daughter and therefore is entitled to $200,000. A Wisconsin man related he once saved Thompson from a possibly fatal nosebleed by pressing a dime under his nose and that the former mayor had promised to provide for him in his will. A Louisiana writer wondered if Thompson could have been a descendant of an uncle who disappeared at the time of the Revolutionary war.

Breen said that since Thompson died childless, the entire personal estate goes to his widow. He estimated that after federal and state inheritance claims, the cash account will be approximately $850,000.

J. A. M'CORMICK ESTATE VALUED AT TWO MILLIONS

John A. McCormick, chairman of the board of the Independent Pneumatic Tool company and the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company, who died Dec. 30, left an estate of approximately 2 million dollars, it was estimated in an inventory filed yesterday in Probate court.

The bulk of the estate consists of 15,014 shares of common stock in the dredge and dock company, and 17,158 shares of Independent Pneumatic capital stock. The will left all real estate and one-third of the residuary to Mr. McCormick's widow, Ella, and two-thirds of the residuary in trust for his seven children.

DISCLOSE THEFT OF SMOKES FOR YANKS OVERSEAS

Police yesterday disclosed the hijacking Sunday of 125,000 packages of cigarets destined to be flown to fighting fronts overseas.

Two men, posing as drivers, removed a truck containing the cigarets from the garage of the American Transportation company at 2500 Taylor st., after convincing a watchman that their credentials were authentic. The empty truck was abandoned Monday in front of 5300 Van Buren st.

James Morgan, an executive of the trucking company, said the cigarets, obtained from the army quartermaster depot at 1819 Pershing rd., were tax free and the packages were devoid of the usual revenue stamp. He offered $1,000 reward for return of the cigarets or arrest of the hijackers.

Edison Group Names AFL Union Bargaining Agent

The Illinois Brotherhood of Electrical Workers [AFL] was chosen last night by 1,648 "outside" employes of the Commonwealth Edison company as their bargaining agent in a referendum ordered by the national labor relations board. The unofficial count was IBEW, 909; Utility Workers' union [independent], 669, and no union, 37.

Chicago Daily Tribune. THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

Accord Near on Big Stabilizing Fund.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bretton Woods, N. H., July 11.—As agreement neared today on the 8½ billion dollar stabilization fund the allied nations' monetary and financial conference turned its attention to the 10 billion dollar international bank, commonly known as the world's RFC.

Formal approval of the 8½ billion dollar monetary stabilization fund was expected by the end of the week. The objective of the fund is to stabilize international currency values. It would make available credit to a country having a current unfavorable trade balance.

Other Names Suggested.

Foreign delegates have suggested other names for the international bank, at present known as the Bank of Reconstruction and Developments. Among them are the International Guarantee and Investment association and the International Corporation for Reconstruction and Development.

Both the bank and the fund are regarded as more than temporary stop gap agencies. Also they will become involved in some of the war created international financial problems, their function is represented as promoting world trade on a long range basis.

The Indian delegation to the conference made clear it expects relief from the bank in connection with the large blocked balances of British pounds sterling which are estimated at 4 to 5 billion dollars. Earlier the fund had turned down the suggestion of the Indian delegation that resources of the stabilization fund be made available to "unfreeze" the sterling balances.

Problem Termed Difficult.

Spokesmen for the Indian delegation asserted the decision to sidestep the blocked sterling problem created a difficult situation. A spokesman for India made plain that the delegation believed part of its sterling balances should be freed for purchases in other countries, including the United States.

The spokesman said the Indian delegation was "very disappointed" at the conference action in sidestepping the problem of blocked balances.

However, India has not made a final decision as to its participation in the stabilization fund. It was explained that the action of the delegation would be delayed until it was decided whether the world bank would take up the problem of blocked balances.

Both Are Credit Agencies.

Both the stabilization fund and the world bank are credit agencies. The fund's operations are intended to be confined to current international transactions. The bank will advance long term credits considered to be outside the province of the fund. Included in the bank's function will be loans for reconstruction and development.

The knottiest problem in connection with the fund has been the allocation of quotas and the fixing of the initial gold contributions of each country. Rivalry has developed among the big nations as to the size of their quotas. The bigger the quota, the larger the voice a country has in the management of the fund and the more claim it has on the fund's credit facilities.

The same problem is presented in reverse in the case of the bank. Member countries in the bank jointly underwrite the bank's credit. As a result, there has developed little competition for big quotas in the bank. Each country desires to limit its risk by taking the smallest possible quota.

Cameron Can Machinery Bought by Continental Can

Continental Can company has acquired all the capital stock of the Cameron Can Machinery company, Chicago, for an undisclosed cash sum, Carle E. Conway, Continental board chairman and president, announced yesterday. The Cameron company, 240 N. Ashland av., is engaged primarily in war work. It will be operated as a subsidiary, with present officers, personnel, and policies unchanged, Conway said.

Big Financing Total Swelled by New Offers

Additional steps in corporate financing yesterday swelled the flood of offerings planned for release between the 5th war loan campaign and the "victory" loan drive to be held after the fall election.

The Erie railroad invited 142 investment houses and insurance companies to bid on a $3,620,000 equipment trust issue to finance part of the cost of six 5,400 horse power diesel freight locomotives and 600 steel hopper cars.

The Seaboard Airline railway awarded a $2,760,000 equipment trust issue due 1945-'54 to Harris, Hall & Co. of Chicago on a high bid of 99.53 for the certificates as 2s. Reoffering was made at prices to yield 0.90 to 2.25 per cent.

The New York, Chicago, and St. Louis [Nickel Plate] railroad awarded $2,100,000 serial equipment trust certificates to the Cleveland Trust company on a bid representing an interest cost to the road of 1.90 per cent.

Stock Offered to Employes.

Jack & Heintz, Inc., Cleveland war products manufacturer, offered its employes, whom it terms "associates," 150,000 shares of class A stock at $100 a share. The offering is restricted to Ohio residents who have been employed by the company at least six months.

These were steps in a corporate financing and refunding program for which more than 300 million dollars in stocks and bonds already have been registered with the securities and exchange commission and the interstate commerce commission. A much larger amount is being processed for action within the next three months.

Investment bankers estimated the utility industry will account for fully half of the vast total of "new money" and refunding programs, taking advantage of the current heavy investment demand by replacing higher interest bearing securities with new paper more in line with the trend to low interest rates prevalent in recent years.

Rail Financing Expected.

The railroads, having succeeded in reestablishing their credit by prudent use of war swollen earnings, are expected to account for a large amount of the near term financing. Besides the carriers, several railroad terminal issues are likely candidates in the refunding field. Syndicates have been formed to bid on any securities involved in a refinancing by the Chicago Union station, Cincinnati Union terminal, Kansas City Terminal railway, and the Southern Pacific-San Francisco terminal.

Facilitating large scale refunding programs is the vast amount of funds in the hands of institutional and private investors seeking an outlet, investment bankers said. Prices of top grade corporation bonds have been pushed to the highest levels in recent years by a steady flow of idle funds into existing securities. Money market analysts predict the era of low interest will extend far beyond the end of the war.

NEWSPRINT HIKE DOUBTED, ALTHO SUPPLIES GAIN

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—The newsprint supply situation is beginning to appear more hopeful altho possibilities of enlarging publishers' quotas remain highly uncertain, newspaper industry advisory committee members were told today.

Harold G. Boeschenstein, acting director of the WPB forest products bureau, said increasing military requirements for wood pulp and paper make impossible any commitments on fourth-quarter quotas. He also said the unusually low water level in Canadian woods districts was a restricting factor in getting wood to pulp mills.

Wood production itself is improving despite man power problems, Boeschenstein said, adding that if the supply of wood had not increased during the last few months, the newsprint situation would be much more acute.

MONEY SCHEME FACES DEFEAT, TAFT DECLARES

Says Congress Will Bar Asset Waste.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 11.—Sen. Taft [R., O.] today denounced New Deal plans to establish a vast international monetary fund in which, he said, the United States will provide nearly all the real assets while countries with much weaker currencies will be in control.

He charged that the "whole elaborate machinery [at the current Bretton Woods, N. H., monetary conference] seems to be designed to cover up the fact that our money is, in effect, to be loaned away by a board in which we have only a minority interest."

In his statement, issued at his office here, he predicted that if the conference reaches an agreement based on the terms of the original joint statement of experts it will not be approved by either the house or the senate.

Few Approve Plan.

Taft said that altho every one recognizes the desirability of stabilizing international exchange and the need of a permanent consulting body to study the problems as they arise, and recommend action, few persons approve the plan for the international fund or an allied nations bank.

"Nearly every American expert outside the treasury has criticized these plans, including the American Bankers association and many distinguished economists, and congressional opinion is the same, so far as it has been formed at all," he said.

Taft said he believed the United States should make, or join in making, direct loans to foreign nations for reconstruction during the emergency period along the lines laid down in the Republican national platform.

Cart Before the Horse.

"But I do not believe that exchange can be stabilized primarily by a vast international fund, or that the United States should assume the principal burden of supporting dozens of faltering currencies under a plan which will give us very little credit or power," he said.

Asserting that it is putting the cart before the horse to set up an international exchange now, Taft said an international monetary fund could disappear almost overnight if it attempted to stabilize exchange before the countries concerned were restored to normal economic life.

"The proper course would seem to be to reach some agreement with the British regarding relation of the dollar and the pound and then take up the other countries, one by one, and attempt to assist them by direct credits, if necessary, until their foreign exchange can be stabilized without loss," he said.

U. S. Puts Up the Assets.

In establishing an international fund, Taft said, the important issue from an American standpoint is "the substantial fact that nearly all the real assets in the fund will come from this country."

"They will be dispensed by a board, the control of which is held by countries whose currencies are much weaker than ours," he continued. "It will not be long before all of our assets are gone and the fund is entirely made up of weak or worthless currencies.

"The same is true of the allied nations bank, and the total cost to this country of the two plans is likely to be more than 6 billion dollars, with no assurance of success, and little chance that we will ever recover any part of our contribution."

Hand Picked Delegates.

Taft said there is real danger that these plans may receive the unanimous approval of the nations concerned because, "obviously, the interest of the other nations will be to agree, whether they think the plan is sound or not."

"It is our delegation which ought to be opposing any such plan," he said, "but a majority of the delegation were selected because they were likely to favor the plan."

HIGH RENTS HELD THREAT TO N. Y. GARMENT TRADE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 11.—New York City faces imminent loss of its important needle trades industry on which a tenth of the city's population depends directly or indirectly for its living, Joseph Platzker, assistant city housing and building commissioner, disclosed today.

Platzker, who also is secretary of Mayor La Guardia's loft rental mediation board, said key leaders of the industry, sometimes referred to as the garment trades, are threatening to move their factories from the city and maintain only showrooms here because of mounting rentals which have skyrocketed as high as 300 per cent in the last year.

The situation which Platzker termed a "rent gouge" of unprecedented proportions has been brought about by speculators, who he said "have gotten completely out of hand."

WESTERN UNION REVENUES SHOW SLIGHT DECLINE

Western Union Telegraph company's domestic revenues are running slightly below combined Western Union and Postal Telegraph revenues of a year ago, reflecting the leveling tendency of general industrial activity, Albert N. Williams, president, informed stockholders yesterday.

He reported net income of $3,011,435 for the five months ended May 31, equal to $2.41 a share of class A stock after giving effect to the participating provisions of the new capital stock, compared with $2,747,139 in the corresponding period a year ago, or $2.63 a share.

RFC TO HANDLE FEDERAL REALTY SURPLUS SALES

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—The surplus war property administration today announced that all surplus government real estate, except industrial holdings, maritime commission property, and property controled by the national housing agency and the federal works agency, has been assigned to the Reconstruction Finance corporation for disposal.

As a matter of policy, the announcement said, agricultural land will be disposed of in family sized farms, and original owners will be given preference if they wish to repurchase the land.

W. L. Clayton, surplus war property administrator, said the RFC will consult with interested agencies concerning methods of disposal and announced RFC has appointed Col. M. J. O'Bryne, formerly director of the real estate division of the surplus war property administration, to handle the program.

ILLINOIS SEEKS LIQUIDATION OF PRUDENCE LIFE

Atty. Gen. Barrett yesterday filed suit in Superior court against the Prudence Life Insurance company, 407 S. Dearborn st., asking liquidation of the company and an injunction restraining officials and employes from doing business in Illinois.

He said he took the action because of a controversy between officials of the company, which resulted in the company's failing to pay numerous claims. In his brief Barrett said one faction is headed by Alfred Holzman, chairman, and M. H. Wettaw, president.

Barrett asked for an order which will authorize Nellis P. Parkinson, acting insurance director, to take control of the company's assets. He said that representatives of the state had spent more than a thousand hours trying to compose the differences.

HOLD GOLDBLATT BAKERS EXEMPT FROM HOURS ACT

Judge Philip L. Sullivan in United States District court ruled yesterday that warehouse and bakery employes of Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., are not subject to the minimum wage and hour provision of the fair labor standards act.

The ruling resulted from an injunction suit, filed four years ago by the regional wage-hour director, contending that, altho the act exempts retail store employes, those working in the warehouses and bakery were manufacturing and processing material and therefore excluded from the exemption.

Judge Sullivan, ruled, however, that the employes—numbering several hundred—were engaged in a local retailing capacity which is an indispensable part of the making of the retail sales.

WLB INDUSTRY MEMBERS HIT VACATION RULE

Retroactive Rest Held Impossible.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 11.—Industry members of the war labor board made a vigorous dissent today to a board order granting retroactive vacations to employes of the Sivyer Steel Casting Company of Chicago, asserting there can be no such thing as "retroactive rest."

Board members representing the public and labor voted favorably on the vacation plan in denying the company a review of a decision by the 6th regional WLB at Chicago, which ordered a vacation plan providing one week's vacation after a year's service and two weeks after five years' service. The existing plan provided one week vacation regardless of length of service. The 460 employes involved were represented by the United Automobile Workers [CIO].

Means Cash Payments.

In the dissent, written by Walter T. Margetts, it was asserted that the only question involved was whether a vacation provision should be granted retroactively. When the contract between the union and the company expired in June, 1943, terms of a new contract could not be decided and the dispute was taken before the WLB.

"The majority of the board has decided to award a vacation provision retroactively," the dissent said. "Of course, there can be no such thing as 'retroactive rest' so the vacation provision merely means a cash payment in lieu of a vacation.

Vacation Not a Bonus.

"The theory of a vacation is a paid rest as an award for the employe's hard work in the year past, and also to enable the employe to return to work with renewed vigor, physically fit to undertake the tasks for the ensuing year. It has practically never been considered as a cash payment or a bonus. If the employe is entitled to further compensation, he should be paid it as such and not under the guise of a vacation."

The majority opinion said the objection "that this amounts to a retroactive wage increase loses sight of the fact that the determination of what should be the vacation allowance in the contract period 1943-'44 was one of the major issues in the disputed case now finally decided."

Glass Strike Threatened.

Marietta, O., July 11 (AP).—The American Flint Glass Workers of North America [AFL] notified the war labor board today a strike vote would be taken in every glass plant in the country unless the WLB gave a "definite and favorable" decision by Thursday on a pending demand for wage increases.

In a telegram to William H. Davis, chairman of the WLB, the glass workers' president, Harry H. Cook of Toledo, asserted that "we can assure you that the strike vote will be overwhelming."

Cook said the demand had been pending before the WLB for nine months and asked an increase average of about 15 per cent for glass workers.

Wage Hike Demanded.

Washington, D. C., July 11 (AP).—Predicting the possibility that munitions employment may drop by 3 million by the year end, Richard T. Frankensteen, leader of CIO automobile and aircraft unions, today asked for "increased wage rates to support purchasing power which will otherwise decline sharply as overtime is reduced."

"It is imperative from the standpoint of continued war output to reassure workers regarding their future jobs," he told a senate military subcommittee.

Frankensteen said "the continuing dispute" within the war production board and among other government agencies regarding resumption of civilian production "is preventing the development of any scheduled resumption of any nonmilitary production which would take the place of war output."

Stocks Slide, Then Recover Part of Losses

New York, July 11 (AP).—A technical correction today sent stock market prices lower. The market, steady at the start, became unsettled when United States Steel declined a point. Forenoon losses, running to two points or so, were reduced or canceled in many cases at the close as a little buying cropped up on reports the reconversion dispute at Washington had been compromised. Most customers, tho, awaited better purchasing opportunities.

Announcement by the President that he would accept a fourth term had little effect on prices because it was in line with expectations.

Stock Average Is Lower.

The Associated Press 60 stock composite was off 0.1 at 56.3, its first slip since last Thursday. It was another broad market, with 969 issues appearing. Encouraging to the optimists was the fact that volume tapered appreciably on the decline. Transfers totaled 1,347,587 shares compared with 1,836,890 yesterday.

Besides United States Steel, which closed ⅞ point lower, minus marks were posted for Bethlehem, Santa Fe, American Telephone, Western Union A, Goodyear, du Pont, Eastman Kodak, Consolidated Edison, Texas company, Southern railway, American Smelting, Johns-Manville, and Philip Morris.

Chrysler and General Motors revived for minor net advances after a morning decline. Others higher were American Cable & Radio, Youngstown Sheet, United Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft, Allied Chemical, Dow Chemical, Kennecott, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse Electric, and Sears Roebuck.

BOND PRICES UNEVEN.

Volume was a little above the average of recent sessions and, along with the uneven performance, was interpreted by brokers to indicate some favored issues had been liquidated under cover of recent strength in those backward during the earlier phase of the rise. Sales totaled $9,583,800, compared with $8,593,700 yesterday.

CHICAGO STOCKS DIP.

Prices were lower on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday as volume dipped to 34,000 shares. Volume leaders included Chicago corporation, New York Central, and Armour & Co., each down ⅛. Inland Steel, up 2⅜, was among the 10 new highs.

ALL LIVE STOCK MARKETS DULL; LAMB TOP IS $15

The market for all classes of live stock was dull yesterday. Best lambs available sold again at $15.00 a hundred pounds, the same top price paid every day since June 27, despite the scarcity in butcher shops and shrinking supplies in the open markets.

This price equals the lowest for top grade lambs since Dec. 24, 1943. Lambs last month sold as high as $16.35, in May at $16.85 and in April at $17.10, the 1944 peak.

The hog market showed more unevenness when buyers tried to halt rising costs of "lard hogs" which in three weeks have advanced $1 to $1.50. Prices for some kinds were reduced 5 to 10 cents, but this was offset by new advances of as much in other classes.

Cattle trading was slow and prices steady to weak, with some slightly lower on dull final rounds.

Mokan Owners to Get Panhandle Stock Rights

Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line company stockholders of record today will get rights to purchase 163,710 shares of Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company stock at $30 a share on the basis of one share of Panhandle common for each 10 shares of Mokan common or 200 shares of class B stock. Proceeds of the stock sale, the first phase of a program approved by Mokan shareholders March 27, will be used to pay Mokan's 5 million dollar debt to banks and insurance companies.

CHICAGO CURBS FLOW OF WHEAT; SPACE LACKING

Shortage of Labor Also Is Factor.

Shipments of wheat to Chicago, except grain originating in Illinois and Indiana, were embargoed for a 24 hour period yesterday by the Association of American Railroads and the Chicago Board of Trade. Thereafter a permit system will be instituted. This action followed similar embargoes at Kansas City and six southwestern subterminal markets in the last few days. Grain may be shipped to these points only when assurance is given that it will be unloaded promptly.

Altho the shortage of warehouse room to store the record wheat crop now being harvested is not nationwide, a critical shortage of labor to unload cars has developed. In addition excellent weather has permitted grain to flow to market without pause and in the last two weeks about 50 million bushels have been received at primary and subterminal points.

Problem Complicated.

A stock of about 13 million bushels of rye, distribution of which is slow, large accumulation of government grain, and the necessity for unloading the large receipts of corn going to industries complicate the elevator situation in Chicago. Despite this, the Commodity Credit corporation has brought in about 1 million bushels of Canadian wheat in the last few days. One steamer may not be unloaded for days because storage room is lacking, it is understood.

Hedging pressure and a government report issued late Monday showing a record yield of wheat gave that pit an easy undertone yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Prices were off around 1 cent a bushel at one time, but belief the government will buy large quantities of cash grain if prices decline further brought in fair support later and a rally followed. Closing sales of futures were unchanged to ⅝ cent lower.

Other Grain Prices.

Oats closed ⅛ cent higher to ⅜ cent lower. Rye again showed independent strength and gained ⅝ to 1¼ cents. Barley ended ⅛ to 1 cent higher.

Cash hard winter wheat sold in southwestern markets within 1 cent of the government loan level and about 2 cents above the price at which CCC will take the grain.

HOUSING GROUP OPENS EXHIBIT OF MODEL CITY

The Metropolitan Housing Council of Chicago yesterday opened on the 7th floor of Marshall Field & Co., an exhibit of models, sketches, maps, charts, photographs, and other materials presenting the qualifications of a well planned community. Named "Chicago of the Future," the exhbit is designed to show, as a goal for the city, all the attributes of a good community in a planned relationship.

Principal planning agencies of the Chicago area coöperated in staging the exhibit. The Museum of Modern Art of New York also contributed.

MINN. MINING AND MFG.

Kindly provide a report on Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing company. F. T.

Answer: Beginning with abrasives such as sandpaper and other surface coated paper and cloth friction materials used in many trades and industries, the company's products have been widely diversified since incorporation in 1903. Prominent now are cellulose adhesive tapes, which include the familiar transparent variety.

Products include rubber cement, artificially colored granules used in roofing materials, silica quartz, and a reflecting material for use in road signs. Last year a sulphuric acid plant was added. Inland Rubber corporation, Chicago, is a wholly owned subsidiary.

With operations largely mechanized, the ratio of labor costs is understood to be relatively low. Patent protection is said to have importance with respect to some of the newer lines.

Earnings per share in 1943 were $4.18, and for other recent years: 1942, $3.57; 1941, $4.72; 1940, $4.36; 1939, $4.54; 1938, $3.55. There are outstanding 961,260 no par shares, but no preferred stock or funded debt.

Dividends have been paid each year since 1923. Two payments of 35 cents a share each were made during the first half of 1944. Distributions totaled $1.40 in 1943 and in 1942. For 1939 thru 1941 the rate was $2.40 annually.

Current assets of $26,243,135 at the close of 1943 included $4,800,402 cash and $7,628,631 United States government securities. Current liabilities were $12,524,541.

THE QUESTION.

WHERE ASKED.

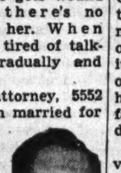
THE ANSWERS.

Ed Mohl, clerk, 5807 S. Paulina st.—When I come home at night and my wife doesn't meet me at the door I know I'm on unsteady ground. If I don't say the right thing she's apt to grab the first thing she can get her hands on and throw it at me. Once she threw a book at me. I caught it, tho, and she started to laugh.

William Rufolo, clerk, 1256 N. Kedzie av.—If there's a storm cloud hanging over my head I get no forewarning. My wife just talks and talks. She sounds like a phonograph record when she gets wound up and there's no stopping her. When she gets tired of talking she eases off gradually and finally stops.

Irving G. Zazove, attorney, 5552 Adams st.—We've been married for 26 years and I've never known a person who's as easy to get along with as my wife. Of course she gets disgusted with me once in a while but she never says anything about it. We have our agreements and disagreements but she has no temper at all.



Robert J. Jerrick, attorney, 1817 Wesley, av., Berwyn—My wife always goes thru a calm before the storm. When she's quiet and sitting in the most uncomfortable chair I know it's time for me to get ready for defensive action. Sometimes she's just quiet and nothing comes of it but once in awhile she loses all restraint.

James Oliver, clerk, 7037 Oriole av.—If something goes wrong at home that puts my wife in a bad mood I always try to be on my best behavior. When she's on the verge of losing control of the situation she says, "I guess I'll go to a movie." She never asks me along. It may be just as well.

Radio Veteran of War Held Suicide by Jury

Will F. Harriman, 23, of 7534 Cornell av., former army radio operator, shot and killed himself in his home Monday while temporarily insane, a coroner's jury decided yesterday. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Harriman, testified he had been despondent since a major operation impaired his vision and necessitated his discharge from the army.

WEAPONS OF WAR EXHIBIT PROVES U. S. TOPS FOES

Visitors at Burnham Park See Enemy Arms.

Superiority of American arms, which has been proved on the battlefields of the worlds and in comparative firing tests on the Aberdeen, Md., proving grounds, also is apparent to visitors at the army's Weapons of War exhibit which was opened yesterday in Burnham park south of Soldiers' field.

The show, in which eight branches of the army are represented, is free to the public and will be open from noon to 11 p. m. daily thru July 24. It is being conducted in conjunction with the treasury department in the interest of the fifth war loan. Rides in military vehicles are available to buyers of bonds from booths on the showgrounds.

Despite intermittent rain, attendance at the exhibit on its opening day and night totaled 20,000, officials estimated.

Exhibit Devoted to WACs.

Branches of the army service forces represented in the show include ordnance, signal, medical, engineers, quartermaster, chemical, and transportation. One exhibit also is devoted to the women's army corps.

The ordnance corps has a huge display divided into three sections —automotive equipment, guns, and hand weapons, including ammunition and bombs.

Show visitors who compare the United States, German, and Japanese field pieces and anti-aircraft artillery learn that the first point of American superiority is mobility. Every United States gun is mounted on pneumatic tires, whereas the Germans rely on solid synthetic rubber and the Japs still use steel in some instances.

None Equals Long Tom.

Neither foe has a weapon comparable to the American 155 mm. gun, the Long Tom, which tosses 95 pounds of steel 14 miles, and the United States 8 inch gun is three miles better with a 249 pound projectile than the 18 miles the Germans throw a 138 pound shell. Japan has no such weapon.

For stopping tanks, the United States relies heavily upon a 57 mm. gun which will penetrate the armor of a 60 ton German Tiger tank, but the German gun of comparable size has only 75 per cent the penetration and the Japs' 47 mm. gun is still weaker.

Automatic aiming, pointing, and loading of the American 90 mm. and 120 mm. anti-aircraft guns give them great superiority over Germany's 88s. The Japanese lack electrical fire control and about the best they can hope to do is fill the sky with a barrage.

Jap Tank Easily Pierced.

In its automotive exhibit, the ordnance corps has assembled for comparison light, medium, and heavy tanks used by the United States and Germany and the Japanese conception of a light tank. The United States light tank weighs 15 tons and has a 37 mm. gun, the nine ton German tank has only a 20 mm. gun, and the 8½ ton Jap tank has a 37 mm. gun. Thirty caliber United States rifle bullets will pierce the Jap tank.

Weighing 50 per cent more than the German 19 ton medium tank with its 75 mm. gun, the United States Gen. Sherman tank has a 76 mm. gun. Neither enemy has a weapon comparable to the American 155 howitzer mounted on a medium tank chassis.

German arms builders have clung to heavy riveted construction whereas most of the American products are welded.

RADIO STATION WIND LOCATES SELF IN CHICAGO

With the approval of the federal communications commission, WIND has begun identifying itself as a Chicago instead of a Gary radio station. Thirteen years ago the commission took away the wave length of WIBO, Chicago, and transferred it to WJKS [later to become WIND] of Gary on the ground that Illinois had more than its quota of radio facilities and Indiana less than it deserved.

The owners of WIBO, with an investment estimated at $400,000, were forced off the air, and the station was shut down in October, 1931.

Now, apparently, the commission has reversed itself. Last week, simultaneously with announcing transfer of control of WJJD, Chicago, to Marshall Field III., the FCC also granted the Johnson-Kennedy corporation of Gary, a modification of its WIND license permitting the change of the main studio location from Gary to Chicago and its identification as a Chicago station.

WIND has maintained auxiliary studios at 230 N. Michigan av. and will open its main studios there within 60 days Ralph Atlass, its chief executive, said.

2 FARM WOMEN SEIZE ESCAPED WAR PRISONERS

York, Pa., July 11 (AP).—Two escaped German prisoners of war, hungry and docile, were captured today by two York county farm women when they deserted a hideaway to find something to eat.

"They gave up very readily," said the Philadelphia office of the federal bureau of investigation. "Apparently they were hungry."

Unshaven since they escaped from an internment camp at Gettysburg, Pa., 30 miles away, on July 3, the two prisoners hailed Mrs. Rachael Bentzel and her daughter, Mable, and asked for something to eat. Mrs. Bentzel recognized them from newspaper photographs and, while she fed them, her daughter ran to a mile away neighbor where she telephoned Pennsylvania state police.

Remember '93

Three hundred members of the Association of '93ers of the Columbian exposition gathered in Jackson park yesterday for their annual picnic. Mrs. May M. Gibson, 82, of 217 E. Cullerton st., founder of the club, whose husband was official portrait photographer at the exposition, directed the program.

Mrs. Augusta E. Nellis, 82, of 5469 Dorchester av. won a ladies' race, while Mrs. Mary O'Nell, 80, of 1716 Greenleaf av. won the slipper kicking contest. Mrs. Nellis was a sewing machine saleslady at the fair.

Among the old timers present were L. E. Meacham, La Grange, correspondent for the Delta [Pa.] Herald in 1893; George S. Geis, 67, of 68 W. Superior st., a fair guard; Lee Ladanyi, 87, of 454 Melrose st., who operated the captive balloon, charging $4 for an ascent to 1,000 feet; Edward Cadman, 75, 1108 Beacon st., East Chicago, and Mrs. Myrtle B. Snyder and Mrs. Mattie Snyder, 80 year old twins, of 535 N. Waller av., who married brothers.

BOND SALES GO OVER QUOTA IN CITY, COUNTY

Individual Purchases Still Far Short.

Chicago and Cook county have gone over the top in the 5th war loan drive, with sales thru Monday totaling $998,522,000, or 111.69 per cent of the over-all quota of $894,014,000, Philip R. Clarke, drive chairman, announced yesterday. He emphasized, however, that individual bond sales of $176,175,000 still are far short of the goal of $277,000,000.

Clarke predicted that with individual sales continuing thru July 31, the total drive figure is certain to go well beyond the billion dollar mark. This will be the first time in the history of the city and county that an amount in excess of a billion dollars has been raised in any campaign, he said. He added that already the bond sales total exceeds by approximately $43,500,000 the best performance in any of the preceding four war loan drives.

Individual Sales Lag.

Clarke reported that as of Monday, individual sales stood at 63.60 per cent of the quota, while corporate sales of $822,347,000 were 133.28 per cent of the goal of nearly $617,000,000.

"Satisfying as is the over-all count, I must emphasize that it results primarily from the fact that corporate purchases have exceeded the corporate quota by more than $200,000,000," Clarke said.

"Therefore, while every one should be greatly pleased that the Chicago and Cook county over-all quota has been so substantially exceeded, I hope this achievement will stimulate our thousands of war bond wardens and pay roll minute men to redouble their efforts on individual sales in order that we also may establish a new record in this phase of the campaign before the drive for individual sales ends on July 31."

"E" Bond Sales Continue.

Clarke said sales during the final three weeks of the drive are restricted to E, F, and G bonds and the series C savings notes.

Over-all sales of war bonds in Illinois totaled $1,247,000,000, or 112.7 per cent of the state's $1,107,000,000 quota on Monday, but sales to individuals still lagged behind the national average, Renslow P. Sherer, chairman of the state war finance committee, announced. Individual purchases at the close of business Monday amounted to $274,300,000, or 67.7 per cent of the $405,000,000 quota.

3 CAMP ELLIS PRIVATES HELD IN NAZI'S ESCAPE

Camp Ellis, Ill., July 11 (AP).—Three soldiers, members of the 164th service unit at Camp Ellis, were under arrest today on charges that they violated the 96th article of war in connection with the escape of a German prisoner of war from a branch prison camp at Hoopeston, Ill. The prisoner was recaptured after one night of freedom.

The soldiers, Privates James E. Childers, Mike Guarina, and Ernest W. Honebrink, whose home addresses were withheld, will face a court martial at Fort Sheridan, Ill., the public relations office said.

Childers was charged with permitting a prisoner of war to remain outside of confinement after the prisoner had escaped. The same charge was filed against Guarina and Honebrink and in addition they were charged with fraternizing with a prisoner of war, extending hospitality to a prisoner of war by obtaining intoxicating liquor for him, associating with a prisoner in a Watseka, Ill., tavern and permitting the prisoner to associate with civilians.

- As an emergency measure due to newsprint restrictions, the Tribune temporarily can print in any one copy only half of each day's total volume of want ads. As a result, this copy of today's paper contains one set of want ads, while the next copy off the press after this one contains an entirely different set of want ads.
- The odds are that your neighbor's copy today will be the alternate to your copy. By referring to the letters "A" or "B" next to the page number, you can easily identify the alternate section.
- Even tho this copy of the paper contains only one-half of the want ads published by the Tribune today, it still contains more want advertising than any other Chicago newspaper.
